'EXAMINER'S LETTER NEVER SHOWN TO DIRECTORS'

Fred J. Cornwell, Testifying for the State, Says That Hohenschild Did Not Read Communication Censuring Conduct of Bank's Affairs to the Directors.

MENTIONED AT MEETING, HE SAYS

Thomas Mauldin, Director, Also Called by Prosecution —Defense Expected to Begin Presentation of Evidence Tonight.

Fred J. Cornwell Jr. of 5909 Plymouth avenue, a real estate dealer, one of the indicted directors of the defunct Night and Day Bank, testifying today as a State's witness in the trial of H. H. Hohenschild, president of the bank, said that Hohenschild never read to the board of directors the letter written to him by State Bank Commissioner Enright Jan. 6, 1921, one year before the bank failed.

The letter, which was placed in evidence yesterday, was severe in its censure of the manner in which the bank had been conducted, and referred to an apparent shortage of $36,000, besides an undue volume of slow and doubtful loans.

Hohenschild's trial, in Judge Kil[illegible] court, on the charge of [illegible] in acceptance of loans in a failing institution.

The State finished presentation of its testimony at 3:15 p. m.

Two Directors Testify.

Cornwell was one of the two directors who appeared as State's witnesses today, the other being Thomas L. Mauldin of 5763 Lindell boulevard, secretary-treasurer of the Lund-Mauldin Shoe Co.

Cornwell, testifying as to the letter received by Honsenschild from Enright, said that at the meeting of Jan. 19, 1921, Hohenschild reported that he had received a letter from the commissioner, but did not read it. Hohenschild said the letter was about the report made to the commissioner by the bank examiners, and that he had written for further information, and after receiving such information, would take it up with the board. Cornwell said he heard no more about the matter. On cross-examination, he said that he did not mean to say that he considered that Hohenschild had intentionally concealed the matter from the directors.

Circuit Attorney Sidener, just before calling Mauldin as a witness, announced the dismissal of the indictment voted against Mauldin jointly with Hohenschild in the case now on trial. Seventeen indictments were voted against Mauldin, as against each of the other directors, former Gov. Elliott W. Major, Judge William H. Allen of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, Thomas K. Cooper, Phil A. McDermott and Fred J. Cornwell Jr., besides the indictments against A. O. Meininger, cashier and director.

Mauldin's Appearance a Surprise.

The same action as to the indictment against Cornwell, in the present case, was taken by Sidener when Cornwell was presented as a witness. It is anticipated that the 16 other indictments pending against the two directors will be dismissed later, but Sidener, when asked about this by the defense, said he had no announcement to make. Cornwell's appearance as a witness for the State had been anticipated since last week, but that of Mauldin was a surprise. The defense is expected to begin its testimony tonight. If testimony for both sides is not completed tomorrow night, it may be necessary to run the case into next week, as Thursday is the Thanksgiving holiday, and Friday and Saturday may not suffice for the remainder of the case. Although the term of court ends next week, a special satutory provision, passed by the last Legislature, will permit the trial to go on after the close of the term.

Mauldin's Testimony.

Mauldin testified that his connection with the Night and Day Bank had been originally as a borrower, and that he had been borrowing for [illegible] six years, and was obligated to the bank to the extent of about [illegible]. He said he was invited by the late Hiram Phillips, a director,

PRESIDENT HARDING'S VIEW OF ARMY-NAVY GAME INCIDENT

Executive Said to Regard It as Due to Discouraging and Deplorable Laxity in Prohibition Enforcement.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—President Harding was described today as feeling that the incident at Philadelphia involving charges of misconduct by Naval Academy midshipmen after the Army-Navy game last Saturday, revealed a laxity in prohibition enforcement that was both discouraging and deplorable.

It was recognized, it was said at the White House, that a similar incident might have occurred in any one of a score of large cities.

Officials emphasized that the Navy Department would take every possible step to correct whatever weakness there was in the control of the midshipmen.

The concern of the administration was said to be more particularly in the enforcement of the prohibition laws. The President, administration officers said, was determined that law enforcement should be made the everlasting commitment of his administration.

KLAN PLACARDS ON GROUNDS OF LOUISIANA STATE MANSION

Notices of Public Ceremony Thanksgiving Night Pasted About Gov. Parker's Home.

By the Associated Press.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—The grounds of the executive mansion were placarded during the night with printed notices of a "naturalization ceremony" of the Baton Rouge Ku Klux Klan scheduled for Thanksgiving night.

Gov. Parker on arising this morning and looking across the mansion grounds saw hundreds of sticks arranged in rows on which were attached the dodgers.

The downtown streets of the city also were posted during the night with the handbills declaring that "Baton Rouge Klan No. 3, Realm of Louisiana, Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, announces public naturalization of candidates Thanksgiving night, 8:30 p. m., on the Greenwell Springs road." "The public is cordially invited," the notice said.

Gov. Parker is openly opposed to the klan.

MRS. GIBSON AND MRS. HALL MEET IN COURTHOUSE

Rector's Widow Appears Demanding to Be Allowed to Testify, but Her Plea Is Unheeded.

GRAND JURY LAYS THE MATTER OVER

Foreman Says Case May Be Taken Up Again — Mrs. Gibson's Story Is Heard While Mrs. Hall Waits.

By the Associated Press.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 28.—Shortly after it had been announced that the grand jury which investigated the Hall-Mills murder had begun to ballot, the jury adjourned at 4:35 p. m. today without taking any action in the case, "laying the matter over," according to the foreman.

The day was marked by the dramatic appearance at the Courthouse of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, who, with Eleanor R. Mills, his choir singer, was found murdered Sept. 14, with the demand to be allowed to testify. Her plea was unheeded after an all-day wait, during which she and Mrs. Jane Gibson, self-styled eyewitness of the murders, met outside the jury room.

About 4:15 Sheriff Hanlon was called into the grand jury room and then Prosecutors Mott and Beekman were summoned. The court crier was pacing up and down inside the jury room.

Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain rector, sat apparently emotionless outside the jury room. Her plea to appear before the jurors had gone unanswered.

The grand jury began leaving the jury room at 4:35 a'clock and it was announced by Prosecutor Mott that no action looking toward an indictment had been taken, and the matter had been laid over.

'For reasons which seem to them sufficient and controlling the grand jury took no action in the Hall-Mills murder case and laid the matter over. This does not mean necessarily that the matter cannot be taken up again by this or a subsequent grand jury."

Dressed in Deep Black.

Mrs. Hall, accompanied by her lawyer, Timothy N. Pfeiffer, and her confidante, Miss Sallie Peters, entered the courthouse dressed in deep black. She took her seat in the foyer with other witnesses.

First Witness Today.

Ferdinand Davis, who said he saw Mrs. Hall return home after the murders had taken place, was the first witness called today.

Accompanied by State troopers, Mrs. Gibson, arrived at the courthouse shortly after 10:30. She was ushered through a side door and taken directly to the prosecutor's private office.

Mrs. Hall and her companions sat in the foyer, an isolated group.

Plays With Handkerchief.

The rector's widow played with her handkerchief as she did when she received a score of reporters in her home some time ago.

Miss Peters sat reading a book while Pfeiffer kept glancing about him, occasionally greeting an acquaintance.

Jesse Jameson, a choir singer, and Henry Mills, brother-in-law of the slain woman, were the second and third witnesses, and then A. H. Bennett, a neighbor of the Halls, who heard the widow open her gate when she returned home a few hours after her husband had been killed, was called. When he left the grand jury room he crossed the foyer to where Mrs. Hall was seated and shook her hand. He made some remark to which she replied, with a slight smile, "Oh, that's all right."

Mrs. Gibson was called to the stand shortly before 11:30.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Nov. 28.—Thirty-five years ago the Vizna mine was one of the richest silver producers in the then-famous Tombstone district. Since then several shafts have been sunk on adjoining properties in the hope that the Vizna vein would be encountered, but none found the ore.

Yesterday a six-inch vein of rich ore was found but a few feet beneath the surface of the main street in Tombstone when excavations were made for a cement curbing. Mining men say it undoubtedly is the long-sought Vizna vein.

JAPANESE-AMERICAN CHILDREN ARE PLACED IN GENIUS CLASS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Fourteen years ago the State was surprised by the announcement that Helen Frances Emery, 22 years old, daughter of the late Archdeacon John A. Emery of the Episcopal Church, would wed Gunjiro Aoki, the family's Japanese cook. They had to travel to three states before they got a license. Gradually the case was forgotten.

Today it was recalled, when the department of psychology of Stanford University announced that four children of Mr. and Mrs. Aoki have been examined by the physiological examining board and found to show a level of intellect high above the standard for their respective ages, placing them in the genius class. The Aoki children are Sophronia Frances, 13 years old; John, 11, both first year in high school; Dorothy, 10; Donald, 8, and a baby, 1 year old. Aoki has achieved business success.

104TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY ST. CHARLES WOMAN

Mrs. Margaret Ermeling Was in Good Health Until Injury to Hip Last July.

Mrs. Margaret Ermeling is celebrating her 104th birthday today at the home of her son, H. D. Ermeling, 72, on his farm on the South River road, about six miles north of St. Charles.

Until last July, when she suffered an injury to her right hip in a fall when working about her home at 426 North Benton street, St. Charles, where she and her son then lived, Mrs. Ermeling was in excellent health. Her sight is failing, however.

She came to this country from Germany in 1855 and settled on a farm in St. Charles County. Her husband died nearly 40 years ago, and in 1900 she moved to St. Charles. The son with whom she is living is the only one of nine children yet alive. She has 10 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and 16 great-great-grandchildren.

LOWER FLOOR FOR "TIGER'S" SPEECH SOLD IN HALF HOUR

In Three Hours Most of Boxes at Odeon and Half of Balcony Seats Are Disposed of.

A half hour after the ticket sale for Georges Clemenceau's speech, at the Odeon at 2 p. m. Saturday, had begun today, the entire lower floor had been sold. By noon the majority of the boxes and about half the balcony seats had been purchased.

Parquet and balcony seats sold for a dollar, while boxes of six were purchased for $30 each and those of eight for $40. The sale was held on the fifth floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building, and because of a separate entrance and exit for purchasers, and the broad space in which the tickets were being sold, no congestion resulted from the presence of the many persons who came to obtain seats. The sale began at 9 a. m.

Although the amount collected will not be known until tomorrow, part of the proceeds will be used by the Reception Committee to defray the expenses of Clemenceau's visit, and the remainder of the receipts will be given to the French Orphans' Fund.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 28.—Radium has dropped to $70,000 a gram and the Standard Chemical Co. has been forced to close its Carnotite property in Paradox Valley, in Western Montrose County, Colorado, throwing 250 men out of work, according to an announcement made by officials of the company here yesterday.

Discovery of vast deposits of pitch-blende in the Belgian Congo is said to be responsible for the decrease in price from $120,000 a gram.

NANCY JORDAN IS ADMITTED; MRS. WARREN DELIGHTED

Unmarried English Mother and Child to Be Taken Home by Divorced Wife of Man She Met Abroad.

DIVORCE DECLARED NOT DUE TO CASE

Mrs. Warren Says She Is Taking Care of Her Because of Interest in All Girls.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Miss Nancy Jordan, the young English woman who was detained with her 3-year-old son, Francis, by United States immigration authorities at Ellis Island, was released this afternoon when bonds of $500 were furnished by counsel for Mrs. Frank G. Warren, divorced wife of Frank G. Warren of Kansas City, Mo. Miss Jordan said she came to this country on funds furnished by Mrs. Warren.

Immigration officials said Mrs. Warren's counsel had promised to guarantee that neither Miss Jordan nor Francis would become public charges. Mrs. Warren is now on her way here.

MRS. WARREN GOES TO NEW YORK FOR WOMAN AND CHILD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Frank Warren, former wife of a Kansas City attorney and the unusual figure in a strange triangle, arrived here today and tarried only long enough to learn of the order of the Department of Labor admitting to the United States Miss Nancy Jordan, young unwed English mother, and her 3-year-old child. She departed this afternoon for New York to take the girl home with her.

"I am delighted," Mrs. Warren said, when told of the admittance order. "I wish I had known it yesterday; it would have saved me the trip here. My sole purpose in coming to Washington was to attend the hearing on the case scheduled for today."

Mrs. Warren, upon reaching New York, will post the bond for Miss Jordan and her child, $500 in each case, and take them back to Kansas City with her.

"I don't know just what we will do when we reach Kansas City," Mrs. Warren said, in response to a question. "I'll have to talk it over with Miss Jordan. But until her plans take definite shape, she and her baby will have a home under my roof.

"The child is wonderful. I have never seen it, but from the pictures I know it's the dearest thing. And it shall have the same chance all children have."

Mrs. Warren interspersed her remarks with emphatic declarations that her divorce action against her husband was not in any way influenced by his friendship for Miss Jordan when he was in England with the American fighting forces.

"There is not even the semblance of a breath of scandal in the whole matter," she said. "I knew of Miss Jordan long before I secured my separation from my husband.

"I am doing this because of my interest in all girls. Miss Jordan has been very courageous throughout, and she has paid for her misdeed. I have nothing but sympathy and kindly feelings toward her."

Mrs. Warren said she had corresponded with Miss Jordan since learning of the girl from her husband.

"When I learned of her desire to come to America to give her child an equal opportunity with other children I immediately set about bringing her here," she continued. "Now that the red tape surrounding her entrance has been cut, I'll take the girl and her child home with me and then we will plan for the future."

"World Is Good After All," Says Unmarried Mother.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A blond English girl, with a sensitive face and an air of intelligent self-possession, was notified at Ellis Island that the Department of Labor at Washington had granted her appeal and would not send her back to England

SIX GREEK LEADERS WHO LOST WAR WITH TURKS PUT TO DEATH

BELIEF IN FRANCE PLAN TO SEIZE RUHR IS APPROVED

LITTLE HOPE FOR ALLIED SETTLEMENT

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—A plan for direct action by France as a solution of the reparations question was submitted today to the full Cabinet, meeting in the Elysee Palace, with President Millerand presiding.

The plan provides for seizure of the state coal mines and collection of export taxes in the Ruhr district, together with absolute control of that section of the Rhineland now occupied by the French military forces.

Members of the Cabinet after the meeting refused to discuss the action taken, but it is generally believed the plan was approved without opposition, as it was drawn up yesterday at a meeting in which the foremost military and civil authorities participated, including President Millereand, Premier Poincare, Marshal Foch, and the Ministers of Finance, War and Liberated Regions.

Occupation Expansion Plan.

Marshal Foch and Major-General Buat, the French chief of staff, are understood to have told President Millerand and Premier Poincare at yesterday's meeting that a plan for expanding the military occupation of the right bank of the Rhine had been prepared and could be executed within 24 hours.

Tirard, the French High Commissioner for the Rhineland, in discussing his part in any necessary action, said that civil administration of the territory occupied by France on the left bank of the Rhine could be immediately taken over by competent French authorities.

Couldn't Act Till Jan. 15.

This program would be applicable only after Jan. 15, for Germany now has a moratorium until the end of December and the first payment under the existing scheme of reparations, now in suspension, would be due in the middle of January. Germany's failure to meet this payment would, in the opinion of the French, automatically give them the right to act.

France now is ready "to go it alone," acting on the theory that if she ever expects to get anything from Germany she must, as the French newspapers say, hit Germany hard in the Ruhr, her most vulnerable spot. This is specifically stated in apparently inspired reports of yesterday's Elysee meeting given only to French newspapers. In these articles it is explained that action in the Ruhr would be designed to strike the hardest blow at the "interests of the great heads of German mining and metal industries" as well as to obtain for France the full quota of reparation coal and coke which she needs for the full development of Lorraine iron industries.

Complete control of the French sector of the Rhineland would accomplish the much desired expulsion of German officials, many of whom, the French believe, are Prussians recently come into the region with the intention of strengthening resistance to the allied occupation.

Premier Poincare saw Marquis Raggi, Italian member of the reparation commission, yesterday. France it is said, will continue to keep the allies informed of her policy.

The Cabinet had before it today the Government's calculations on exactly what the seizure of two-thirds of the Ruhr would yield. These official figures show among other resources the German Government's mines in the Ruhr produce 9,000,000 tons of coal, about half the amount annually delivered to France.

The experts calculated that the Ruhr metal industries produced 575,000,000,000 paper marks annually so that if a customs barrier were thrown around the Ruhr and a small export tax imposed it would yield several hundred millions gold marks annually.

FORMER GREEK PREMIER EXECUTED FOR TREASON

M. GOUNARIS.

CHILD'S VISIT TO CITY AN EVENTFUL AFFAIR

She Spends $2.75 of Her $3 on Train, and Brother Fails to Meet Her on Arrival.

When Emily Taylor, 8 years old, arrived alone at 11 o'clock last night from her home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., bent on a visit with her brother, "Alfy," she did not find him after a search of Union Station.

Three dollars given her by her mother, when she left Cape Girardeau, to pay taxicab fare to the supposed address of her brother, 1328 Hughes place, had dwindled to 25 cents, due to purchases on the train. She decided to wait until morning and go out on the "Main street" and find him. It is her first visit to the city. A policeman found her curled up on a station bench at 3 a. m. and took her to the matron at Central Headquarters.

Investigation showed "Alfy" had moved, but he was found at another address this morning and went after her. While waiting Emily said another brother, Jimmie, lived at the "blind school" and if the police could not find "Alfy," she would step out and find Jimmy.

Before her brother arrived Emily wrote a long letter home, telling her mother, Mrs. J. R. Taylor, that she was having a wonderful visit, and had "met a big policeman—a nice man who bought her candy and took her on a street car ride to the police station."

SENATE COMMITTEE URGES CONFIRMATION OF BUTLER

Judiciary Body Recommends Naming of St. Paul Attorney to Supreme Bench.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. — The Senate judiciary committee today recommended confirmation of the nomination of Pierce Butler, St. Paul attorney, to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Favorable action was taken after the committee had decided that a complaint filed relating to Butler's former connections with railroad companies was not of such a character as to warrant an investigation. One of the nine Senators present refused to vote. The other eight all voted to recommend confirmation.

FLYING ACROSS SAHARA SAFE

Buried Cable Enables Pilot to Keep on Course.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—By means of a buried cable it is now possible for aircraft to cross the Sahara Desert safely, the Academy of Sciences was told today by Admiral Fournier. An electric current flowing through the cable influences delicate apparatus on the plane or airship so that the pilot is able to tell his exact position at a glance.

The invention has been successfully tested by army and navy officials, Admiral Fournier said. It is the work of Engineer Loth.

THREE FORMER PREMIERS, A GENERAL AND 2 OTHERS SHOT

Sentence of Death Imposed on All but Two of Former Cabinet Officials and Army Officers Who Were Charged With High Treason as Result of Debacle.

BRITAIN EXPECTED TO WITHDRAW MINISTER

Early in Trial London Protested Against Possible Imposition of Death Sentence, Which Action Athens Resented.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Nov. 28.—The six former Cabinet officers and army officials convicted of high treason in connection with the Greek military disaster in Asia Minor were executed today.

The execution of the condemned men was by shooting. The men executed were:

Former Premiers Gounaris, Protopapadakis and Stratos; M. Theotokis, former War Minister; M. Baltazzis, holder of portfolios in several former Cabinets, and Gen. Hadjanestis, commander of the Greek forces at the time of the Asia Minor military disaster.

All but two of the former Cabinet officers and army officials accused of high treason in connection with the Greek debacle in Asia Minor were sentenced to death by the military court martial that heard the charges. A sentence of life imprisonment and degradation was imposed upon Admiral Goudas and Gen. Stratigos.

The trial of the former officials, who were charged with high treason as the result of the army's recent defeat by the Turks in Asia Minor, began on Nov. 13. The court martial was instituted by a decree of the revolutionary committee after an investigation by a special committee of inquiry had resulted in a report charging treason.

Former King Constantine was declared exempt from the charges on the ground that he was not responsible for any acts that led to the triumph of the Turkish armies. It was decided that his Ministers must bear the full responsibility. The accused men were permitted to testify in their own defense.

Britain Expected to Withdraw Minister.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—It was stated in official circles today that the immediate withdrawal of the British minister at Athens would result from the executions of the former Greek ministers.

Early in the trial the British Government made representations against possible imposition of the death sentence. A London dispatch said the British action had been generally resented in Athens and that the recent fall of the Zaimis ministry could be traced directly to the British stand.

A Central News dispatch from Athens earlier today said that the court martial which heard treason charges against several former Cabinet ministers, had imposed the death sentence on M. Gounaris, M. Protopapadakis and M. Stratos, former Premiers; M. Theotakis, former Minister of War; M. Raltazzis, who held portfolios in several Cabinets; and Gen. Haljanestis, who commanded the Greek forces in the recent debacle in Asia Minor.

The dispatch added that Gen. Stratigos and Admiral Goudas were sentenced to life imprisonment. Fines ranging from 200,000 to 1,000,000 drachmas were imposed on the prisoners. In addition, Gens. Stratigos and Hadjanestis and Admiral

NEW BOARD BRINGS VIRTUAL ALLIANCE OF FABRIC FIRMS

American Woolen Co. and Consolidated Textile Corporation Now Have Directors in Common.

MOVE NOT A STEP TOWARD 'SUPER TRUST'

American Co. Owns No Stock in Consolidated, and Two Companies Not Merged in Any Way.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The biggest woolen company in the world and this country's biggest distributer of cotton textiles, two concerns whose annual business totals almost $25,000,000, were brought into virtual alliance yesterday afternoon when a group of stockholders, meeting at 58 Worth street, elected a new board of directors. The firms are the American Woolen Co., controlling 40 per cent of the woolen business of the country, and the Consolidated Textile Corporation, which, in addition to its front rank as a distributer of cotton textiles, owns cotton mills operating more than 700,000 spindles.

In the announcement that the selection of new directors for the Consolidated "brought together the two outstanding factors in the woolen and cotton industries in the United States," it was emphasized at the Consolidated offices that the move did not constitute the initial step toward the formation of a "super-trust" in the manufacture and sale of woolen and cotton fabrics.

It was said the American Woolen Co. owned no stock of the Consolidated Textile Corporation, that the two companies were not merged in any sense and that their only relationship was a personal one in that they had directors in common.

Outcome of Election.

William M. Wood, chairman of the board of directors and president of the American Woolen Co., was made chairman of the board and director-general of the Consolidated Textile Corporation.

Henry P. Binney, a director of the American Woolen Co., was made a director of the Consolidated Textile Corporation.

Wood, Pierce and Shepley constitute the executive committee of three of the American Woolen Co. Four of the seven members of the American Woolen Co.'s board of directors now are officers or directors of the Consolidated Textile Corporation. Wood and Pierce are members of the newly elected executive committee of the Consolidated Textile Corporation. When Wood was asked for an explanation of the move he said, in his home at Boston:

"These changes in the Consolidated Textile Corporation mean progress. I have taken an interest in this fine concern because I wanted to help out the industries of New England. It is a personal matter entirely and the American Woolen Co. is not involved."

The company has 17 cotton mills in Rhode Island and Massachusetts and nine, according to Moody's Manual for 1922, in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Texas.

"No Change in Merchandising."

Frederick K. Rupprecht, chairman of the Consolidated Executive Committee, and the man who built the company to its present size, said there would be no change in the firm's merchandising and that there would be no public financing, as the Consolidated had "plenty of money." He said he had been trying for a year to get Wood into the company.

It was said controlling stock interest, necessary to put through the election, had been bought in the open market, that all of the firm's authorized stock was outstanding and that it had sold no stock to the American Co. or to individuals.

The Consolidated stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Ordinarily dealings in it range from 500 to 3000 shares a day. Last Thursday dealings increased to 5600 shares at $11.25, accompanied by rumors of some sort of a deal between Consolidated and American Woolen.

Last Friday the number of shares dealt in jumped to 90,400, the stock closing at $13.25. Saturday 26,700 shares changed hands, and yesterday 32,000. There was no corresponding activity in American Woolen shares, which also are listed on the exchange.

Seeking verification of the rumor, newspaper men went to the Consolidated offices several days ago. It then was denied that any move to bring the companies together was pending.

Other new directors added to the Consolidated board yesterday are William G. Rockefeller, Samuel F. Pryer, chairman of the Remington Arms Co.; Henry L. Tiffany, cotton merchant; William M. Butler, president of the Butler Mills, Hoosac Cotton Mills, New Bedford Cotton Mills, Quisset Mills and Nemasket Mills, and Charles T. Main, industrial engineer.

Wood has made his reputation chiefly in the producing end and Rupprecht in the merchandising or sales. It is believed these abilities will be utilized as they have been in the past.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—President William M. Woods of the American Woolen Co., commenting on his election as director-general of the Consolidated Textile Co., which was announced from New York today, said he had become interested in this group of cotton mills largely because he wanted to help out the industries of New England. It was a personal matter entirely, he said, the American Woolen Co. being in no way concerned.

She said: "That just shows the world is good after all." And she picked up the boy, a bright-faced, sturdy youngster, with his mother's sensitive characteristics, and set him on her lap and wept quietly.

"Moral Mistake."

The Department of Labor has exercised its discretionary power after reading the report submitted by the Ellis Island board of inquiry and decided that the child of the unmarried mother, Nancy Jordan, represents a moral mistake rather than an immoral character within the meaning of the immigration law.

Warren Ambiguous.

He was courteous and ambiguous. He was asked the direct question which has been suggested by the circumstances of the affair despite the attempts of the girl to evade it:

"Are you the father of the boy?"

He replied slowly and thoughtfully: "Were I to claim the paternity of Miss Jordan's little boy I would be calling her a liar. If I denied it I would be answering a charge that has not been made. Let people think what they will."

What people have to think about, as extracted from interviews with Mr. and Mrs. Warren and Miss Jordan and spread on the divorce records of the Kansas City court, is this:

Sued for Divorce.

While in the A. E. F. Warren was sent to a military school in England. He met Miss Jordan and wrote home to his wife about her. Shortly after he returned to the United States in 1920 Mrs. Warren sued for divorce on the ground of incompatibility. Warren did not defend the suit. There have been no children.

He is a lawyer in Kansas City. She is wealthy in her own right and owns much property. Both have remained friendly and he has continued as her counsel in the management of her affairs. It was she who suggested to Miss Jordan that she come with the child to the United States and then furnished the money for the passage.

This is the bare skeleton of fact upon which the principals have so far agreed in their conversation. Evasion enters immediately into any attempt to discover the future plans of the young mother and her son.

Did Not Know of Divorce.

She was asked if she knew Mr. and Mrs. Warren had been divorced. "I did not know that until just before I sailed," she replied. "I want it made clear that I was in no way responsible for that divorce," she added.

RUSSIA LIKELY TO WIN STRONG PLACE AT CONFERENCE

Allies Disposed to Reject Demands, but Extent of Problems May Widen Her Participation.

By the Associated Press.

LAUSANNE, Nov. 28.—Russia and Turkey, working together, are expected to make a strong pair at the Near East peace conference. English and French circles show a disposition to reject the demands forwarded by the Russian delegation, insisting that Russia be heard not only in the Dardanelles discussion, but in all questions on the Near East conference agenda. It is pointed out that Russia has signed a peace treaty with Turkey and that, therefore, there is no reasonable basis for her demand that she participate in the general deliberations to determine the terms of a settlement between Greece and Turkey on one hand and Turkey and the allies on the other.

Nevertheless, whatever may be the decision of the conference on the stand taken by the Russians, it is apparent that there will be no disposition to shut out Russia. It is recognized that so many problems are part and parcel to a settlement of the straits controversy that Russia's participation in this angle of the conference will inevitably mean the association of the Moscow delegates with other important questions on the conference program.

Effect of American Stand.

America's insistence upon the open door and equality economically in the Near East, which follows her traditional demand for equal commercial privileges in the Far East, was cited yesterday by the Russian delegation as supporting an official communication forwarded by the Russian delegation to the conference asking for the right of speech on all matters before that body.

Russia objects vigorously to any attempt to limit her activities in the discussion of the future status of the Dardanelles; she claims that all topics on the Lausanne agenda are closely related to the supreme object of freedom of the straits and that stable peace in the Near East can be attained only by allowing the Russian delegates free participation on the same basis as the other great Powers.

In their official petition the Russians affirm that only by following the principle of equality can the conference hope to reachd the goal of greater equity in the relations between nations — "a wish expressed at the opening of the conference and confirmed by the recent declaration of the representative of the United States."

Russian Indorse U. S. Attitude.

Discussing the Russian petition last night, M. Rakovsky, president of the Ukraine Republic, said to the Associated Press correspondent:

"We are glad the United States made its strong stand against the secret treaties agreement; we heartily indorse it. When Ambassador Child spoke of the necessity of building up a foundation of greater equity in the relations between nations we consider that he was indorsing our stand for equal treatment at Lausanne."

Secretary Hughes' pronunciamento of the open door in the Near East as presented and amplified by Ambassador Child, promises to produce the same stir in Europe as did the declaration of Secretary Hay concerning the open door in the Far East. Such is the impression radiating from the diplomats of many countries grouped in Lausanne.

England, through Lord Curzon, is understood to have ratified it completely and the French spokesmen have expressed approval of the American stand.

WILSON SEES "GLORIOUS VICTORY" IN 1924 IF WORKERS KEEP AT IT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NORTH BALTIMORE, Nov. 28.

THAT the elections of 1924 will result in a "glorious victory" for the Democratic party is the prediction of former President Wilson in a letter to Mrs. Jay W. Borough, local Democratic worker, made public today.

"It is my belief that if all the party workers will keep steadily at it for the next two years, the fight so well begun on Nov. 7 will result in a glorious victory in 1924," the former President wrote.

STATE TESTIMONY NEARS END IN THE HOHENSCHILD CASE

to become a member of the board of directors, and that he agreed to this, after a conference with Hohenschild and Phillips, and became a director Oct. 12, 1921, attending his first meeting Oct. 19. He read from the minute book his oath as a director, requiring him to be cautious and diligent, and not to approve any act in violation of the banking laws.

He was asked as to the manner in which loans were brought to the directors' attention at meetings. He said Hohenschild and Meininger would present the loan proposals and would explain who the borrowers were, and what their business standing was. He said Hohenschild would call on Meininger frequently to confirm his statements, saying, "That is correct, is it not, Mr. Meininger?" He identified the minutes of the Oct. 19 meeting and those of Nov. 9, the latter not being signed by the president or secretary of the bank.

Mauldin's testimony in direct examination ended at this point, without having contained any very strong points for the prosecution. Patrick H. Cullen, chief counsel for the defense, managed in the cross-examination to bring out some points apparently favorable to Hohenschild.

Cautioned About Conferences.

Cullen questioned Mauldin about the conference of directors of the Night and Day Bank in former Gov. Major's office, the afternoon of Jan. 5, and the meeting that night with other bankers at the home of Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., 4451 Lindell boulevard.

He said Cashier Meininger's absence was commented on at the meeting in Major's office, and was regarded as suspicious. He said he arrived at the meeting after Bookkeeper Schneider and Head Teller Kingston had made their report, and that the others told him that Schneider and Kingston had reported an apparent shortage of $147,000 "cash items." He said the directors were trying, at that time, to get into communication with Deputy Finance Commissioner Ross.

Mauldin said he was the one who telephoned to Wade at the Log Cabin Club, and that Hohenschild, who talked with Wade after a telephone connection was established, arranged for the conference at Wade's home at 8:15 p. m. The Night and Day directors met at the bank and went to Wade's, he said.

Mauldin was asked whether he ever spoke to Hohenschild about the large amount of cash and cash items carried by the bank. He said he did so, in the short time that he was director, and that Hohenschild told him it was necessary to have a large amount of cash, to meet Christmas savings withdrawals, which might run as high as $450,000, not only in the special Christmas savings accounts, which were a feature of the bank, but in other accounts. This explanation was made in the presence of other directors, he said, and seemed to satisfy them, as it satisfied him.

He said he never perceived and effort on Hohenschild's part to conceal anything from him.

Overdue Paper Discussed.

The directors, Mauldin said, were free to ask all the questions they wished. "I was not experienced in the banking business," Mauldin said, "and I did not usually offer advice. Neither I nor any of the other directors, so far as I know, had the slightest knowledge that the bank was insolvent."

Mauldin said the overdue paper, considered at monthly meetings for that purpose, was discussed freely, and that the explanations offered by Hohenschild and Meininger were accepted as satisfactory. A previous witness, Anthony Rolwes, note teller, has testified that, with Hohenschild's knowledge, he furnished to the directors an incomplete list of overdue notes, instead of the complete list which he furnished to Hohenschild and Meininger.

"Intelligent Care."

Cullen, in cross-examination, obtained Mauldin's assent to a statement in question form that Hohenschild had exercised "intelligent care" in looking after the affairs of the bank, and had acted "with an eye single to the interests of the bank."

He was asked if, at the meeting in Wade's house, Deputy Commissioner Ross showed surprise when the sum of $174,000 was mentioned as the amount of the shortage. Mauldin replied that he did not. He was asked if at any time during the meeting at Wade's house, $754,000 had been mentioned as the sum of the shortage. He replied that it had not been mentioned in his hearing, but that he had been absent from the meeting for a time.

In response to a question, he said he had observed no act by Hohenschild that could be regarded as dishonest or immoral.

Cornwell's Testimony.

Cornwell, the second director presented as a State's witness, said he had been a director since October, 1919. He was a member of the Discount Committee, with Hohenschild, Meininger and F. A. McDermott. He said the Discount Committee passed only on new loans, at its meetings at 11 a. m. daily, and that renewals were handled by Hohenschild and Meininger. He once heard Hohenschild instruct Note Teller Rolwes not to include the renewals in the reports which Rolwes made as to new loans.

Cornwell said he noticed the large amount of cash and cash items, and talked with Hohenschild and Mauldin about it. Hohenschild, he said, gave him the same explanation, as to Christmas demands, which Mauldin had repeated, and he said Hohenschild also mentioned the requirements as to a legal reserve.

He said the loan proposals were usually presented to the discount committe by Hohenschild, and that the investigations as to loans were usually made by Hohenschild and Meininger. As to the Southern Motor Car Co. loans, Cornwell said: "We made several loans to them on chattel mortgages." As to loans to the Briscoe Motor Sales Co., he did not recall so definitely. He said some loans were made before presenting the matter to the discount committee. He recalled Hohenschild's order to Note Teller Rolwes not to report renewals with new loans.

Increase in Salaries.

Cornwell testified to the meeting of the directors April 28, 1920, at which the salaries of Hohenschild and Meininger were raised, the former being fixed at $7500 a year and the latter at $5000. He testified that a resolution was adopted at that time, stating that Hohenschild was thereafter to give his constant personal supervision to the bank's affairs.

On cross-examination, Cornwell said that the raise in salary to Hohenschild was voluntary on the part of the Board of Directors. "He was getting a very small salary, and we thought he deserved a raise," he declared.

In response to a question, Cornwell said he never saw any indication that Hohenschild was aware of the bank's condition.

"You believed the bank prosperous?"

Bought Additional Stock.

He testified that in 1920 he bought $500 additional stock of the bank at $112 a share, upon Hohenschild's recommendation that it was worth $160, and that other directors bought additional stock also.

"Have you ever known any act of Hohenschild savoring of dishonesty?" he was asked.

"I thought him a very honest man."

Upon redirect examination, Circuit Attorney Sidener asked: "You relied entirely upon what Hohenschild told you of bank matters?"

"Yes."

Cornwell testified that he was not in St. Louis Jan. 5, the date of the meetings at Major's office and Wade's residence.

He said that, so far as he knew, the Katz account was never submitted to the discount committee. He said Hohenschild never interfered with his performance of his duties as director, and never, so far as his observation went, tried to induce the discount committee to approve a questionable loan.

Cornwell said his own firm, which built the $1,500,000 Melbourne Hotel and other large buildings, deposited $11,000 in the Night and Day Bank Jan. 3, $800 Jan. 4 and $400 Jan. 5, the last day the bank was open. He said he, as a real estate man, frequently appraised realty offered as security for loans. He said the investigation of the automobiles offered as security by the Southern Motor Car Co. was made by Hohenschild.

Testimony About Bankers' Meeting.

The testimony at the opening of today's session was a continuation of that given last night, regarding the meeting of the bankers at the Wade home. The bankers met as representatives of the Clearing House Association, to see whether some means of helping the Night and Day Bank through its difficulties could not be found.

J. T. Clabaugh, examiner for the Clearing House, was the first witness today. He said he was summoned to the Wade home, and got there about 11 p. m. He was told that the Night and Day Bank was in trouble, and after a discussion it was decided to go to the bank and make an examination.

It was desired, he said, to learn before 9 a. m., the opening time, whether conditions were such that the Clearing House Association could extend help. He said the report of the general bookkeeper, F. J. Schneider, was completed between 2:30 and 3 a. m., and that when he saw a statement of about $854,000 cash and cash items, he asked Deputy Finance Commissioner Ross how much actual cash the bank had. Ross said about $100,000, and Clabaugh thereupon concluded that the balance, $754,000, represented the bank's shortage. He at once said to the bankers that the shortage was three times the bank's capital and surplus, and that it was useless to think of help from the clearing house.

Clabaugh Cross-Examined.

The bank did not open that morning, Jan. 6. The present case is based on acceptance of deposits the evening of Jan. 5.

Cullen cross-examined Clabaugh. He asked whether the bookkeeper's showing was not, in fact, a "cash item" account of $174,000, and whether he had not been told, at Wade's house, that the shortage was $174,000 or $175,000. Clabaugh repeated that he heard no exact figures until the completion of the bookkeeper's work, when he satisfied himself that the shortage was $754,000.

Cullen then questioned the witness as to what was said at the bank about securities for the cash items. He tried to bring out that Hohenschild and former Gov. Major, counsel and a director of the bank, made remarks indicating that they believed securities for the cash items were in the vault. The witness said no figures were furnished him, with which to check up the matter of security. He said the bookkeeper did not tell him, in so many words, of the $754,000 shortage, but that he figured it out from the bookkeeper's statement. He said he did not know as to the information possessed at that time by the bank's officers.

Walter W. Smith, vice-president of the First National Bank, testified that, in the conference at Wade's home, he understood that the total of cash and cash items in the bank was $874,000. This was $20,000 more than the figure which Clabaugh said was given to him at the bank by the bookkeeper several hours later.

Cullen, cross-examining Smith, tried to get him to say that the amount might have been $174,000, the amount which, it has been testified previously, was mentioned in early reports of the shortage. Smith insisted that $874,000 was the figure mentioned to him. When asked how that figure could have been named in advance of the bookkeeper's report, he said it might have been approximated by adding up the teller's blotters.

Ross Recalled.

Deputy State Finance Commissioner Ross, recalled by the State, stated the amount of Meyer Katz's unsecured loans from the bank to be $274,000, those of the Southern Motors Co., $224,000, and of the Nida Investment Co., to be $21,000.

He explained the name "Nida" to be a contraction of "Night and Day," and said the company was composed of Hohenschild, J. W. Sharkey, Cashier Meininger, a Mr. Cooper and C. E. Hayden.

The Nida concern was the second which has been shown to have an "inside" relation with the Night and Day Bank, through interlocking groups of officers. The other was the McMeho Investment Co., composed of Cashier Meininger, President Hohenschild and a former director named McCarthy, the name being a compound of the names of the three men. The McMeho Co. financed the Ranelagh apartments at De Baliviere and McPherson avenues, the finances of which figured in yesterday's testimony.

Questioned About Katz Loans.

In response to a question whether he had any conversation with Hohenschild concerning the Katz loans, Ross replied that during the conference in the Wade home, Hohenschild had said to him that he had instructed Meininger to cease business dealings with Katz.

Ross was asked whether Hohenschild ever filed suit for his salary, about $1800, due at the time of the closing. He said there had been no such suit. He then told of finding loans to the Midwest Tire and Rubber Co., aggregating about $85,000, with no security, and a loan to the same concern, with a memorandum, "Good. W. H. S.," which was for $69,723.62, and was unsecured. The initials were not explained.

On cross-examination by Cullen, Ross told further of his findings, telling of the indebtedness of the Southern Motor Car Co., which had chattel mortgages on automobiles attached as security. Later, he said, he had been unable to find the automobiles. He said the mortgages had not been legally recorded, but that this loan was aside from the loans made by Cashier Meininger to the same company in an illegal manner, for which suit has been filed against a surety company on Meininger's bond.

Katz Loans Again Brought Up.

Ross was questioned by Cullen about the loans to Meyer Katz. It was shown that Katz borrowed [illegible] 397.67 with the approval of the board of directors, and had paid back all but about $3000 of the amount, but that notes of Katz, for loans approved by the board, one of $12,500 and one of $20,000, were also found, the latter note being payable to Meininger personally. Ross could not recall that the $20,000 note had any notation saying that it was secured by steamboat property.

Ross called Cullen's attention to the other notes of Katz about which Cullen had not asked him, for loans of $5000, June 28, 1921; $16,[illegible], Aug. 11, and $28,330, Dec. 12. These loans were without the board's approval, and are included in the suit which has been filed against the surety company on Meininger's bond.

"Why hasn't Katz been prosecuted?" Cullen demanded.

Circuit Attorney Sidener made a successful objection to this question and added in an undertone: "Katz is not out of this yet."

Meeting of Bankers at Wade's Home Described.

At last night's session of the trial, the meeting of Night and Day directors and other bankers, representing the Clearing House Association, at the Wade home the night of Jan. 5, was described in testimony. The defense sought to bring out that the bank's shortage of $754,000, due to "cash items," was not known to those present at that meeting, though a cash item account of $174,000 was mentioned.

J. L. Johnston, president of the Liberty Central Trust Co., testified that he heard nothing of a $754,000 shortage at the meeting at Wade's house. Deputy Finance Commissioner Ross testified that he did not know of that amount until it was shown by a bookkeeper's report at the bank at 3 a. m. Jan. 6.

Bookkeeper Schneider and Head Teller Kingston have previously testified that Hohenschild, former Gov. Major, Judge Allen and McDermott, directors, were informed of the full amount of the shortage early in the afternoon of Jan. 5.

PONY BLIMP SETS RECORD BY FLIGHT IT COULDN'T HELP

Unable to Return to Hangar, Scott Field Craft Flies 450 Miles, to Bynun, Ala., as Free Balloon.

CAUGHT IN WIND OF 40 MILES AN HOUR

Pilot and Two Passengers Were in the Basket—Message Sent After Landing States "All Well."

An unplanned record flight was made yesterday by Scott Field's pony blimp, which traversed about 450 miles from the field to Bynun, Ala., about 60 miles east of Birmingham and 10 miles west of Anniston, in 10 hours, with three men aboard, flying as a free balloon.

First Lieut. O. A. Anderson, the pilot, had taken the blimp, which is the only airship of its kind in the army, aloft at 11 a. m. yesterday for an ordinary flight. Its normal radius of flight is about 150 miles. A hard windstorm, with a wind blowing 35 or 40 miles an hour from the northwest, came up soon after the blimp had taken off, with its 60-horsepower, three-cylinder Lawrence motor in action.

Unable to Return.

Lieut. Anderson found himself in the predicament of being unable to return to the hangar against the gale, which the motor had not power to overcome. The alternative was to ride with the wind, so he shut off the motor and decided to fly as a free balloon. The 100-foot, cigar-shaped bag, with its basket of passengers, flew in practically a straight line until brought down at Bynum.

Scott Field officers, who received messages from the pilot after he landed, said that the flight was the longest ever made by a pony blimp in the United States. It might have been longer, they said, but for the fact that the wind was carrying the little dirigible towards the Gulf of Mexico.

Officers believe that Lieut. Anderson wanted to prove that the blimp could make a long distance flight. It will be boxed and shipped back to Scott Field.

Assistant Pilot of C-2.

Lieut. Anderson was assistant pilot of the dirigible C-2, in its transcontinental flight, and sprained his ankle jumping from that ship when it was destroyed by fire at San Antonio, Tex., recently. With him in yesterday's flight were First Lieutenant C. M. Brown, assistant pilot, and Private D. Ableson of the Twelfth Airship Co. The blimp's normal passenger quota is three.

"All well," was the first message received early this morning from the aerial adventurers, an indication that none was injured in the landing. The crew went to Camp McClellan, near Anniston.

This pony blimp is the one that has flown low over downtown St. Louis. It uses hydrogen gas in the bag, which has a capacity of 35,600 cubic feet. On Sept. 16 it escaped and flew 12 miles south of the field, dropping in a treetop after most of the gas had escaped.

MAN GETS YEAR AND A HALF IN JAIL FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Alex Thomann Sentenced on Six Counts and Fined $400 on Seventh.

A sentence of a year and a half in jail today was imposed by Federal Judge Faris upon Alex Thomann for his conviction by a jury of sale of liquor to prohibition enforcement agents on six different occasions last month in a saloon at 8890 North Broadway, owned by his brother, Jacob. A fine of $400 was imposed on a seventh count, charging possession of liquor.

Asked if he had any financial interest in the saloon, Thomann replied that he had not. "Had you any interest," Judge Faris remarked, "the penalty would have been twice as severe. You can go to St. Charles and meditate for 18 months on perjuring yourself on the witness stand."

Four enforcement agents testified that Thomann had sold liquor to them. Thomann, on the stand, denied he had never seen any of the agents before.

Similar charges against Jacob, proprietor of the saloon, were dismissed because he had not been present on any of the enforcement agents' visits.

"KATACHERSIS" CHIEF POINT IN CHURCH SUIT

Legal and scholastic discussions of the Greek word "katachresis," the meaning of which appears to be the chief point in an injunction suit filed by Anastascious Pappas and others to prevent the ousting of Pappas as president of the Greek Orthodox Church of St. Nicholas, 3118 St. Louis avenue, occupied much of the time in a hearing of the case today in Circuit Judge Grimm's Court.

Seven of the 11 trustees voted to remove Pappas July 28 last, alleging he had abused his power as president. Basil Kyrfocopulos, a student at Washington University, was ousted as secretary. Apostolos Glastris was elected president.

The by-laws provide an officer may be removed only for theft, a change of faith or "katachresis," both sides state.

The factions split on "katachresis." The Pappas faction of the congregation asserts the word, as inserted in the by-laws, means only embezzlement. The insurgent faction of the trustees declares it also means "abuse of power." There is no charge of embezzlement in the congregational strife.

Admission was made by the Pappastians that the word might mean an excess, overspreading, overuse, or perhaps abuse, when used anywhere else, but cling to the literal interpretation of embezzlement, as the word is used in the by-laws, properly set off by commas.

Both sides produced Greek scholars and several Greek dictionaries in support of their claims.

A WARRANT CHARGING FORGERY IN the second degree on two counts was issued yesterday by the Circuit Attorney's office against Theodore Gossman, 19 years old, who was arrested by police Sunday afternoon after a search of several months. The warrant charges Gossman with forging the name of Roy J. Melton, 3339 Locust street, to a check for $65 on a local bank on Aug. 19 last, and with forging the name of J. E. Lanbach, 3756 Gravois avenue, to another check.

WIFE NO. 2 DOES NOT PLAN TO LOSE TIERNAN

She Says She Intends to Live With Him—He Tries to Restore Harmony With No. 1.

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 28.—With the threads of the domestic affairs of Prof. and Mrs. John P. Tiernan becoming more tangled by many new developments since the start of the Tiernan-Poulin paternity case, the next move of the principals toward a restoration of harmony in the household is being watched with interest.

Notwithstanding the fact that Prof. Tiernan announced last night that the reconciliation with his first wife was moving along satisfactorily, a dispatch from Marshalltown, Ia., quoted Mrs. Blanche Brimmer Tiernan, the professor's "bride of a day," as saying that she was the latter's wife and was going to live with him. She said she expected Tiernan to arrive at the Iowa city Wednesday. Tiernan said Mrs. Brimmer had called him on the telephone to say there were no legal impediments to their marriage Saturday.

Mrs. Tiernan's sister, Mrs. Anna Pulaski, arrived from Chicago and endeavored without success to have Judge Montgomery go to the Tiernan home to straighten out their affairs.

"There will be no more publicity in this case," Mrs. Pulaski said. "Tiernan has held the whip hand over Gus always. He has given out interviews is which he alone starred. From now on it will be different. I am here to see that Gus (Mrs. Tiernan) gets a square deal and she is going to get it."

Festive Spread for Five, With All the Trimmings, Cost Less Than $3 in 1912.

Thanksgiving turkey may be bought this year for from 55 to 60 cents a pound, depending upon whether it's bought over a marble counter or from a stall in Union Market. Last year the prices were the same, at some stores a cent or two lower, and on the day before Thanksgiving fell 5 cents, when large shipments were received.

None of the retailers or commission men seen yesterday, except one retailer, expected the price to change today or tomorrow. This retailer said that since unsettled weather of the last few days has disturbed shipping, he expected the demand to outrun the supply, unless shipping should increase, and that the price might reach 65 cents.

An entire old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner for five persons, with all the trimmings, could be bought in 1917 for $3.90, just 5 cents more than the seven-pound turkey alone costs this year at Union Market. Turkey then was 35 cents a pound. In 1912 turkey was 22 cents a pound, and the whole dinner cost $2.77. Since 1919 the cost of the spread has been gradually rising from $5.50 toward the $6 mark.

Persons who want to have something left after buying the fowl, to have dressing and maybe cranberries, may get geese, ducks and spring chickens and hens for 30 cents a pound, or about 5 cents a pound less than they had to pay last year. Rabbits are sold at 40 cents each.

Inmates of city institutions will have chicken for Thanksgiving dinner. Prisoners of the workhouse and jail will have green ham. Trimmings which will be generally provided are mince meat and cranberries.

THREE MEN INDICTED AFTER ROCK ISLAND CRIME INQUIRY

John Looney, Fugitive Publisher, and Suspended Chief of Police Are Named.

By the Associated Press.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 28.—The Rock Island grand jury, which has been investigating crime under direction of Attorney-General E. J. Brundage, today returned indictments against John Looney, fugitive publisher of the suspended Rock Island News; Thomas Cox, suspended Chief of Police, and Louis Ortell, known as an underworld character.

GRAND JURY BEGINS BALLOTING ON HALL CASE INDICTMENTS

"Mr. Beekman, may I see you now?" asked Mrs. Hall's lawyer.

"No, you can't see me now,' replied the prosecutor.

The story which Alpaugh is understood to have told the grand jury was that on the night of the murders he was driving from New Brunswick to Boundbrook, when at 12:10 a. m. he saw a sedan standing near De Russey's lane in the vicinity of the Phillips farm, where the shooting occurred. With the aid of his lights he was able to see that the car, said to resemble one belonging to the woman in gray, whom Mrs. Gibson declares to have seen about this time bending over the bodies, was empty.

A dramatic moment ensued when Mrs. Hall faced Mrs. Gibson as the latter was being conducted from the jury room. Mrs. Gibson started slightly as her eyes met those of the widow. The women exchanged flashing glances.

Although Mrs. Hall remained silent all morning, her very existence ignored by the authorities, she was a dominating figure in the court scene. She awaited a call from the jury which did not come.

CONFESSION CLAIMED IN POISON CASE

Woman Said to Admit Mailing Candy Fatal to Mother of Eight Children.

By the Associated Press.

CHILTON, Wis., Nov. 28.—Miss Anna Lenz, 30-year-old daughter of a wealthy farmer, is expected to be arraigned today on a charge of murder following her alleged confession yesterday that she sent poisoned candy through the mail, which resulted in the death last Tuesday of Mrs. Frank Schneider, mother of eight children.

According to District Attorney Arps, Miss Lenz admitted buying poison and inserting it in a chocolate bar, intending to send it to Mrs. Henry Schneider, sister-in-law of the dead woman. She said, according to the District Attorney, that she did not discover her mistake until she heard of the death of Mrs. Frank Schneider. She then visited the Schneider home and destroyed the package and wrapper, according to the confession.

According to the District Attorney, Miss Lenz charged Mrs. Henry Schneider with having spread reports that she had attended a dance with Frank Schneider, and gave this as her reason for sending the candy.

DR. WELLINGTON KOO, CHINESE FOREIGN MINISTER, IMPEACHED

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, Nov. 28.—The House of Representatives today adopted a resolution impeaching Wang Chung-Hui, acting Premier, and Dr. Wellington Koo, Foreign Minister, on the ground that they participated in signing the loan agreement with the Sino-Italian Bank in connection with which Finance Minister Lo Wen Kan was recently arrested. The vote on the resolution was 262 to 39.

Lo Wen Kan was arrested Nov. 19, charged with receiving a commission for the proposed flotation of a loan of £6,000,000 by a group of German and Austrian financiers before the World War. His commission, it was alleged, was to be £100,000. Wung Chung Hui and Wellington Koo, like Lo Wen Kan, were delegates to the Washington arms conference.

SIX GREEK LEADERS WHO LOST WAR WITH TURKS PUT TO DEATH

Goudas were sentenced to military degradation.

The British minister at Athens, F. O. Lindley, recently informed the Greek government that if the prisoners were executed he would depart.

The action of the Greeks in the face of the British representations may bring serious results to their government, according to official opinion, not only in the withdrawal of moral support but also the refusal of financial assistance by the great powers.

Some of Testimony Gigen Against Former Ministers.

The charges of high treason resulted from the failure of the Asia Minor campaign, the Government's policy in the campaign having been discrbed as "treacherous' and its actions characterized as "criminal" in testimony against the defendants given by Gen. Papoulas, who preceded Gen. Hadjanestic as Commander in Chief in Anatolia.

Gen Papoulas testified that at a war council last year at Kutai, under the presidency of King Constantine, both he and Gen Pallis dwelt upon the difficulties of the campaign for Angora, which the Greeks were about to start.

He said that Premier Gounaris declared that the objections were exaggerated and that the Government's opinion prevailed.

SUMMARY OF UNFAVORABLE REPORT ON NIGHT AND DAY BANK MADE IN FALL OF 1920

The report made by State bank examiners on the Night and Day Bank, late in 1920, and the letter written by State Bank Commissioner Enright to President Hohenschild of the bank Jan. 6, 1921, one year before the bank failed, with a loss of $1,000,000 to depositors and stockholders, are important items of evidence in Hohenschild's trial, now in progress, on a charge of assenting to acceptance of deposits in a failing institution.

Four examiners went over the bank's affairs in the fall of 1920. Their report, almost wholly unfavorable, stated that the Night and Day Bank needed "a first-class banker," and added that there was "very little hope that conditions will improve so long as the bank remains under the present management."

The defense in this case has raised the point that Hohenschild was not a practical banker. Cashier A. O. Meininger, who was in charge of many of the banking details, had his training in the Night and Day Bank, and, as appeared in last week's testimony, his chief assistants were men who had learned all they knew of banking from him. This was true of the general bookkeeper and the head teller, witnesses in this case.

Summary of Report Last Fall.

A summary of the report made to Commissioner Enright on the bank's affairs, by the examiners who made the inquiry last fall, is as follows:

"This examination was started Sept. 29, 1920, but after working a week your examiners had to withdraw, as the books and accounts were in such a mess that an examination was impossible. The general books had not been posted since August (last date of call) and it was impossible to tell what balances should be.

"At the request of examiners, auditors were put to work to get the books in shape for examination. After working 10 weeks they reported the books in shape for examination. Your examiners then went in and this report covers this last examination.

Large List of Overdrafts.

"Your attention is called to the large list of overdrafts included in this report and your attention is called to the fact that this amount are the ones that are remaining after 10 weeks of effort to reduce these overdrafts. The September list run up into $40,000.

"The following loans should be charged off or collected:

W. A. Brownlee	$ 1,900 00
S. R. Evans	250 00
L. W. Heagy	300 00
J. C. McCaskill	2,500 00
Ralph H. Schultz	2,550 00
Mrs. H. D. Heidler	60 00
W. P. Moss	78 80
Wm. Schroeder	71 94
Nida Investment Co.	33,487 36
Allen Pfeiffer Chem. Co.	12,046 17
Childs Drug Co.	500 00
Chas. E. Lane	250 00
Lora B. Lane	9,932 38
Jno. J. Steger	4,500 00
Chas. Vastine	4,000 00
Warren Steel Casting Co.	29,000 00
W. R. & L. F. Parker	3,680 00
Fred Krone	3,500 00
Jno. A. Hope	13,246 62
Greenville Inv. Co.	2,000 00
Gallant Loan Co.	13,000 00
Cudmore Const. Co.	11,400 00
Total	$148,243 27

(Some of these loans were later paid in full, or proved to be amply secured. The Allen-Pfeiffer loan was paid, as were the Lane and Steger loans, and that of the Nida Investment Co. was secured by land in Oklahoma.)

Comment on List.

"Of the above loans the directors only admit that the Brownlee loan is a loss, and they say they might get that. The other loans listed above are all slow and will be hard to collect, but we hesitate to class as bad as the directors claim them good. The loans are discussed under each loan as they appear in the report and in going over the above list and referring back to the report you can get a fair idea of the condition of the lines. The Allan-Pfeiffer company makes a good statement and is said to be doing better, but we feel that there is something else back of this paper and that same will be very hard to collect.

"The Warren Steel Casting was secured at the request of your examiners during the examination. Up to that time it had been an unsecured line.

"It is very hard to say just the amount of paper that this bank has that will prove to be bad, but we cannot help but believe that the amount is large, much larger than the directors will admit. There are a number of lines secured by stock in small concerns that we are unable to get market prices, in fact, we doubt that there is a market for such collateral.

"A large number of small loans should be collected.

Collections Recommended.

James Havey	$ 300 00
Devereaux Henderson	100 00
Little & Hays	5,940 70
Alaska Specialty Co.	1,428 00
T. H. Hamilton	350 00
R. C. Heidler	146 50
Fidelis C. Sharp	2,500 00
Farmington Mining Co.	10,350 00
Apex Investment Co.	4,700 00
American Investment	25,000 00
Wm. E. Billheimer	4,750 00
Frank Bishop	9,372 39
Briscoe Motor Sales Co.	34,010 82
R. W. Cushman et al.	8,846 36
A. J. Davis	20,750 00
Eighty-eight Oil Co.	5,000 00
T. H. Forister	5,150 00
Flint Motor Car Co.	27,500 00
Claude D. Hall	9,731 50
C. E. Hayden	3,200 00
Anthony Ittner	4,000 00
Jackson Finance Corp.	14,436 50
W. A. Kammerer	7,300 00
Northwestern Brokerage Co.	8,000 00
Paul P. Phillips	2,164 58
John N. Schappner	6,500 00
St. Louis Buffalo Oil & Gas	16,500 00
Southern Motor Car Co.	24,350 00
Soy Brazilian Oil Co.	5,000 00
Western Printing Machine Co.	8,000 00
Total	$275,377 35

"Some of the larger lines above listed are so listed because their daily balance does not warrant the credit granted and they are using this bank for a dumping ground for their operations.

"Large lines are granted to firms and individuals that carry little or no balance with the bank and in many cases they have large overdrafts.

"General condition of the bank is believed to be much better than when examination was started in September, as several lines have been better secured and the clerical force has been changed. There is yet room for plenty of improvement and condition is regarded as serious. They are in need of a first-class banker to look after their bank and to install systems that will enable them to work out a balance every day.

"Overdrafts should be collected and in the future not allowed. Small accounts should be closed out, in fact a general housecleaning is believed to be necessary before this bank can be considered up to standard. Your examiners have very little hope that condition will improve as long as it remains under the present management.

"This bank should be placed for another examination within 60 or 90 days.

"The large depreciation on the bonds ($69,036.53) should be taken care of at once by setting up or adding to the $22,000 reserve an amount sufficient to cover this entire depreciation. A reserve should also be set up to meet the Meramec Trust Co. item of $25,766.75.

Cash Reserve Large.

"About the only thing that this bank can be commended for is the large cash reserve.

"A large number of the real estate loans are incomplete in as much as they have not the certificates of title, deeds of trust, and insurance with the loans. Several are secured by second deeds of trust and collateral that can be considered only as second or third class collateral."

The report is signed by Virgil D. Wall, examiner in charge, and his assistants, Wilson W. Seibert, Claude O. Craig and Harry D. Silsby. The carrying out of the recommendations, as to further examinations was prevented by Commissioner Enright's death, early in 1921, and by the change in the State administration, in the same year.

Wrote to Hohenschild.

After receiving this report from his examiners, Commissioner Enright sent to President Hohenschild the letter a copy of which was printed exclusively in the Night and City editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch. It called attention to the $36,000 apparent shortage, to slow and undesirable loans, and to heavy overdrafts.

Reply of Hohenschild.

Hohenschild's reply to Enright's letter, which was dated Jan. 10, 1921, was as follows:

"In reply to your favor of the 6th inst. to the effect that your examined, Virgil D. Wall, reports that our assets contain loans to the amount of $148,223, which, in his opinion, should be collected or charged off, is a great surprise to us as no such intimation was made by Mr. Wall to the writer or our Board of Directors when he met with us to go over the results of his first examination.

"In order that we may know what loans are referred to in your letter we respectfully request that we be furnished with a list of them, which, if possible, should reach us by Wednesday morning, Jan. 12, which is our regular board meeting and at which your communication will be submitted to our board and our reply forwarded to you immediately."

7 ESCAPED CONVICTS CAUGHT

Eight Who Fled From Michigan Prison Still at Large.

By the Associated Press.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 28.—Seven of the 15 convicts who escaped from the State prison Sunday were captured last night, according to prison officials. Three of the convicts were found hiding in an abandoned brewery four miles from the prison and four were trapped in the hold of a tug beached at Portage Lake.

Warden Corgon said he believed the escape was aided by persons outside the prison. One of the convicts recently was visited by a woman who gave him $100 and later a talking machine shipped to him at the prison was found to contain four pistols. An investigation is under way.

RADIO PROGRAM HEARD WITHOUT AERIAL ON TRAIN

NO OUTSIDE AERIAL OR GROUND WIRE

Forty Persons Hear Program—Test Was Made as Experiment by Road in Steel Car.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—The radio program broadcast by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch Station K S D was picked up with remarkable clearness by a receiving set, without outside aerial or ground wires, in an all-steel car on the Wabash train from St. Louis to Kansas City last night in the presence of 40 passengers. There were moments when the amplifying device on the instrument emitted the familiar tube noises, but for the most part the program was transmitted with remarkable clearness and those who heard it praised this latest test in wireless telephony without reservations.

The test was undertaken by the Wabash Railroad Co. for purpose of experiment. The Van Ashe Radio Co. supplied the receiving instrument used, and Station K S D gave a special program with the assistance of the Hotel Statler Orchestra, from 11 o'clock last night to 1 o'clock this morning. The only aerial used was a 24-inch "loop aerial" placed on a table with the receiving instrument. The instrument differed from ordinary sets in that it amplified the sound waves before they entered the "detector tube" as well as after they left it.

Announcement Brings Thrill.

The first thrill that eager hearers received came when the opening announcement was made from the Post-Dispatch station. The announcement outlined the nature of the experiment and said that "this program is now being received on a moving train bound from St. Louis to Kansas City."

The persons in the car looked at each other and exchanged sheepish smiles. They each felt in their own hearts that they were pioneers in this latest work and they knew that this message out of space was about them. It was gratifying to be mentioned by radio even if in such general terms. It was not until the music began that those in the car began to express their real appreciation. The rising tide of melody found its loftiest note reflected just as did the softest bar.

For a considerable period it was clear and distinct. Then a shrill rasping sound followed. The operators, George Van Sickle and Walter Ashe, changed the position of the "loop aerial," adjusted the discs on the board and the even tone returned.

Several Variations.

There were frequent variations after that. In the announcements particularly there was some slight difficulty in clearing the tone entirely. Low, deep-throated sounds were followed quickly by high-pitched tones.

Mrs. Lerena W. Lumsden of Los Angeles pronounced her unqualified approval of the program. "It was excellent," she said. "It is a great step forward. It will remove entirely the monotony associated with long train trips. Why, the music was good enough to dance to if space permitted."

Archie Klein of 6016 Waterman, former quarterback of the Missouri University team, also liked it. Klein was going to Columbia to attend the Home-coming exercises in connection with the Missouri-Kansas game Thursday. "It was clearer than any program I have ever heard with an amplifier," he said. "It is almost impossible to realize that the sound wave can be transmitted so clearly under such handicaps."

S. A. Hughes of Albuquerque, N. M., general manager of the Land Department of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co., expressed his appreciation of the program. Joseph C. Moore of 309 Gore avenue, Webster Groves, expressed surprise at the achievement and said that he had not expected to have the program reproduced so clearly on a moving train, especially when the instrument was inclosed in a steel car.

Less Distinct at Distance.

The program continued until the train was some 75 miles out of St. Louis. Then the amplifying device failed to reproduce in such loud tones, although the program could be plainly heard through the ordinary ear phones.

The same test was made this morning on the return trip to St. Louis. The train left Kansas City at 10 o'clock and a two-hour program has been arranged for broadcasting from Kansas City. The regular market and stock reports from the Post-Dispatch station were received. The test was arranged by L. A. Blatterman, general passenger agent of the Wabash Railroad Co.

HAWES TO INTRODUCE BILL STRIKING AT KU KLUX KLAN

Would Forbid Use of Mails for Anonymous Letters and Postcards—Fine Up to $1000 Provided.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A bill striking at the Ku Klux Klan has been prepared by Representative Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis for introduction in the House today. The bill would forbid the use of the mails for anonymous letters and postcards, "whether autographed, typewritten or printed." Anyone knowingly mailing any such unsigned communication would be liable to a fine of not more than $1000.

The ban would not extend to letters or postcards concerning any crime directed to any law enforcement officer. Nothing in the measure, it is provided, would authorize any person to open a sealed letter not addressed to him.

Hawes said the bill was modeled on the act which he put through the State Legislature in 1917, forbidding the circulation of unsigned political pamphlets. He said this law had been copied by several states.

MRS. PHILLIPS SENTENCED; NOTICE OF APPEAL FILED

Term Is 10 Years to Life in Prison; Stay of 10 Days Is Granted.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Clara Phillips, recently convicted of having slain Mrs. Alberta Meadows with a hammer here last summer, yesterday was sentenced to serve from 10 years to life in the State penitentiary at San Quentin.

She received the sentence without emotion.

The commitment to prison was delayed when her counsel gave notice of appeal. A 10-day stay of execution was granted. However, the attorneys stated that the notice would not necessarily mean that an appeal would be perfected. They said that Mrs. Phillips would be held in the local jail for 10 days and then transferred to San Quentin.

Move Against Private Schools.

By the Associated Press.

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 28.—Petitions to place on the ballots at Michigan's spring election a constitutional amendment that would have the effect of abolishing parochial and private schools, were filed with the Secretary of State here yesterday. The same proposal was defeated by the electors two years ago.

33 PERSONS HURT IN THREE WABASH WRECKS

Three trains of the Wabash Railroad, two passenger and one freight, were derailed at Missouri points yesterday, resulting in the injury of 33 persons, five probably seriously. The wrecks occurred at Millard, Hallville and Rensselaer.

Thirty-one persons were injured, four probably seriously, when Wabash passenger train No. 18, bound from Minneapolis and St. Paul, and due in St. Louis at 2:45 p. m. yesterday, was derailed at Millard, eight miles south of Kirksville. Three coaches and the engine tender left the rails and turned over.

Broken Rail Called Cause.

A broken rail was said to be the cause of the derailment. The train was traveling about 30 miles an hour when the wreck occurred. Most of the injured were taken to Moberly on a relief train and others continued their journey to St. Louis on a special train.

Those reported seriously hurt, all suffering back injuries, are:

L. A. Bowen, Queen City, Mo.
W. Burnstein, Oskaloosa, Ia.
Earl Dey, Holladay, Mo.
J. T. Bowles, Kirksville, Mo.

Those Slightly Injured.

Mrs. C. H. Couch, Shelbina, Mo.; Mrs. J. T. Pitts, Mason City, Ia.; C. R. Yarrington, Ray, Colo.; E. P. Buckner, Wabash baggageman, Moberly; A. McNeal and S. Howell, dining car employes; Mrs. F. Wheeler, Palmyra; J. P. and George Kemp, Palmyra; Roy L. Swearingen, Gorin, Mo.; George Fox, Callao; Jane Knight, Keytesville, Mo.; J. H. Hunt, address not obtained; Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Lincoln, Ill.; R. H. White, Moberly; J. E. Wright, Kirksville; J. M. Hansen and wife, Coatesville, Mo.; W. J. Summers, R. R. Walker and J. T. Howell, Kirksville; T. H. Otterson, Duluth, Minn.; Miss B. Tuttle, Minneapolis; Conductor Tom Wright, Moberly; Brakeman J. W. Delventhall, Moberly; Mrs. Newton Black, Wellsville, Mo., and J. C. Houck, Shelbina, Mo.

A mixed train on the Wabash running between Columbia and Centralia, Mo., was derailed one mile west of Hallville, the locomotive, two freight cars and one passenger coach overturning.

Engineer Seriously Hurt.

William Blackwell, engineer, was seriously injured when the tender crashed into the engine cab. William Marquette, fireman, jumped as the locomotive left the rails and was only slightly hurt. None of the passengers was injured.

Several cars of Wabash freight train No. 96, en route from Moberly to Hannibal, left the rails at Rensselaer, 12 miles from Hannibal. No one was injured.

The cause of the derailment at Hallville and Rensselaer has not been determined.

MAN LOSES SATCHEL BUT GETS ROBBER'S PISTOL IN TUSSLE

Charles F. Merker, proprietor of three drug stores in East St. Louis, has an automatic pistol which he took from a highwayman, who, with a companion, attacked Merker at midnight Saturday, shortly after he alighted from an interurban street car at Granvue drive, on the bluffs east of East St. Louis.

Merker says that when one of the men pointed the pistol at him, he grappled with him, and a rough-and-tumble fight followed, during which Merker obtained the pistol and the highwaymen obtained a small hand satchel which Merker had been carrying. As the men ran away Merker tried to shoot at them, but, being unfamiliar with the weapon, he was unable to fire it.

Merker says he believes the men thought he carried the receipts of his drug business home with him on Saturday nights, making use of the satchel. He said the satchel contained nothing of value, the contents being some articles which he had purchased in East St. Louis. He received several cuts and bruises on the head and face in the fight.

CAPT. VON MUECKE IN CHICAGO FOR LECTURES

Second in Command of Raider Emdem Paints Gloomy Picture of Germany.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Capt. Hellmuth von Muecke, second in command of the German raider Emden and hero of the sailing schooner Ayesha, on which, after the destruction of the Emden, he made an adventurous voyage across the Indian Ocean from Cocos Island to Arabia, arrived in Chicago yesterday. Capt. von Muecke is here in response to an invitation by the Central Committee for Relief of Distress in Germany and Austria, which has taken over the work of the Quakers, whose relief organization left Germany during the summer. Von Muecke will give lectures on his adventures, the proceeds to be used for the feeding of children and the support of war orphans' homes and institutions for blind ex-soldiers.

The lectures in Chicago are to be held under the auspices of the German Federation of Chicago, German Masons and Turners. They are to deal only with the adventures of Capt. von Muecke and his party of 49 men from the Emden after the Emden had been surprised and destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney.

Quiet Spoken and Modest.

The Captain is only 41 years old and is a quiet-spoken, modest man, with the usual reticence of seafaring folk. He is reluctant to talk to interviewers of his adventurous cruise, but was more cordial to interviewers when asked about the Ayesha. It was obvious Von Muecke had a soft spot for this small boat that carried him and his companions across the vast stretches of the Indian Ocean, always on the lookout for a British man-of-war, but bent upon reaching Turkish territory, from where to make his way home.

Capt. von Muecke painted a gloomy picture of conditions in Germany. "Millions will starve to death during the winter," he declared. "It will be much worse than any of the winters during the war. Then we had at least something to eat. Now people in Germany cannot buy anything at all. All the millions of paper money the printing presses turn out are of no avail because there are no supplies on hand. How serious the conditions are is indicated by the recent food riots. In former winters the crisis was usually reached in February, when the winter supplies were exhausted and the spring supplies not yet available. This year, with no supplies on hand, the riots have started in November and nobody can forecast what the winter will bring.

Does Not Blame Government.

When asked whether the Government was in any way to blame for the condition existing now, he replied, "No Government would be able to cope with the situation. Whether headed by Wirth or Cuno, it would make no difference. They do the best they can but cannot furnish food supplies that are not there and cannot be bought abroad with the price of the mark 8000 to the dollar.

"The worst sufferers are the children," continued Capt. von Muecke, who is himself the father of three, who with their American-born mother are in Dresden. "I am able to stand the hunger but a child of 8 or 10 years that never had a decent meal has no power of resistance. For this reason the work the Quakers did for German children cannot be praised enough. We are trying to continue the work the Quakers have done. All the proceeds of my lectures are to be expended for that purpose."

Four to Six Lectures.

Before he landed a representative of the Department of Justice interviewed Capt. von Muecke, he declared, he explained to him his aims, told him he was not going to talk about the war or the raiding exploits of the Emden, and apparently satisfied him, he stated, as no one since has interfered with his movements.

While in Chicago Capt. Von Muecke probably will deliver four to six lectures. He is even considering a lecture in English to convince people that there is nothing objectionable in his talks.

The Central Committee for Relief of Distress in Germany and Austria, which invited Capt. Von Muecke to the United States, is headed by Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's cabinet. The secretary of the committee is Prof. John Walz of Harvard University.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble

Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Big meat eaters can flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like they relieve the bowels, removing all the acids, waste and poison, else they may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad they have rheumatic twinges.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

12-HOUR WORK DAY DENOUNCED BY DAVIS

Labor Secretary Also Against Wages That Enable Labor Only to "Break Even."

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—Wages which enable labor only to "break even" and the 12-hour day, which he said prevails in mines in Nevada, Montana, Arizona and New Mexico, were denounced by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, in an address last night before the local organization of the Loyal Order of Moose. Davis stated that President Harding wishes to reduce the length of the work day in these states where Davis has been studying labor conditions preparatory, he said, to making a report to President Harding.

Davis quoted the President as having said that workers should be paid a sufficient wage to enable them to establish a home; to obviate a struggle for existence, and to make possible putting aside a "nest egg."

President's Views Quoted.

"No manufacturer of good sense operates on a breaking even basis; neither does a great newspaper," Secretary Davis quoted President Harding as saying. "Therefore it is not fair to expect the worker to operate on a breaking even basis."

"Show me a low wage community," Davis asserted, "and I will show you a poor business community. Show me a high wage locality and I will show you a good business community."

Turning to immigration, Secretary Davis said: "There is a great misunderstanding about President Harding's idea of immigration. We really welcome immigration from Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Great Britain and France. Those countries have not exhausted their quotas for the last two years."

Immigration Discussed.

When they have exceeded their quotas, Davis declared, it will be time to consider repealing the 3 per cent immigration law of 1921, the repeal of which, he said, is now sought by certain forces in this country. Davis stated that he has been supervising the drafting of a bill to be presented at the December session of Congress which would require a blood, mental, physical and moral test of all persons who declared their intention to sail for America.

"In this way we can catch the undesirables before they sail," said Davis.

Unsigned Checks Stolen.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—Harry B. Harrison, president of the Harrison Engineering & Construction Corporation, Buffalo, N. Y., reported to the police last night that unsigned checks of his company for $1000 and $5000 had been taken from a box in which he had checked them at the Kansas City Club here yesterday.

WOULD REDUCE COST OF RUNNING STATE

Governor-Elect of Kansas Proposes to Cut Salaries and Consolidate Boards.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 28.—Jonathan M. Davis, Governor-elect of Kansas, outlined before the legislative committee of the Kansas Taxpayers' Organization here yesterday a program of what he will expect of the Legislature next January towards reduction of public expenditures. He declared it was not altogether high tax levies that had provoked popular protest, but high cost of public service. He declared he would consider no comprising on his program, including the following points:

Reduction of salaries 20 per cent for all State employes receiving more than $2000 a year.

Abolition of Industry Court, substituting State control over industrial affairs probably placed with some board or department.

Abolition of Utilities Commission, substituting one commissioner instead of three, and restoring home rule over utilities to cities.

Law requiring State officials and employes to spend eight hours a day in their official work, with reductions for time lost; also prohibiting persons in State service to draw more than one salary, or engage in more than one occupation while serving the State.

Consolidation of boards and commissions dealing with public health and hygiene.

Abolition of State Board of Administration and creation of a regent system with members paid on a per diem basis.

Editor of Farmers' Association Organ Asks Executive Committee to Work for Such a Federal Agency.

WANTS FEDERAL CROP SURPLUS CONTROL

Seeks Also a Tariff to Protect Home-Consumed Products and Annual Government Sale of Surplus.

The Executive Committee of the Missouri State Farmers' Association, meeting today at the Marquette Hotel, has under consideration a proposal to ask the Government to establish a price-fixing commission for farm products.

The plan has been outlined by William Hirth, editor of the Missouri Farmer, official organ of the association, which is published at Columbia.

Outline of Plan.

Hirth proposes the following solution for the farmer's problem:

Organization of a price-fixing commission which will establish prices of farm produce on a scale commensurate with the returns given union labor and the tariff-protected manufacturer.

Control of the annual crop surplus by the Government and the fixing of a tariff sufficiently high to protect the home-consumed produce.

How Plan Would Work.

The plan would work in this way, according to Hirth's explanation. If the price for domestic wheat was fixed at $2 a bushel by the commission a tariff would be placed on imported wheat so that none could be bought at a price lower than $2. Then the commission would take over what surplus remains after domestic needs have been satisfied and sell it abroad at whatever price the world market afforded. Thus, while the price of American wheat in the United States would be $2 it might be $1 or $1.25 a bushel abroad.

Hirth maintains that manufacturing interests and union labor through legislative action and threats of strike violence are holding up their prices to war level while the farmer must sell in a broken after-the-war market. He says the Missouri farmer is in a worse state at present than he has been for years and quotes the statements of farm loan agencies to support the contention.

70,000 in Association.

The Missouri State Farmers' Association has 70,000 members. The association is affiliated with the Farm Union of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa and with the Society of Equity composed of farmers of Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota. United pressure on Congress with the "farm bloc" as leverage is planned.

The members of the Executive Committee are Claude T. Moody, Macon, president; Howard Cowden, Columbia, secretary; A. J. Crawford, Macon County; Charles Ohlendorff, Cooper County; R. T. Pence, Saline County; N. J. Ball, Montgomery County, and E. C. Smuts, Chariton County.

LAW VIOLATOR'S ADDRESS WRONG

Resident at 3900 Westminster Place Doesn't Know Man.

The Post-Dispatch yesterday stated that Joseph Traino, who was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $350 on his plea of guilty of possession of whisky and sale of some to a prohibition agent about a year ago at his home, lived at 3900 Westminster place. Girolamo D. Giusetti, a ladies' dressmaker, said today he had lived at 3900 Westminster place for 20 years and never heard of Traino.

Inquiry at the Federal Building disclosed that Traino's address was given incorrectly as 3900 Westminster place in the information, containing three counts, filed against him Dec. 28, 1921.

OCEAN FARE CUTS EXPLAINED

Reductions Only an Adjustment, Says Paris Steamer Agent.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The representative of a Paris steamship company who attended the North Atlantic conference in Brussels minimizes the importance of the decision taken at the meeting. The reductions in the first and second class passenger rates will amount to only about five per cent or so, he said, and are not intended to stimulate the passenger traffic, but merely to adjust the prices of the various companies.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—While the Brussels meeting of the North Atlantic conference agreed to reduce passenger rates, the shipping companies apparently have not yet got down to details. They have decided to reduce first and second class rates and rates on what are called cabin ships, but they have not yet decided how far the reductions will go. The reductions, however, will be made before the spring tourist traffic begins and will be sufficient to encourage travel, according to a statement made today to the Associated Press by the secretary of the conference.

GIRL, 6, SERIOUSLY BURNED

Annie DeMerino, 6 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick DeMerino, of 1427 North Fourteenth street, was burned seriously on the back and neck yesterday when she overturned a pot of boiling water and beans on the kitchen stove. She was taken to City Hospital.

The mother said the child was playing on a table near the stove and, falling backward, grasped the handle of the pot, upsetting it.

Says Piles Heal Up and Disappear Forever

Seldom Fails to Give Absolute Relief From All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., Keiffer Drug Co., Victor Drug Co. or All Good Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble, and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments marvelous results have been obtained. MOAVA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years, and any sufferer from Piles or Hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

All druggists dispense MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain even if you have to write the Mecca Medicinal Products Co. of Rochester, N. Y., for a 60-cent box, to be rid of piles forever.

See the handsome stream-line Columbia models he has on display. Let the Columbia man explain the ten individual and superior points of merit that make the Columbia the most satisfactory phonograph that money can buy. Then make inquiries about prices. You will be astonished that this instrument, with more improvements than any other worth-while phonograph, can be bought for so little—and, too, the Columbia man will likely tell you of a Community Club purchase plan, by which you can get the instrument of your choice at once and pay for it on "a mutually satisfactory arrangement." Don't wait! Don't say "no"! Go and see! We know you'll love your Columbia.

Wednesday Evening

Concert by Esther H. Bunt, mezzo-soprano; Wilfred Bruns, baritone; Katherine Barker, pianiste; Elmer Powell, accompanist.

Visiting Hours—Special Notice

Because of almost continuous broadcasting during the day, inspection of radio plant must be limited to the period between 3 and 4 p. m., and when special tests are under way in this hour, the transmission room is also closed to visitors. Call at reception room, second floor, Post-Dispatch building.

The opening concert this season of the Apollo Club, which will be given this evening at the Odeon, will be broadcast by Radio Station K S D of the Post-Dispatch. The entire club will take part in the program, which is given elsewhere on this page, and all numbers will be broadcast. The test will be interesting because it will be the initial broadcasting of unaccompanied choral music by any St. Louis station.

The subject of the home was paramount in last night's K S D program. Two addresses dwelt at length on this subject. One of these was given by the noted American artist, Ross Crane, who came to Station K S D through the courtesy of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney firm with which he is now connected. The other was by Harold Hess, secretary of the fire prevention committee of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Declares Need for Homes.

Crane declared that the greatest need in America at the present time was more homes and better homes, that if the American home should go down, America would go down with it. He said that the greatest utterance ever made by England's famous Premier, D'Israeli, was that "The first requisite of citizenship is home ownership."

His subject was "What I Would Do if I Owned a Large City." This, he declared, was forming an institution for establishing a loan fund or a home-building foundation available for any industrious citizen of good character and reputation, which would enable him to buy and build his own home.

"Instead of paying rent," he said, "for which you will have nothing to show, your rent money will pay for your home. Each month you will reduce the amount of your indebtedness both to this home building fund and to your bank or building and loan association. Each month you will cut down the interest charges, and at the end of 10 or 12 years you will have a home of your own to show for your monthly rent expenditure instead of a stack of rent receipts. Our home building fund will be as large as ever, and the community will be richer in citizenship, happiness and actual wealth."

Talk on Heating Homes.

The subject of Hess' talk was "Winter Heating Hazards." In it he gave suggestions as to how to prevent fires in the home due to heating apparatus and suggested ways of installing furnaces of various kinds, stoves and electrical and gas heaters so that danger of fire will be minimized.

Last night's concert was given by Daniel Sheehan, pianist, and Olivia Marting, mezzo soprano. Miss Marting was assisted by Mrs. P. D. Scholknecht as accompanist and a highly interesting and brilliant program was given by these artists. Following the regular program the late dance program of the Hotel Statler orchestra, which took place at the Hotel Statler, was broadcast. This concert formed part of a test made by the Wabash Railroad on its Kansas City train which left St. Louis at 10:30 last night. The rest of the test, which will be reception of voice transmission, will be made on the return trip of this same train, from Kansas City today, using the market reports and news bulletins broadcast every hour by Station K S D.

CHICAGO WELCOME TO CLEMENCEAU COOLED BY MAYOR

VIEWS VISITOR AS A PROPAGANDIST

City's Executive to Speak Tonight in Reply to Former French Premier's Afternoon Address.

By FERDINAND TUOHY,
(Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World, Accompanying M. Clemenceau on His American Tour.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Georges Clemenceau's welcome to Chicago was tepid after Boston. Crowds lined the streets fairly thick and cheers shot up, but there was no music nor flags and the day was a dismal gray. It seemed as if Mayor Thompson's frigidity won over Gen. Pershing's attempt to liven up things by his presence. The arrival at the station was more in the nature of an arrest than a welcome. Stalwart policemen closed in on the Tiger, who, with scarcely a cheer, was escorted from the station. Outside a troop of mounted artillerymen formed around the Tiger's open automobile and we began our progress to the City Hall. The cortege—for it was inclined to be funereal—was lit up by flashlights exploding like bombs as photographer after photographer ran out in front of the Tiger. Still there were cheers now and then and some very charming girls packing the windows from curiosity.

But it was left for Mayor Thompson to make the biggest hit. As we neared the City Hall, Clemenceau first was kept waiting for five full minutes in a Michigan avenue draft. Then he was put into an elevator and whisked upstairs to the Mayor's room.

Thompson's Hand in Pocket.

Mayor Thompson received this man who incarnated the spirit of victory when all seemed lost, one hand in his pocket and that hand continued there throughout. There was no official welcome of any kind, no word of welcome. The impression I gained was that we had interrupted the Mayor at his work. Hand in pocket and in the most casual way, the Mayor introduced Clemenceau to his Aldermen and then, turning to Clemenceau and indicating the rest of the room, said:

"I guess you don't want to meet them all. Gentlemen, your honored guest."

That was all.

As things hung somewhat, the Mayor then dashed in with: "You didn't see much sunshine," to which the "Tiger" replied: "Is not it at your disposal?"

"No, they hold me responsible for everything, but not for the weather," to which Gen. Pershing muttered, sotto voce: "But they have plenty of moonshine here."

His reward was to be invited to pose for a picture with the Mayor and the latter's honored guest. Then we filed out just as if we had dropped in for a few words.

Plans Reply to Clemenceau.

I learned later that the Mayor considers Clemenceau a foreign propagandist and intends replying to him tonight after the Tiger gives his address at the Auditorium in the afternoon.

Driving direct to the Potter Palmer residence, which will be Clemenceau's home till Thursday, the Tiger said a few words to the newspaper men. But he was a wily old Tiger, refusing to be drawn out. He announced he and Chicago were twins and it was yellow 57 years ago, but had turned brown in the interim.

"Will you be glad to see President Wilson?" hazarded a reporter.

"Of course I will," quoth the Tiger.

"But two years ago he said you were a militarist."

"Did he do so? But that is all forgotten. Centuries ago."

Then we got warmer. An agency reporter told the Tiger Senator Hitchcock had been after his scalp again in the Senate. The Senator had read a letter about black troops being still on the Rhine.

"It's all lies, and let Hitchcock go and study that beautiful group at Boston of Col. Shaw with his black soldiers; it may give him something to think about."

Clemenceau's View in Full on Black Troops Question.

As this black troops question seems to be arousing such interest I will give Clemenceau's view in full. First, he says the following can be officially confirmed from Paris—that there are no more African negroes or Senegalese in Germany. There remain Algerians and Annamites.

The Tiger is a keen student of race and it is a source of some wonder to him that Senators should be so insistent in this matter, as he holds France has a racial problem similar in some respects to America's. If colored Frenchmen, who almost outnumber white Frenchmen, were to be branded as unfit to mingle with whites on the Rhine, there might be serious repercussion in the French colonies.

Clemenceau also wonders if his critics are aware Algeria consists of three French provinces as legally French as Touraine and Deputies from Algeria sit in the Paris Chamber. Annamites he considers the racial equal, at least, of Japanese.

Charges Exaggerated, He Says.

He thinks this color scare much ado about nothing and the charges brought about colored French troops grossly exaggerated. A report should be obtained from Gen. Allen. He says colonial troops are billeted throughout France without scandal and he does not see why they should not be quartered in Germany.

Finally he paid the highest tribute to the French colonial corps, saying that without it France could not have held on in the early stages, and in consequence the allies would have lost the war.

"One colored Colonel," he said, "used to make the greatest impression on all of us at the meetings of the Senate War Commission."

The Tiger had a restful trip from Manhattan. A French deputation headed by Consul Leteve tried to arouse him at 4 a. m. at Pittsburg, believing that was the scheduled time for the Tiger's morning eggs and onion soup, but they could get no further than Secretary Lefevre.

Address in Afternoon.

For this afternoon, Clemenceau's text is inscription he saw yesterday above Grant's tomb: "Let us have peace." He also will slow up a trifle—"Be a little neutral," as he quaintly put it. It appears E. M. House is responsible for Clemenceau's change to the soft pedal, the gallant House having to keep an eye on Washington.

Clemenceau declared today that he was listing from official documents in his possession "50 flagrant violations by the Germans of the peace treaty in the matter of war preparations. They were discovered by the Interallied Commission," he said.

Eight Eggs for Supper.

Clemenceau ordered eight soft-boiled eggs for his supper last night and ate them. Before retiring for the night he asked for five more soft boiled eggs for breakfast at 5:30 this morning.

"I am not so very tired," he said, "but I have to keep to my schedule, to bed at 8 and up at 5. I go to bed and get up with the chickens. That is why eggs form my principal diet."

Clemenceau wired to J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Washington, that he "accepts with pleasure" an invitation to address the national convention of the federation at Chicago on Dec. 11. He added that he "appreciated the opportunity of meeting so potent a body of American public opinion."

Some change in his itinerary will be made to permit the acceptance of the invitation.

Clemenceau's subject before the Farm Bureau Federation will be "The Farmer as a World Citizen."

U. S. Trade Delegates Reach Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

The commission expects to tour Mexico, returning to the United States in several weeks.

REFUGEE CHRISTIANS IN ASIA CALLING FOR AID

Thousands, Including Many Orphans, in Danger of Tragic End—Snow Adds to Misery.

By the Associated Press

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 28.—Another tragedy that promises to rival the Smyrna fire is developing in Northern Asia Minor. The tide of a quarter of a million Christian inhabitants is sweeping in full flood to the fringes of the Black Sea and the Mediterranean.

These refugees are clamoring to be saved. The American naval base at Constantinople is deluged with S. O. S. calls from the flotilla of American destroyers patroling the Mediterranean and Black Sea coasts of Asia Minor, which are crowded with Christians fleeing from the Turk. There is a poignant note of despair and tragedy in every message. Appeals from land to "save our soul" are received almost hourly.

Appeals come from every part of Anatolia, where whole Christian communities are migrating and where the American Near East Relief is working heroically to overcome almost insuperable obstacles, including the removal of orphans.

Situation Developing Rapidly.

Cryptic radiographs indicated that a critical situation is developing with surprising suddenness; the whole interior is blanketed with snow, adding immeasureably to the misery of the exiles. A wireless from the destroyer Barry yesterday said:

"Five hundred Christians are arriving at Samsun daily from parts unknown."

"Ten thousand Christians and 2000 orphans trudging through the snow from Sivas are looking to the Americans to save them."

One from the destroyed Lawrence came from Americans at Trebizond, declaring:

"We cannot hold up evacuation of Trebizond orphans much longer. We are overwhelmed by arrivals from the interior. Instruct immediately."

"Not a Ship in Sight for 6000."

The destroyed Overton, stationed at Mersina, received a radiograph from Chrystie Murphy, of New York: "Not a ship in sight for 6000 refugees; where can they go?"

Charles Thurber, of Manchester, N. H., sent a message: "Must have 50,000 Turkish pounds to buy bread for 10,000 destitute orphans and adults crowding Sivas. The situation is becoming worse hourly. Unless additional funds and transportation are provided immediately thousands will perish."

Another message, more cheering, arrived a moment later from the Overton:

"Two thousand Near East Relief orphans are leaving Mersina on the 28th by the steamers Malino and Sumatra; 1000 orphans from Adana leave by the steamship Sardinia on the 29th."

"The evacuation of Konia orphans was completed Nov. 20 but more are on the way."

TURKS DECLARE ABSOLUTE PROHIBITION IN ADRIANOPLE

Kemalists' Dinner in Honor of Restortation of Turkish Sovereignty Is Thoroughly Dry.

By the Associated Press.

ADRIANOPLE, Nov. 28.—The establishment of absolute prohibition was the first step of the Turks upon their entry into this city last Friday.

The measure, promulgated soon after the arrival of Gen. Tahir Bey, the new Governor, impressed the population rather disagreeably, but, inasmuch as it had been anticipated, all liquor had disappeared from the shops and restaurants shortly before the Kemalists came.

The dinner in honor of the restoration of Turkish sovereignty was a thoroughly dry affair. One hundred and fifty covers were set. Various dishes were labeled with patriotic names. A vast crowd of veiled Turkish women thronged out of the city to greet the Kemalists, shouting "Long Live Kemal!"

Fifteen triumphal arches were erected along the route of the Turks, bearing such inscriptions as "The Turk Seizes His Rights by His Own Strength."

Calves and goats, decked with flowers, were slaughtered before each arch as sacrifices of thanks to Allah. As the Turks entered the city, ancient religious canticles were chanted from the tops of minarets and mosques and in the evening the women, contrary to all customs, promenaded until a late hour through the brilliantly illuminated streets.

ALBERT BOND LAMBERT MAILS COPIES OF BOND ISSUE PROTEST

He Contends Proposed Action Would Increase Taxes Permanently and Impede Annexation.

Albert Bond Lambert, chemical manufacturer and formerly a member of City Council, has mailed several hundred printed copies of his recent argument against the proposed municipal bond issue. With them he has sent slips asking for subscriptions to finance the wider distribution of his argument in its printed form.

As was told recently, Lambert bases his opposition on the cost of the entire project, not on the individual items, some of which he considers meritorious. He argues that the bond issue will mean a permanent increase in taxation and the cost of municipal operation, and that this tax increase will serve to impede the needed expansion of the city's boundaries by annexation. He holds that annexation first should be brought about, and that the city's terminal and traffic problems should be assured of solution, and that it then would be time to consider the needs of the enlarged city and to plan a bond issue.

CUMMINS ABANDONS PLANS FOR RAILROAD LEGISLATION

Senate Interstate Commerce Chairman Does Not Expect to Obtain Rulings This Winter.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Chairman Cummins of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee said today he had abandoned plans for railroad legislation this winter and would not introduce his proposed bill for amendment of the Esch-Cummins transportation act until the next Congress.

SIX VITAL CHANGES MADE IN SUBSIDY MEASURE BY HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Opponents of the administration shipping bill, which is nearing a final vote in the House, centered their attack at the outset of today's session on the provision creating a merchant marine fund for payment of direct Government aid to American ship owners.

Representative Davis, Tennessee, a Democratic member of the Merchant Marine Committee, offered an amendment to eliminate the entire section, and the House immediately plunged into debate with speakers limited to five minutes each.

Amendment Voted Down.

The Davis amendment finally was voted down, 132 to 93. The House adopted, however, an amendment by Chairman Madden of the Appropriations Committee, seconded by Representative Mondell, Wyoming, Republican floor leader, reserving to Congress the right to appropriate annually the money to be expended from the merchant marine fund.

An amendment by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, modified on motion of Representative Edmonds, and adopted, 56 to 31, provides that American ships shall lose Government aid when carrying liquor.

After a brief discussion the House adopted an amendment by Edmonds, providing that no Government aid should be given to American industrial concerns, such as the Standard Oil Co., for the operation of ships carrying their own products.

The bill as it stands has been amended in six more or less vital particulars as the result of the first day of reading for amendments yesterday.

Regarded as the most important of the amendments adopted was that cutting out bodily the provision under which shippers in American vessels would receive an income tax rebate amounting to 5 per cent of the transportation paid. Others adopted eliminated the section permitting sale of ships by the Shipping Board without advertising or competitive bidding; increased from 2 per cent to 4¼ per cent the minimum interest on loans from the revolving fund for ship construction and provided that the steamship Leviathan, the biggest of the Government fleet, should not be sold for less than the cost of her reconditioning, placed at $8,166,000.

Beside the amendments adopted, announcement was made by Representative Edmonds, Pennsylvania, ranking Republican member of the Merchant Marine Committee, which framed the bill, that he would offer an amendment striking out the provision under which concerns, such as the Standard Oil Co., transporting their own goods in their ships, would share in the Government subsidy.

Republicans Aid Amendments.

Thirty-seven shots in the shape of amendments were fired at the bill in the House yesterday. At adjournment last night, the bill had covered exactly one-third of its tempestuous voyage toward the Senate. Representative Graham of Illinois, a Republican, went home with three of the half-dozen successful amendments in his shooting bag, all of which were put through with the aid of Republican votes.

Rated as the most important amendment to stand up was the Graham proposal which cut out of the bill the provision under which shippers, sending their goods abroad in American vessels, would receive a 5 per cent income tax rebate, which in some instances, it was charged in the House, would have enabled shippers to escape all payments. It was adopted by a vote of 56 to 47 after it had been characterized by Graham as "vicious and extremely dangerous."

Stepping in unexpectedly, Representative Oliver, Democrat, Alabama, presented the amendment, acceptance of which virtually fixed an upset price for the sale of the steamship Leviathan. First declared defeated, the Oliver proposal won, 81 to 78, by a man to man count as members marched down the aisle.

The fight to riddle the bill was begun five minutes after the actual reading started. On his feet first, Graham put forward the amendment to strike out a section permitting the Shipping Board to sell ships without advertisement or competitive sale. Declaring that the worst scandal in the Government reached into the sale of vast surplus stocks "by negotiated sale," Graham called upon Republicans to take the section and throw it out.

Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the Republican leader, asserted that while he saw no reason why it should not remain, he was not opposed to its elimination. Edmonds also took this view. A dozen members were eager to discuss it, but a vote was demanded and the motion was adopted almost unanimously.

The other Graham amendent increased the rate of interest on unpaid balances for ships bought from the Government from not less than 4 per cent to not less than 4¼ per cent. Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, sought to make it 6 per cent flat, but failed. An amendment by Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, that no Government employe should be represented financially in the purchase of Government ships was passed with little opposition.

Out of many offered, Representative Davis, Democratic member of the Merchant Marine Committee, got through the amendment providing that prospective ship constructors, borrowing from the Shipping Board revolving fund, should pay not less than 4¾ per cent interest, instead of 2 per cent, stipulated in the bill.

Touching briefly upon the plan to eliminate the section dealing with subsidy for industrial ships, Edmonds said he was preparing an amendment to protect industrial ships.

"It will take industrial ships, like those of the Standard Oil Co.," he said, "away from being the recipients of any subsidy. This matter was taken up with five or six Republicans in the committee which drew the bill and we fought two days over it. He considered it was absolutely vital for our war purposes that we should have those ships. However, it seems to be the sentiment of the House that we are not going to have any more wars and that we do not need the ships. So that section will come out."

The provision in the bill stipulating that one-half of the total number of immigrants admitted to the United States should be brought over in American ships was attacked, but it remained unchanged.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 28.—Immediate and favorable action by Congress on the administration shipping bill was urged in a resolution unanimously adopted by the Middle-West Merchant Marine Committee, composed of representatives of commercial organizations from 90 large cities in 19 states at the closing session of its meeting here last night. Favorable action was necessary, according to the resolution, to protect the economic interests of the Middle West and to aid in developing the country's foreign markets.

AN IMPRESSIVE LIST OF VICTORIES CLAIMED FOR ORGANIZED LABOR IN RESULTS OF THE RECENT ELECTIONS

Success of 158 Congressmen, 24 Senators Due Either to Support Given Them by the Labor Campaign Committee or Opposition to Their Opponents, Report of Activities States.

In Missouri the Organization Claims to Have Influenced the Election of 11 of 16 Members of Lower House, All Democrats—No Reference Made to the Senatorial Campaign in Missouri.

BY CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—An impressive list of victories for organized labor in the recent elections is claimed in a report of the American Federation of Labor's "National Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee," made public by the federation today.

The election of 158 Congressmen, it is asserted, was due either to support given them by the labor Campaign Committee or to its opposition to their opponents. Ninety-seven of these Congressmen are Democrats, 57 Republicans, one an independent and one a Farmer-Laborite. In the list are 11 of the 16 elected in Missouri—M. A. Romjue, Ralph Lozier, Jacob L. Milligan, Henry L. Jost, C. C. Dickinson, Samel C. Major, Clarence Cannon, Harry B. Hawes, J. Scott Wolff, James F. Fulbright and Thomas L. Rubey. All are Democrats.

There is no reference in the report to the Missouri senatorial campaign.

Backed 24 Successful Senators.

Eleven senatorial candidates opposed by labor, all Republicans except Pomerene, were defeated. These were Du Pont, Delaware; Beveridge, Indiana; Townsend, Michigan; Kellogg, Minnesota; Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; Calder, New York; McCumber, North Dakota (defeated in the primary); Pomerene, Ohio; Poindexter, Washington; Sutherland, West Virginia, and Mondell, Wyoming.

Choice Difficult in Iowa.

In the Iowa Republican primary campaign the committee found the choice difficult between Brookhart and Representative Sweet, also regarded as a stanch friend of labor, but decided in favor of Brookhart because of the showing he had made against Senator Cummins in 1920. Sweet was called into conference and urged to withdraw. He refused, but promised to support Brookhart if the latter should win in the primary.

The committee in its report cites its course in Iowa as representative of its general activity in conferring with candidates in order to promote labor's interests.

Concerning other campaign efforts and their results, the report says:

"Organizers were sent into North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, California, Idaho, Washington and Pennsylvania. Special circulars were sent into Nevada in the interest of Senator Pittman, to Wyoming in the interest of Senator Kendrick, to Minnesota in opposition to Senator Kellogg, to Wisconsin in favor of Senator La Follette, to New York State for the purpose of organizing nonpartisan political campaign committees to oppose Gov. Miller, Senator Calder and other antagonists of labor.

Publicity Very Helpful.

"The publicity department of the American Federation of Labor was very helpful in spreading broadcast the principles of labor and in acquainting the voters with the issues at stake. Never in the history of the nonpartisan movement has there been such activity among central bodies, local unions and individual members.

"Applications by unions and individuals for legislative records of members of Congress on measures of interest to labor were received in great number and promptly complied with.

"President Gompers made a number of addresses. Statements for the press on political and labor questions were frequently written by him and received wide publicity.

"The committee believes that through labor's influence many victories were won. It was feared that the interjection of third-party candidates in Minnesota and Washington would defeat the hopes of labor. In Minnesota labor supported Mr. Shipstead, independent candidate for Senator. Although the Democrats had a candidate, Mr. Shipstead was successful over Senator Kellogg. We held a number of conferences and wrote many letters to Minnesota labor officials in an endeavor to have the situation cleared in that State by the withdrawal of the Democratic candidate. The surprising feature of the Minnesota situation is that the leaders of the Democratic organization desired the withdrawal of the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Situation in Washington.

"In Washington James A. Duncan was nominated. President Gompers in a letter to Mr. Duncan, the labor candidate, informed him that his candidacy was apt to draw enough votes away from Mr. Dill, the Democratic candidate, to permit the election of Mr. Poindexter and suggested that Mr. Duncan withdraw. He refused to do so. The vote given Mr. Duncan, however, was not large enough to re-elect Senator Poindexter. The committee believes that no individual member of the labor movement should allow himself to be forced into a political contest which would result in the election of a bitter and relentless antagonist to labor.

"The result in Kansas was a victory for labor. Governor Allen's candidate for Governor was defeated by a bitter opponent of the Court of Industrial Relations Act.

"The election of G. W. P. Hunt as Governor of Arizona was also a victory for labor. By letters and telegrams we were very helpful in the election of Mr. Hunt. The election of Mr. Smith as Governor of New York was heartily supported by the National Non-Partisan Political Campaign. The elections of J. J. Blaine for Governor of Wisconsin, A. Victor Donahey for Governor of Ohio, Fred H. Brown for Governor of New Hampshire, William H. Flynn for Governor of Rhode Island, William E. Sweet for Governor of Colorado and J. J. Scrugham for Governor of Nevada were also the result of labor's activities.

Claim as to New York.

"At a meeting of the New York State Federation of Labor President Gompers mentioned former Governor Smith as the next Governor of New York. The sentiment expressed in that convention set the State aflame for Smith. The enormous majority he received demonstrates conclusively that he had the solid support of labor and the forward-looking citizenship.

"The election of J. C. Walton as Governor of Oklahoma was another victory for the wage-earners. They had joined with the farmers and made an excellent campaign for the progressive candidate for Governor. The re-election of Gov. Blaine in Wisconsin was the result of his progressive administration. He was heartily supported by labor.

"The committee was very active in the primary campaign which resulted in the defeat of a number of anti-labor members of Congress. Among them were Senators New and McCumber and Representative Campbell and Copley.

"Much attention was given to the determination of the politicians to destroy the direct primary system in some of the states. Organizers were sent into Idaho to help in defeating a plan to destroy the direct primary. This question was called to the attention of the labor organizations in all states. President Gompers also wrote a letter to Senator Borah which was used in the campaign.

Value of Direct Primary.

"It is now said the abolishment of the direct primaries for state officials helped to defeat both Gov. Miller and Senator Calder, and helped in the election of Gov. Smith and Dr. Copeland. The people are aroused in the primaries and have more interest in the election.

"Early in the year the Publicity Bureau of the national Republican party began criticising the American Federation of Labor and labor generally. Undoubtedly it was believed that the propaganda spread against labor since the armistice had been so effective that any attack on labor would discredit those whom labor supported. Instead, the propaganda aroused the wage-earners to the dangers of re-electing the present members of Congress."

Report Shows Labor Waged Intensive Campaign for Its Friends and Against Enemies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.

THE report of the Nonpartisan Committee throws light on the highly organized and intensive character of the campaign waged by labor for its friends and against its enemies. Circular letters were sent broadcast to labor organizations urging them to fight "reactionary forces that were guilding legislation;" conferences were held to bring about co-operation with farmers' organizations; the individual records of all the members of the House and Senate were compiled and sent to all central labor bodies and nearly 40,000 local unions.

Labor announced as fundamental that no candidate should be supported who would not pledge himself to vote against "any form of compulsory labor law," to oppose the use of injunctions and contempt proceedings in lieu of trial by jury, and to vote for legislation abolishing child labor.

"During the campaign," the report says, "the committee was repeatedly asked by the farmers if certain candidates for Congress were acceptable to labor, as they did not wish to indorse anyone unfriendly to labor or oppose those friendly to labor. A remarkable feature of this questioning as to legislative records showed that in every instance the farmers were supporting or were willing to support the same candidates as labor. The committee feels that this co-operation will continue to a greater extent in the future."

UNANIMOUS CONFIDENCE VOTE FOR PREMIER BY ITALIAN SENATE

Mussolini Declares He Has No Fetishes, Not Even Fetish of Liberty.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Nov. 28.—The Senate last evening gave a unanimous vote of confidence to the Cabinet of Benito Mussolini. The vote gives the Government full powers for bureaucratic and fiscal reform until June 30, 1923. The Chamber of Deputies on Saturday passed a similar measure.

Mussolini declared that all personal freedom in Italy would be respected, but "40 scoundrels will never be allowed to ruin the happiness of 40,000,0000 citizens." The Premier announced that he intended to retain the portfolio of Foreign Minister.

Mussolini said he had no fetishes, not even the fetish of liberty. "People forget that liberty is a duty and not a right. I proclaim myself the prince of reaction. But I will not follow an anti-proletariat policy. I will not oppress the proletariat, but will elevate them materially and spiritually, not because their number entitles them to special rights. No great nation can be created when workmen are obliged to suffer from a low standard of living."

One Is That Levy Is Not Discriminatory and Other That It Does Not Affect Interstate Commerce.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—States may impose a tax upon products produced within their borders before they enter interstate commerce, even though other states are large consumers of such products and do not produce them, the United States Supreme Court held yesterday.

The decision was handed down in a case challenging the constitutionality of the tax imposed by Pennsylvania upon anthracite coal, and was rendered by Justice McKenna, no dissents being noted.

The importance of the decision was emphasized by New York, New Jersey, Delaware and the New England states denouncing the tax as giving Pennsylvania a monopoly and as levying tribute upon those states which do not produce but must have anthracite as fuel.

Two Questions Presented.

Two questions were presented, one whether Pennsylvania, in taxing anthracite and not bituminous coal, had not discriminated illegally in its classification, and the other whether it was not a tax upon interstate commerce. It was contended by those opposing the tax that, if sustained by the Supreme Court, wheat and corn-producing states could tax such grains, the Southern states cotton, and manufacturing states could impose a tax on manufactured products. The tax in question, while comparatively a new method among states for raising revenue, apparently is growing in popularity, and there is now pending in the Supreme Court a case involving an attack upon the tax imposed by Minnesota upon iron ore mined within its borders.

The Pennsylvania case was brought by Roland C. Heisler against the Thomas Collieries Co. and others and officers of the State. The law which was attacked was passed in 1921, and sustained by the State courts after two laws, previously passed, and substantially the same in all essential features, had been declared by those courts unconstitutional.

Classification Upheld.

Regarding the contention that anthracite and bituminous coal are fuels and necessarily, therefore, must be associated in the same class for taxation, and that not so to associate them was arbitrary and unreasonable, creating inequality which rendered the tax invalid, Justice McKenna, after describing the respective uses of the two fuels, declared that "it is competent for a State to exempt certain kinds of property and tax others, the restraints upon it only being against clear and hostile discriminations against particular persons and classes.' Discriminations merely are not inhibited, for it was recognized that there are 'discriminations which the best interests of society require.'"

The differences between anthracite and bituminous coal, the court found to be so great as to be "a just basis for their different classifications."

Whether any State law or action impinges upon interstate commerce, Justice McKenna declared, "depends upon the law or action and not upon what may be said as to the motive for it."

"The action of the states as a regulation of interstate commerce does not depend on the degree of interference; it is illegal in any degree."

When Goods Enter Interstate Commerce.

The court discussed at length the question whether the products of a state that have, or are destined to have a market in other states are subjects of interstate commerce, though they have not moved from the place of their production or preparation. If the possibility or certainty that an article produced in one state was destined for markets in another determined it to be in interstate commerce before the beginning of its movement from the state, the court said, it would seem to follow that it is in such commerce from the instant of its growth or production, and in the case of coals, as they lie in the ground. Such a ruling would, the Court added, nationalize all industries.

There comes a time when goods cease to be under the power of the state, and come under Federal jurisdiction, the Court added, and that moment was described as being reached when they begin their final movement for transportation from the state of their origin to that of their destination.

The Police "Klan."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

RECENTLY a letter appeared in these columns regarding the methods used by the so-called police night riders who, as I understand, are duly authorized to carry on their lawless attacks upon our citizens. More recently a friend of mine, who unfortunately is among the thousands of unemployed, was assailed as he was about to enter his home. It was later learned that he had been mistaken for someone else who was being sought on a certain charge. From what I can learn there is no similarity of appearance in the man sought with the one assailed.

Of course, there was only about four of these armed and unintelligent so-called officials of the law versus one innocent and temporarily defenseless citizen, therefore it was proper, according to modern police etiquette, to call him names which reflected upon his parents' moral character, his own, and everyone belonging to him, and further threatening him with arrest and fisticuff methods.

Everyone knows the police cannot treat suspects with methods used in welcoming a distinguished visitor to our city, but everyone except the police realizes that giving unintelligent persons authority supported by a gun and a star does not authorize them to treat everyone they might choose with methods used by pirates. Coercion does nothing toward teaching respect for law and authority. A real American cannot be coerced. It is time that this city rids its police force of men low in character and morals, and secures for it citizens with reason and understanding. To such an end should citizens protest against the "unmasked klan."

"American Miners Barred."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

DOES the enclosed clipping from last night's front page show "the American Plan" stripped for action?

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Employment agencies on the Hudson water front today displayed signs advertising jobs for 1000 miners in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania, where, during the recent strike, thousands of men were idle. Americans, the signs say, are ineligible, Russians, Poles, Maygars and Scandinavians being preferred.

Despite the fact the wages were quoted at from $5 to $8 a day, applicants were scarce, agents said.

Is this what our own civic organization had in mind, and didn't have the brass to say so? Beg to suggest that the G. O. P. change their moniker to read G. A. P. (Grand American Plan).

WHITE MAN.

"Home" or "Shop"?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

READING your editorial of today, "When the Law Is Foolish," I should like to know which is which. Judge Faris ruled that a place "where manufacturing is conducted is a shop." Is that the law? Suppose Judge Faris ruled that a distillery with a bedroom suite is a home, would that be the law? If that is the case, then we have as many laws as there are Judges. And it looks like it, but I always thought that a decision of a Judge of lower courts did not mean much, as to real expression of the law.

Your editorial mixes me up. If I am wrong and it may be, then for safety's sake I shall not, when I drop my 7 cents in the box of the U. R., say: "I go home," but, "I go to the shop." I have a bunch of children and my wife manufactures socks and stockings, shirts, pants, dresses, etc., and I have a shoemaker's outfit and hammer in the evening with all my might at the shoes of the children and my own. I have then, according to the law, a "shop"—no home any more. And that in the land of the free, the home of the brave.

PETIT SATIRICUS.

Sounds Reasonable.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"The Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States made it necessary for me to retire, after having spent 18 years of my life in the saloon business, for the simple reason that I refused to sell liquor unlawfully. Going out of business as I have, has left me with 13 barrels of whisky in bonded warehouses, which, as you are aware, are under Government lock and key.

I am now 74 years of age, with practically no income, and I cannot dispose of this whisky to any one except druggists, and they want it for less than the cost of making, and also I am unable to pay the enormous charges for storage, insurance, etc. I now request the Government to either pay me the cost of this whisky, which amounts to over $1300, or confiscate the goods, so I will know where I stand. I think this a reasonable request and a just debt, that the United States Government cannot consistently refuse to settle for."

LAMBERT'S FALSE APPEAL.

Public improvements cost money and money must be obtained by taxation; therefore, do not vote for public improvements—that is the burden of Albert B. Lambert's appeal to the voters to vote down the bond issue to be submitted to the people next February. It is the old, stale, nonprogressive argument which has been used against every effort of St. Louis to go forward.

Mr. Lambert is a business man. If he found that his business could not grow, but, on the contrary, would diminish and become more costly in proportion to the diminishing volume of business he could do, would he oppose extending and improving his plant because the extension would cost money? Would he let his business stagnate to avoid investing money in a better plant?

This is the condition of St. Louis. The city will stagnate and go backward if citizens do not vote sufficient money to extend, widen and improve traffic thoroughfares, repair and build sewers, enlarge and improve hospitals and provide for other necessary and highly desirable improvements.

Mr. Lambert says the two things St. Louis needs most are terminals and annexation of new territory.

If he were not writing in utter ignorance of the situation he would know that representatives of the city and the railroads are now working on an extensive plan to improve the terminals and the railroad outlets, including urban and interurban facilities, and that these proposed improvements have no connection with the question of a bond issue. The cost will not fall upon the city but upon the railways.

So far as annexation is concerned, it is true that St. Louis needs an extended area and the populated area outside of the city limits needs city connections and facilities. But why talk of enlarging the city when the city's facilities—its municipal plant—is not adequate for the population and area we now have?

We say, without fear of intelligent contradiction, that the bond issue will save money for St. Louis. It will not be an extravagant expenditure, but a profitable investment. It is estimated that the bond issue—$12,000,000 is to provide for necessary waterworks extensions, to be paid for out of the water revenues—will add less than 10 cents to the tax rates. If the bond issue fails it will be necessary to add more to the tax rate to raise revenue to do the actual necessary repair and improvement work out of the current revenues. The cost will be covered annually instead of over a term of years.

Before accepting his appeal against the bond issue the taxpayers should ask Mr. Lambert these questions:

How do you propose that the failing and inadequate sewers be repaired and extended without a bond issue? Do you propose additional annual taxes to meet the cost of protecting the public health? Would you let the health and comfort and property of the people be endangered or destroyed to save money?

We suggest the same questions be applied to the streets. How does Mr. Lambert propose to provide the necessary streets and thoroughfares and repair the present streets to accommodate increasing traffic?

How does he propose to provide additional accommodations and facilities in the overcrowded hospitals and other public institutions, where conditions are now inhuman?

How does he propose to avert the menace of floods and disease in the River des Peres, which impairs the value of our great park and of districts which might be utilized to advantage and profit?

How does he propose to provide needed municipal buildings for city business and public convenience?

How does he propose that St. Louis shall keep pace with other cities in municipal facilities, health, comfort, convenience and attractiveness?

Shall we stew in our backwardness and niggardliness until the city is out of the running?

Mr. Lambert's argument lacks judgment and foresight, knowledge and sound reasoning. He pleads for unsound municipal policy and false economy.

THE PILOTLESS PLANE PROGRESSES.

Recent experiments in the United States with the pilotless airplane have been successful enough to arouse enthusiasm as to the future of this extraordinary branch of aeronautics, but France, it seems, has made even further progress. The Post-Dispatch Monday reported a demonstration at Etampes, conducted by three scientists in aviation, which comes close to being a perfect performance. The plane, directed by a keyboard similar to that of a piano, could hardly have behaved more obediently had a master pilot been at the wheel.

The Hertzian waves, it is explained, was the means of communication. It is explained further that efforts along this line had failed so consistently and over such a long period that they had been abandoned. By what new application the striking success was achieved is not stated, though the information, presumably, will presently be given out. For the time being, however, the fact of such a flight is sufficient to capture popular imagination.

As a candidate for next year's meet of the National Aeronautical Association and Pulitzer trophy race St. Louis is peculiarly interested in aerial developments of every character. Every advance in this fascinating field of endeavor will add to the interest and variety of the 1923 races and convention. Whatever the program offers, it is difficult to imagine a more marvelous feat than the sight of an airplane going forth on its own, so to speak, induging in the frills that thrill, and finally returning to a designated landing, all at the instance of invisible fingers running lightly over a keyboard.

St. Louis must not lag in pressing its claims for this great event.

FOREIGN POLICIES AND OIL.

"The open door" is a phrase which has a free, frank sound, but may mean many things. When Ambassador Child told the Lausanne conference that America stood for "the open-door" policy in Turkey, European diplomats smiled cynically behind their hands. After two years' acquaintance with the Hughes foreign policy, they understood the phrase to mean one specific thing; namely, an "even break" for American petroleum interests in the matter of grabbing concessions in the Mosul oil fields.

When Woodrow Wilson spoke for America in the councils of the world, Europe and Asia knew that America stood, among other things, for the freedom of small nationalities from economic exploitation by their more powerful neighbors. They knew it stood for open diplomacy, where the fate of communities depended on exact justice, as against secret caucuses where spheres of influence and material concessions would be apportioned among the strong.

It is quite likely that European diplomacy likes the Hughes way better. Petroleum seems to be the reigning consideration in European councils at this time. With such merely academic questions as national rights and economic justice shoved into the background, it should be a congenial task for businesslike gentlemen, who know what they want, to get together behind closed doors and agree on an open-door policy that will be mutually satisfactory.

From the very first the Hughes foreign policy has manifested a tender concern for the rights of American oil companies abroad. This has been apparent in our dealings with Mexico, and again in the notes on the Dutch and Mesopotamian concessions. But we do not believe now, and never have believed, that the American people care more for the protection of Standard Oil interests than for the rights of helpless and dependent peoples, regardless of the official policy of those who temporarily represent them. Oil rights come after human rights—a long way after.

PACKING THE SUPREME COURT.

President Harding has taken a particularly insidious advantage of the liberal sentiment of the nation in nominating Pierce Butler for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Under an appearance of gallant nonpartisanism he has named a Democrat, though in this he is merely following a precedent, the object of which is to preserve a semblance of bipartisanism in the court. Thereby he retains regular party support of both parties for confirmation in the Senate, while only a few scattered liberals and radicals in the aristocratic social club of the upper chamber remain to challenge a nominee whose history and reputation indicate no friendship with the cause of the people.

Senators Nelson and Kellogg both recommended the new appointee. Both are Republicans of the old guard. The former has kept his seat in the Senate with losing strength largely by the appeal of his nationality. Kellogg was defeated by a farmer-labor radical in the late election by a decisive majority, contrary to the accepted predictions. The sentiment of Minnesota, a Roosevelt State, which missed going Democratic in 1916 by only a few hundred votes, is decidedly averse to the old guard. The City Council of Minneapolis, by a vote of 16 to 6, five not voting, has made formal protest against the Butler nomination.

An administration that would flout so obvious a manifestation of local sentiment is inviting a whirlwind. A Republican appointee of the Butler brand would have little chance of confirmation in the new Senate, for the Democrats and progressive Republicans would combine against him. In the present case the body of Democratic opposition is lost. The way lies open to the President to pack the highest court of the land with another man whose training has been within corporation doors.

The administration, by this appointment, is delivering a blow at its own side. But the retaliation of the people will be futile. Butler on the bench is there to stay as long as he lives or until he quits of his own will.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: I was glad to see you young men in the audience last night when the Alcestis of Euripides was read. This play was written some 500 years before Christ, but it is something all husbands ought to see even now. I was sorry we could not have had more husbands out.

Glaucon: It is your opinion that the playwright had them in mind.

Socrates: I dare say. Alcestis died for her husband, and in so doing she symbolized the sacrifice which wives always have made for their husbands. It was when Alcestis was dead that her husband realized what a wife she had been. The poet no doubt observed the habit of husbands, which is to appreciate tardily the sacrifice of the wife. He therefore decided to make this the theme of a play, which he has done. You know plays have powerfully pointed morals.

Glaucon: Jove, yes!

Socrates: It is likely that in the more than 2000 years since this play was written millions of husbands have gone home from the performances heartily ashamed of themselves.

Polemarchus: Gads, yes! I know I went home with my wife last night in a complete state of repentance.

Socrates: Of course you did. Xantippe cares only for the movies and vaudeville. Nevertheless, she is a good wife. My heart was very tender toward her when I went home last night. We can suspect that at the time this play was written the estate of the wife was very low. Once in a while a club woman comes around and tells us that until the last few years women have been nothing but the drudges and slaves of men, but that lacks a good deal of being true. Women have always been pretty much what they are now, and there has usually been somebody to attend to it when their estate needed mending. We have the proof of this in the play last night. Doubtless husbands had fallen into neglect of their wives, and the poet undertook to rouse them to an appreciation of what wives are to them.

Thrasymachus: He did a good job of it if that was the case.

Socrates: Didn't he? When Admetus found that his wife was dead, he refused to be comforted. He grieved as well that he had been too cowardly to die himself as he did for loss of her whose unselfishness revealed to him his selfishness. Greek mythology offered the poet an excellent medium for conveying such a moral. The gods could reclaim Alcestis from death, which was what they did do. They did not want to deprive her husband of her. They merely wanted him to understand. He did understand when they brought her back. She was not quite the same, he thought. No, said the god, she has been wtih the dead. As a matter of fact, it was Admetus who was not the same. He had learned something, and nothing changes us like learning.

Polemarchus: Of course, I heard the play in much better conscience than all of you could. I have no wife.

Socrates: You were for the time being most fortunate. However, you, no doubt, will have a wife some day. Then you will need to see the play by Euripides and have your own selfishness contrasted to your wife's unselfishness.

Polemarchus: It is likely, I think.

Socrates: I think so. Now let us buy a paper and see what has broken loose now in the thoughtless world.

ROCOCO.

MY heart is like a formal garden
Fallen into the gray desuetude of neglect;
Wild nature has come laying siege to it,
Breaking through the crisp walls of privet,
Blurring the sharp outlines of flower beds,
And stippling the brown freshness of gravel walks
With green of staunch meadow grasses,
Nature has come with her untamed vassals
Into the formal garden of my heart
And laid fief to her demesne.

See how the green-and-black frogs
Are splashing merrily in the little pool
That was an aquamarine of clear crystal depths!
How the sparrows are chattering noisily
On the benches of carved white stone!
Have dispersed proud hyacinth and nancissus!

Once the cicadas droned in the blue ilex trees,
But today an insolent green grasshopper
Is chirping away the drowsy sunny afternoon
Esconced on the filigreed tip of a sun-dial

From the Omaha Bee.

A NEW era of internal improvement may follow the election of a Congress in which the Middle West holds the balance of power. Foremost of all is the need for cheaper and more adequate transportation. A cut in railroad rates is desirable, but this in itself would do nothing to diminish the perennial car shortage. Highway building and the development of motor truck traffic will of course be encouraged, but it is possible also that the Federal Government will move to bring the waterways into service. The project for the Great Lakes route to the sea has been held up by Canadian hesitation, but there are many other waterways wholly within the United States that are large enough to carry immense tonnages of freight. One of them runs right by Omaha. Opening of the Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio rivers to furnish competition with the railroads and give Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis and St. Paul an outlet at cheap rates to the east and south is to be proposed in the next Congress in a bill asking a billion-dollar bond issue for the purpose. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri has announced that he will father this measure. The bill, Senator Reed says, will provide for electric power dams, canals and other improvements, furnishing at once a new source of power and new shipping routes. The Missouri River would be improved as far up as Omaha, and the present work on the Ohio would be continued. Discussion of the Great Lakes project brought forcibly to the Middle West the fact that some method of moving heavy freight is needed to supplement the land lines. Congestion is almost as great a handicap as high freight rates. Barge lines now operating on the lower Mississippi and the Ohio serve to point the way toward a general program of internal improvement. Some definite national program for the utilization of America's great streams is imperative. The problem first of all is an engineering one, but the place to initiate the work is in Congress.

"THE TOWN PUMP PARTY."

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE "town pump party" in Philadelphia is opposed to a sesquicentennial celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in the form of a world's fair. James M. Beck, Solicitor-General of the United States, formerly of Philadelphia, applied that withering phrase to the obstructionists in a recent speech before a mass-meeting of sesquicentennialers of the world's fair variety. He took as his text the efforts of Latrobe, the engineer, to convince the good people of early Philadelphia that he could pump water to them by engine power, thus dispensing with the town pump. "But they would not have it so," he cried. "Now today there are two classes of objectors to great movements in Philadelphia. One I will call the conscientious objectors. The other I will call the 'town pump party.' This party is reminiscent of the objectors to the steam pump. Since the beginning of the city the 'town pump party' has consistently retarded the growth of the municipality. Franklin earned the enmity of the 'town pump party,' yet no city ever held a more useful citizen. I say to you Philadelphians that were it not for the 'town pump party' this city would be the London of the Western Hemisphere, with New York its Liverpool. The town pump party element, including some influential bankers, did not want the capital here, and the Pennsylvania delegation persuaded Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton to locate it on a swamp near the Potomac. Now Philadelphia has come to the parting of the ways. It is either going to take a great step forward or a distinct step backward. It is for you to decide whether or not the 'town pump party' is to [illegible]

It Seems to Me

NEW YORK—Some years ago Roda remarked, "There is a renaissance in art now going on in America, but the American people are completely unaware of it." That [illegible] is still going on and by now America has begun to realize it. But there isn't any rejoicing. On the contrary, everybody is frightened. Most Americans would be embarrassed hideously if it ever got out that art in America is alive and important. Only the other day we ran into a critic of painting who said with blanched face and shaking voice, "This town is just full of talent. It's terrible."

And curiously enough this is not a modest Nation. When Americans go abroad they brag about our railroads and our tall buildings and our hotels, but practically no one has the temerity to speak in the same swaggering and confident tone about Sinclair Lewis or Sandburg that he would use in speaking of Niagara or the Rockies or the Biltmore. We hope to live long enough to see the day when the ship news men won't ask the visiting foreigner, "What do you think of our tall buildings?" And immediately after that, "What do you think of our women?" The day we long for is the one in which the standard questions will be "What about our novelists?" and "How about our poets?"

When A. P. Herbert came he was greeted with the traditional questions. Friends had advised him to be prepared for the reporters, and he was. Unfortunately he became a little confused and switched his answers inadvertently. When they asked him "What do you think of our skycrapers?" he replied, "They remind me so much of my mother." And to the question about the American women he answered, 'I think they look best in a heavy fog."

C. T. C. offers as his favorite passage in Arnold Bennett's "Lilian" the description of Miss Grigg on page [illegible], where Bennett writes:

"Her dresses consisted of 10,000 details held to gether by an unity of conception. Thin gold chains wandered, apparently purposeless, over her rich form; they would disappear like a railroad in a cutting and then pop out unexpectedly in another part of the lush, rolling countryside. The contours of her visible garments gave the impression that the concealed system of underskirts, cache-corsets, corsets, lingerie, hose and suspenders was of the most complicated, innumerable and unprecedented variety."

'But what is a cache-corsetc" C. T. C. wants to know. "I don't know enough of the fair sex to ask for at least I don't know them well enough), and my nerve is not up to walking into a corsetiere's, asking to see the thing, afterward remarking, 'Well, that is not just exactly what my wife wants.'"

"In your issue today," writes David Morton, 'you express surprise that 'Rain' has failed to be a red flag to all missionaries. I think the reason will suggest itself to any who know the missionary of today—or of yesterday. In the Rev. Mr. Davidson these gentlemen do not see themselves or what they stand for convicted. The character is much too broad and extreme for that purpose—however sharply it may serve purposes purely dramatic. It is little short of burlesque. The missionary in life (and I know them; I was raised among them) will recognize neither himself nor his methods in the role of Mr. Davidson.

"This seems a pity; because the play would have had more value as satire if the character had been more moderately and accurately conceived and acted. There is sufficient immoderation and true bigotry in the true picture to serve the purpose. Your real missionary is too intelligent and well-meaning superficially for the sort of role the Rev. Davidson plays. His purpose, as fundamentally blind and destructive as you please, is served by methods more insinuating. Had the role been toned down 45 degrees, I dare say we should have heard much from the missionaries."

"Why do they pigeonhole missionaries in a narrow, psalm-singing class?" Long John Silver inquires. "I have seen missionaries that were knockouts. A missionary is, so to speak, an expiditionary preacher. Haven't you encountered them transplanted in France? Father Duffy was really holding up the spirit of Jesus Christ to unbelievers when he worked among certain groups there. No one associates him with drabness or bigoted piety.

"We had a chaplain with the Fifth Marines who was doing missionary work just as though he were in Siam or Japan. He's done that too. I recall one morning our battalion was ordered to re-attack on an hour's notice. We had just come out of the front line and the men had no cigarets. There was a Y. M. C. A. cart four miles back. We sent a corporal and two men back to buy them out, but they returned in a few minutes to say that Father Brady had bought the cart and was pulling it up to the support trenches. He came shortly, with a load of chocolate and Lucky Strikes. Here's what he said to the Marines as he prepared to distribute the cigarets: 'Well, swabs, I won't see half of you again, so this is a little goodby party before you get bumped off.' There were a great many unbelievers who heard Father Brady say this that realized for the first time the spirit of Christ.

"There are many men with Father Brady's spirit who are carrying the flag of their faith to the outposts with the same esprit. They can't tell me all missionaries talk through the nose; and I'm no pious bird. It is all right to let the Rev. Mr. Davidson intone his shams in 'Rain'—there must be a lot like him. But there are others like Father Duffy and Father Brady who bring wit with their piety to cancel half the other guy's line. HEYWOOD BROUN

"Of all the fool things in the world," Mr. Alonzo B. See's letter runs, "I think the college for women is the worst." A reading of Mr. See's letter causes this impartial Judge to decide that the college for women, at worst, is only runner-up.

As to whether the college girls have had their brains twisted by logic, as Mr. See says, this department is in no position to deny or asseverate. But the department believes that Mr. See's brain is untwisted by logic. Even untouched, adds the department, pressed for details.

It isn't true that college women can't write a decent letter and that they can't spell. A good many college women, acting as secretaries and typists to business men, are entirely responsible for the fact that a good many business men sign decent and correctly spelled letters. F. P. A.

White chrysanthemums will be used in the decoration of St. John's Methodist Church, where the ceremony is to be performed by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt. A white lattice, covered with smilax, will screen the choir, and clusters of smilax will adorn either side of the pulpit.

A large bridal party will precede Miss Banister to the altar. Mrs. Robert McRoberts and Mrs. Lawrence Price will be matrons of honor, and Miss Eileen Tilyou and Miss Alice Beyer of New York and Miss Marie Clarkson and Miss Hannah Bemis will be bridesmaids.

Edward Banister will serve his future brother-in-law as best man, and Nolan Hussey, Willard Cool, William Gardner, Lawrence Price and Robert McRoberts will be groomsmen and ushers.

The bride's attendants will be gowned alike in pink chiffon velvet, simply made except for panels of silver cloth at the front. They will wear silver cloth turbans, and will carry arm bouquets of premier roses.

The bride's gown is a Molymeaux model, made in Paris this summer, of white chiffon velvet, elaborately beaded in tiny crystals. Fashioned on straight lines, the only trimming, except the rich material, is a cascade of the velvet, lined with silver at one side of the skirt. The long court train is of velvet lined with silver cloth, finished at the edges with a border design of beads. Clusters of orange blossoms will hold in place the tulle veil, and she will carry lillies of the valley.

"ALCESTIS" IS READ AT ARTISTS' GUILD

Romantic Play of Euripides Has Modern Interpretation by Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

BY RICHARD L. STOKES.

SEATED on either side of a table, with a student lamp, and using a modern barbarous jargon in lieu of the incomparable music of ancient Greek speech, Edith Wynne Matthison and Charles Rann Kennedy, last night at the Artists' Guild, summoned up imperial Athens and her freemen in festive attire trooping to the great open-air theater on the slope of the Acropolis, with its marble thrones for the priests of Dionysus; there to crown with laurel, in the shadow of the Parthenon, a victorious dramatic poet.

The work with which the scholarly readers thus kindled the imagination was not one of titanic Eschylus or classic Sophocles; but the famous romantic operetta, "Alcestis," by the human, the pathetic Euripides. In two actual respects, also, the reading called up the technique of dramatic production in old Hellas

The Greek theater employed two, or at most three, principal actors, men, who took all the roles, male and female. It was thoroughly in the ancient spirit that Miss Matthison should impersonate in turn Apollo, the maidservant, both Alcestis and Admetus, and their child Eumelus, with his piping treble; and that Mr. Kennedy should speak for the chorus, for grisly Death, for that bitter-tongued ancient, Pheres; and for bluff, jovial and riotous Heracles.

As is well known, the lyrics and choruses in Greek dramas were sung, and Miss Matthison chanted this stasimon or that in recitative, half spoken and half intoned, which used the Greek modal scale and ranged through the tones and semitones of a tetrachord, the fundamental interval of Hellenic music.

Story of the Play.

According to the fable, Apollo, having offended Zeus, is condemned to servitude under a mortal, King Admetus of Pherai, in Thessaly, who is married to the lovely Princess, Alcestis of Iolcos. The Fates ordain that on such a day Admetus must die; Apollo displays his power by persuading the Eumenides to accept another life instead of the young King's. Both his father, Pheres, and his mother decline the sacrifice; but it is accepted by Alcestis.

Thanatos; or Death, bears her away at the appointed time to the tomb. Then appears the hero, Heracles, a guest-friend of Admetus. The King, faithful to the sacred rites of hospitality, conceals the fact of his wife's death from the visitor, who seats himself joyously at table, his head crowned with flowers, drinks his fill of wine and roars songs in honor of Aphrodite which resound through the stricken palace.

At last, discovering the truth, Heracles becomes sober on the instant, and determines to give signal proof of his gratitude for the King's tactful hospitality. The mighty athlete hastens to the tomb, lies in ambush for Death, seizes the monster in his sinewy arms, and crushes him until he consents to yield up his prey. Then Heracles restores Alcestis to her husband.

A Modern Interpretation.

It appeared that the readers provided a modern rather than an ancient interpretation of the play. Its pathos, of course, is eternal, and Miss Matthison in particular, with her remarkable voice, gave a most poignant rendition of the dying speeches of Alcestis to her husband and children. Inebriety, too, has the same manifestations now as in ancient times, so that Mr. Kennedy's recitation of the rambling, hiccoughing discourse of Heracles was convincing.

But in certain aspects the Greek point of view was different from ours, and it must be remembered that "Alcestis" was the fourth of a quartet of plays offered by Euripides on the same day—a place conventionally occupied by a satirical comedy. This is not a comedy, but it has comical episodes in addition to the drunken revelry of Heracles.

It can scarcely be doubted that the refusal of Pheres to die for his son, and his acrid arguments for preserving his aged life, impressed the average Greek audience as heavy comedy—much as a Paris audience, in the time of Louis XIV, would have been highly diverted by a husband in a Moliere comedy who should protest against his wife's taking a lover. To the Greek, age was an insufferable burden, which a man of any spirit should be only too glad to lay down. Moreover, the mystification in which Heracles indulges at the end, by pretending that Alcestis is a stranger, surely was intended for comedy.

Character of Admetus.

The character of Admetus must have been as insufferable to a Greek as it is to us, but for opposite reasons. To moderns, the King is a selfish coward to whom it never occurs that he may save his wife's life by sacrificing his own. To the Athenians his course seemed eminently proper; he is a King, and his Queen, after all, is only a woman. His very lamentations, his vow never to remarry, probably struck a typical Athenian like Aristophanes as a form of axoriousness approaching decadence. This is not forgetting that Euripides himself was an ardent feminist.

Last night's attendance was numerous, as Artists' Guild audiences go. In the afterhoon Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy read the quarrel scenes from "The School for Scandal," a scene from "Sister Beatrice," and Browning's poem, "Andrea del Sarto."

DECISION PREVENTS USE OF BALLOTS IN COUNTY INQUIRY

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28.—Ballots cast and poll books used in the biennial Missouri primaries are still secure from grand jury investigations, the State Supreme Court ruled yesterday, in ordering Circuit Judge Wurdeman not to enforce a subpena duces tecum in St. Louis County. The Court, in an opinion by Judge Graves, held that a primary at which members of political county committees are selected, is an election, and that under Missouri statutes, no information may be disclosed tending to show how anybody voted in such a case.

The decision was concurred in by Chief Justice Woodson and Judges James T. Blair, Robert F. Walker and Conway Elder, with Judge David E. Blair dissenting and Judge Higbee absent. It was rendered in the suit of John W. Copeland, a voter and judge of election in the Wellston precinct of St. Louis County, for a writ of prohibition to prevent Wurdeman from forcing County Clerk Seibel to produce the ballots and poll books from the primary before a grand jury investigating alleged primary fraud in St. Louis County.

This doubtless will be a severe handicap to the primary fraud investigation in the county. It further means that until the Legislature amends the election laws again, falsification of the count and other favorite avenues of primary fraud are as safe from punishment as they were when a St. Louis grand jury indicted 59 election judges and clerks who served in the 1920 primary.

The Supreme Court held that section 5403 of the revised statutes, which concludes that "Provided that the ballots in no way be used or any information disclosed that would tend toward showing who voted any ballot" prohibited the introduction of ballots and poll books before a grand jury. To do so would tend to show how various persons voted, the court explained. And so the indictments fell and further investigation of the alleged fraud in the 1920 primary was dropped.

League Termed Move to Block Use of Ballots Work of Machine.

The St. Louis County grand jury had called for the ballots and other records of 11 precincts. The alternative writ of prohibition, the first writ issued, was modified later to permit the use of the poll books and tally sheets. None of the latter records has been used by the grand jury as yet, but the poll book and tally sheets of Wellston precinct were used in the preliminary hearing of Copeland, who had obtained the writ, and four other alleged judges at the Wellston precinct, before a Justice of the Peace under warrants charging them with making false election returns and abstracting ballots. This case was dismissed by the Justice.

Leaders of the Clean Election League, which was organized as a result of conditions in the primary, have called the move to block the use of the ballots in evidence as an act of the political machine, which was defeated by the league in the general election.

Prosecutor-Elect Declines Appointment as Assistant.

Adam Henry Jones, Prosecuting Attorney-elect of St. Louis County, has declined the offer of appointment of himself and one of his prospective assistants as special assistants to the Attorney-General, made by Attorney-General Barrett, in order for them to become familiar with evidence going before the grand jury to assist them in the prosecution of persons who may be indicted.

Jones pointed out that the grand jury has but a little more than a month in which it may meet, and said that he was reluctant in the short time remaining "to assume the attitude that his presence may be considered necessary before the time fixed for his taking office."

CONTRIBUTION SOUGHT HERE TO $25,000 FOR NEGRO SCHOOL

Money to Be Used for an Addition to the Bartlett Agricultural Institute at Dalton, Mo.

W. K. James of St. Joseph, member of the board of trustees for the Bartlett Agricultural and Industrial School, for negroes, at Dalton, Mo., and N. C. Bruce, negro principal, are here seeking contributions to a $25,000 fund being raised to pay for an addition to the school farm in Chariton County, and improvement of the buildings.

St. Louis members of the board of trustees are Charles Nagel, Clarence H. Howard, William B. Ittner and W. C. Gordon.

The school is maintained by private subscription. It was founded 14 years ago, and has graduated approximately 2000 negroes from its regular and short courses. Ages of the students range from 20 to 70, Bruce said. The school has organized numerous agricultural clubs for boys, and last week held a "club roundup," with contests for club members from 17 counties.

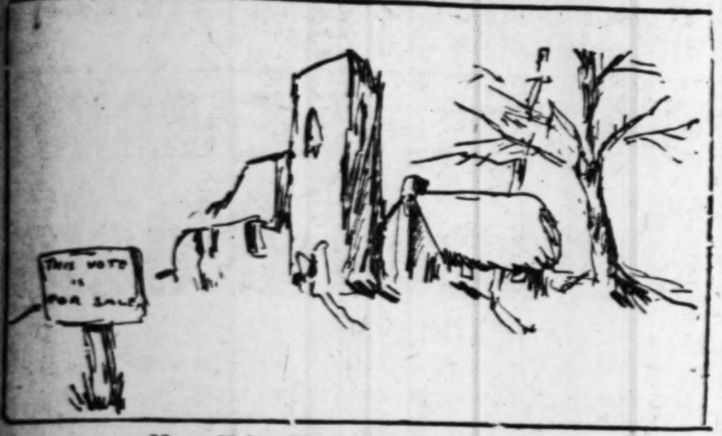
AMERICAN HISTORY FOR AMERICAN CHILDREN

Blame for the Revolution Lies Not With Young English King But With the Existing System of Government.



THIS VOTE IS FOR SALE

Many Noble Houses Sold Their Votes.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON,
Author of "The Story of Mankind."
(Copyright, 1922.)

DURING the last few years it has become very popular to blame the "German King on the British throne" because he had caused the American revolution. "If only there had been a true Briton on the English throne," so it is said, "there never would have been any discontent among the Americans at all."

The people who know George intimately and were familiar with his habits judged differently. The King himself was exceedingly proud of his English origin; his English point-of-view; his genuinely English characteristics. The first time that he appeared in parliament he referred to himself as a person "born and educated in these islands, glorying in the name of Briton." And Macauley, the great historian, said of him: "The young King was an Englishman. All his tastes, both good and bad, were English. His age, his appearance, and all that was known of his character conciliated public favor. He was in the bloom of youth, his person and address were pleasing; scandal imputed to him no vice and flattery might without absurdity ascribe to him many princely virtues." The blame for the revolution, therefore, lies not with this good young English King bu rather with the system of Government of which he was the head.

When George came to the throne the Whigs, the party composed of rich merchants and of the large mass of the business men who belonged to the many sects which remained outside the established Anglican Church, had been in power a long time. They had grown a bit too prosperous and were too certain of their own importance. Their opponents, the Tories, the large landowners, were waiting for their opportunity.

It came when George III ascended to the throne. The young King needed a party to support him and he appealed to the Tories. They were willing to go just as far as His Majesty would allow them. The parliamentary system of England still gave the landed proprietors a great deal of influence upon the Government of the country. Only 150,000 people could vote out of a total of more than 8,000,000 inhabitants. A number of "rotten boroughs," little hamlets, which in the middle ages had been prosperous cities with a voice in parliament, now belonged to a few country gentlemen.

Many a noble house disposed of its votes with the elegant indifference of a modern city boss who carries the vote of an entire ward in his pocket. It was this party of the Tories standing firmly behind the royal throne which supported the King in his attack upon the liberties of the colonies.

And it was the party of the Tories which was directly to blame for the policies which forced peaceful colonists into open warfare against their mother country.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

AFTER the harvest in 1621, our forefathers set aside a day on which to give thanks for blessings received and the fruits of labor stored.

It is fitting and right that we, inheritors of the nation they so ably helped to build, should perpetuate the custom hallowed by national observance for three hundred years—the custom of giving thanks.

By doing this we add to the joys and benefits of the day's work.

President.

We Will Manage Your Real Estate

THE BUSINESS of our Real Estate Department is the selling, leasing, renting, handling and developing of real estate for clients.

Often we have assumed the management of property which was showing a yearly loss, reorganized it, and placed it in the asset column. For this service the property owner paid only the regulation fee, with no extras added, and no charge made for supervision of repairs.

Are you realizing the full possibilities of your property? Come in and let's talk it over.

THIEVES LOCK WOMAN IN GARAGE

They Escape in an Automobile Spare Tire Missing.

When Mrs. Albert Fout, of 5110 Terry avenue, found two men in the garage in the rear of her home yesterday, they said they were looking for "Mr. Williams'" automobile. When she started to call for help, one man shoved her into the garage and locked the door.

Mrs. Fout left the garage by another door in time to see them with a third man drive away in an automobile. The cushions of the Fout automobile had been taken out and a spare tire was missing.

THIEF GETS MONEY AND RINGS

Interrupted at Work When Girl Returns From School.

When Beatrice Pfaff, of 3316 North Ninth street, returned from school yesterday afternoon she found the lock on the kitchen door jammed but the door unfastened. She heard a noise in the front part of the home and discovered she had apparently interrupted a burglar.

Mrs. Emma Pfaff, Beatrice's mother, reported $135, three diamond rings and a diamond lavaliere missing when she returned home later.

Inmates to Be Kept in Reformatory.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 28.—Col. C. M. Harrison, superintendent of the Missouri reformatory for boys here, has put into effect an order that no inmates of the institution shall be permitted to work in town or on farms except under guard. The practice of lettings boys, who had been in the reformatory eight months or more and had clean records, work away from the institution, was started in a former administration. The American Legion post requested that it be discontinued. A Boonville citizen was shot by an escaped inmate last week.

Mason & Hamlin

A MASTERPIECE

There are some productions of genius of such distinctive quality that they are separated from all others and classed as masterpieces.

In a true sense the Mason & Hamlin Piano is a masterpiece—a masterpiece in its tonal quality and furthermore in its exquisite workmanship.

As a result of its unique system of construction, developed in 1900 it has set a new standard of piano tone and durability and is pronounced the most beautiful piano the world has ever known.

It is presented to the public—not in price competition with any other, which its cost and quality preclude, but as a work of art to be judged solely on its merit. In the words of its maker's trade-mark inscription:

Owner and Operator

Quiet Remington No. 12

It wins the operator because of its many features which make the day's work swifter and easier.

Prominent among these is the "Natural Touch", that triumph of Remington design, which makes the operation of the machine like second nature—as mechanical as walking and almost as unconscious as breathing itself.

It appeals to the owner because its work is surpassingly good—and consistently good under all circumstances.

In quality as well as quantity, it gives him the results he wants.

And because it is so quiet that its operation never disturbs him, no matter how near him it is used.

The new Remington No. 12 speaks only in a whisper, but will be heard around the world

WOOD RIVER BANK, CLOSED BY STATE, IS SHORT $160,000

Condition Due to Bad Investments on Part of Cashier, Says Report on Investigation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 28.—That a shortage of between $160,000 and $170,000 exists at the First State and Savings Bank of Wood River, Ill., was revealed today in a statement from State Auditor Andrew Russel, who has just completed an examination of the bank's accounts. The statement follows:

"Our examination shows that the First State and Savings Bank of Wood River is between $160,000 and $170,000 short in its accounts, due to bad investments on the part of Cashier I. C. Hatridge. Hatridge resigned two weeks ago by request of the directors.

"A full assessment on the capital stock of $100,000 has been ordered. Every man who has $100 worth of stock will have to put in another hundred to make up the shortage. A committee has been appointed and a meeting of stockholders was held last night to make plans for a reorganization. Another meeting will be held on Wednesday night, at which final detailed plans for the reorganization are expected to be completed."

Bank Was Closed by State Because of Depletion of Reserve.

The bank was closed on Nov. 17 by order of the State Auditor after its cash reserve had been so depleted that it was unable to withstand the steady withdrawal of deposits. At that time he bank examiners announced there was no apparent shortage. The institution's condition was diagnosed as a stringency of cash reserve due to slow paper and "frozen" assets.

Cashier Hatridge, who resigned two weeks before the bank closed, was formerly employed here as a teller in the Night and Day Bank, which failed last January. He is staying at the Claridge Hotel.

It was known in Wood River that Hatridge had almost complete control of the bank's affairs and that most of the large loans listed as "doubtful" had been made by him.

The discovered shortage apparently will not affect depositors unless other loans fail to prove up. The bank had $100,000 capital stock and a double liability, with about $75,000 in undivided profits and banking plant. This places a reserve of $275,000 between liabilities and the deposits.

On the day the bank closed it was carrying on the books a "bills receivable" item amounting to $466,289.17. This sum was represented by notes the bank held as security for loans. It was the investigation of the "bills receivable" item that brought out the shortage in the audit.

A short time before Cashier Hatridge left the bank it sued an Edwardsville automobile firm for $11,000 on a loan made by him. The bank's officers and directors never have made a statement concerning Hatridge, except that they announced that he had resigned to go into other business.

It is reported that a loan of $60,000, which the bank made to a St. Louis oil company, is listed in the audit under bad paper.

Hartridge was interested for some time in the development of an oil company near Water'oo, Ill.

Among the large depositors at the First State and Savings Bank is the State of Illinois, with $200,000 of State funds.

The liabilities listed on the bank's statement Nov. 17 were savings, $99,570.31; time certificates, $226,716.04; checking deposits, $191,223.97, and cashier's checks, $7263.47, making an approximate total of $550,000.

The Standard Oil refinery at Wood River, which was a large depositor at the bank, withdrew its account a few days before its closing. Officers and directors of the bank advanced $50,000 cash to bolster the reservo and mortgaged the bank property for $50,000, but this did not suffice.

Last night ae Wood River the stockholders elected a committee to represent them in negotiations for the reopening of the bank. They selected James Duncan of the Duncan Manufacturing Co., Alton; James Chessen, a real estate dealer of Wood River, and C. B. Manbeck, superintendent of the Standard Oil Refinery at Wood River.

The present officers and directors of the bank are John Bosnetto, president; M. F. Manning, vice president; Joseph Slivka, cashier; H. H. Clark, Robert Park, Fred Bender, C. B. Manbeck and S. A. Beach. The bank was organized in 1909 and was moved into a new $100,000 plant two years ago. It carried a large proportion of the banking business of the town and until a few months ago was considered a very prosperous institution.

$500 Fur Cloak Stolen.

Isadore Pearlman of the Landers & Pearlman Fur Co., 822 Washington avenue, yesterday reported theft of a fur cloak valued at $500 from the stock of the company. He said a well-dressed man and woman called shortly after noon and the woman tried on a number of cloaks but departed without making a selection. Shortly afterward, he said, the disappearance of the cloak was noted. A reward was offered for its recovery.

BREWERY, EXPECTING RETURN OF BEER, INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK

Jacob Ruppert Corporation of New York Jumps Stock From $100,000 to $15,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Simultaneous with the filing of a document with the County Clerk announcing the increase of the capital stock of the brewing corporation known as "Jacob Ruppert" from $100,000 to $15,000,000, Jacob Ruppert, one of the two principal stockholders, declared yesterday that "beer is coming back in the United States."

Ruppert's explanation of the increase of $14,900,000 agreed upon by himself and Anna Ruppert, trustees of the estate of Jacob Ruppert, was that it was "merely the declaration of a stock dividend." He added, however, that when "Congress responds to the wishes of the people, as indicated by the last election, we will be ready for expansion."

The corporation now is brewing near beer and other soft drinks.

It Goes Without Saying That a Letter Man Knows Football From A to Z

PLAY TO START AT 2 P. M.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 28.—Prepared to meet one of the toughest foes they have encountered all season, but confident that the same form they displayed against the Massachusetts Aggies here Saturday will bring back a victory, the Michigan Aggies will depart this afternoon for their big intersectional battle with St. Louis University on Thanksgiving day.

The Aggies worked out during a snow storm yesterday afternoon and were due to wind up with a short drill today before entraining for their final trip. Every man on the first string squad was reported to be in shape to accompany the team. Richards, the only man injured Saturday was far enough along to warrant his selection for the trip. The Aggies showed their best football of the season against the Massachusetts team, uncovering an offense which ran up the score almost at will. Bert Barron's eleven has been slow in starting but the men looked better in their workout yesterday afternoon than they had all year and predictions that they would prove strong enough to defeat St. Louis were made here freely today.

Comparative scores would seem to give St. Louis a "paper" advantage for the coming scrap. The Aggies were able to beat South Dakota by but a single touchdown early in the season while St. Louis added another 15 points to this margin against the same team. Defensively the Aggies have been strong all season, their goal line being uncrossed in the last three games. Indications that the offense has at last hit its stride were given in the overwhelming defeat of Massachusetts Aggies, by a 45 to 0 score and if Barron's backfield can keep the same pace Thursday, St. Louis fans will see a strong outfit lined up against their team. The team will reach St. Louis tomorrow in time to work out on Missouri soil before the game.

The Billiken-Aggie game, to be played at Sportsman's Park Thursday at 2 o'clock, will be between two machines which are now at their peak of form. Each team displayed good defensive play all season, and each was feeble on the attack. Each received a severe physical drubbing. The Aggies collided with the Michigan machine and the Billikens tried to stem the advance of Knute Rockne's famous Notre Dame "Irish."

Athletic Director O'Rourke was highly pleased with the Billikens 28—0 victory over Loyola at New Orleans. The New Orleans machine actually outweighed the Billikens and put up a game fight.

O'Rourke said that the Blue and White finally displayed the driving force on the attack which he had been looking for all year. McKenzie played wonderful football, according to the Billiken authorities. The little fellow has found himself and he is expected to shine Thursday.

McConachie suffered some severe pummeling, but will be in shape for the closing game. "Big George" Kalkman's bruised shoulder was pounded, but the injury will not keep the big guard out of the fray. The Billiken machine, in general, is now in prime condition. The Blue and White morale has been strengthened by four straight victories and the team is running smoothly.

Coach O'Rourke stated that the New Orleans football fans were much impressed with the Billikens and the Blue and White style of play. The Cuban Consul at New Orleans approached O'Rourke after the contest and invited the Billiken athletic boss to bring the team to Cuba for a game with the Havana University, to be played on Christmas day in Havana.

Missouri Hopes to Surprise Kansas

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 28.—Working behind closed gates, and endeavoring to make every minute count for two, the University of Missouri football squad is going through strenuous preparations for the annual Missouri-Kansas game.

Realizing fully the uphill battle which they face, the Tiger coaches and players are hoping to "come back" after their defeats at the hands of Oklahoma, Nebraska and the Kansas Aggies, and send the Jayhawkers home defeated. From 2 o'clock in the afternoon until long after dark the Tigers are grinding their way through their heavy schedule of work on Rollins Field, and then, after dinner there is frequently a skull practice at the gymnasium, when weaknesses of the Tiger attack and defense are pointed out, and ways and means of improvement are discussed.

Chuck Lewis, Bill Dunckell and Hank Garrity have all seen the Kansas eleven in action this season, and there is no lack of respect for the Jayhawker around Rothwell Gymnasium. "If we beat them it will be on fight and nerve," said Lewis.

Al Lincoln, who has been out of the game for a week with a shoulder injury suffered in the Oklahoma game, is again running signals, and seems likely to be back soon, and at his best against the Jayhawkers. Tony Bundschu is also running signals again, and should be ready to scrimmage within a few days. Elmer Kershaw is back on the field in a track suit and football shoes, but is not able to run as yet. The muscles in his leg, which was broken early in the season, are still sore, but he still has hope of getting into the Kansas fray.

Conti Leads Horemans.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Roger Conti of France led Edouard Horemans of Belgium by a score of 600 to 495 in the first two blocks of an 1800-point 18.2 balkline billiard match which began yesterday. The match, to be continued tomorrow, virtually amounts to a contest for the championship of Europe as Conti has disputed the claim of Horemans to the title since his arrival in this country.

Stecher Throws Friberg.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., defeated John Friberg of Chicago after 34 seconds of wrestling in the sixth round of their match last night with a body scissors. The men are heavyweights.

Herman Will Meet Bernstein Tonight

Boxer Who Gained Fame in Flores Bout Will Get Real Test.

By Bert Igoe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Babe Herman, the sprightly California Portuguese, will meet Jack Bernstein here tonight in a 12-round bout that ought to keep the cash customers on edge every second they are throwing gloves at each other.

Bernstein has been hidden away among the second and third raters until he met Elino Flores at the Garden. All of Jack's friends insist that he whipped the Filipino lightweight champion, but the judges and the referee coppered that opinion by calling the bout a draw. In Herman, he is facing one of the fastest little fellows that ever drew on a glove.

Jackson to Box Shugrue.

It will be an odd sight to see Willie Jackson in action against Jimmy Shugrue at the Arena A. A. in Jersey City on Dec. 4 without the presence of old Doc Bagley in his corner. They parted good friends some weeks back and it will be with a feeling of uncertainty that Willie will face the clever brother of the once famous Joe Shugrue. Willie has fought all his great battles with Bagley in his corner crooning and coaching as no manager and second in the business advise. It takes a clever head to amount to anything in a corner and this graduate of the greatest college in the world has that.

Pikeway Eleven To Hold Its Final Scrimmage Today

Washington Certain to Depend on Forward Pass in Game With Heavy Sooners.

Washington University's football squad will assemble at Francis Field this afternoon for its last scrimmage practice of the season in preparing for the final battle here Thanksgiving day against the University of Oklahoma Sooners. The game is booked for 2:30 o'clock and a heavy advance sale of seats has been reported.

Assistant Coach Davis scouted the Sooner-Oklahoma A. and M. game last Friday and gives a good account of the visiting team. The Sooners are heavy and have a good running attack. Their passing game is one of the best in the valley and they make much use of the Pikers' favorite aerial formation, the screened pass.

Right Halfback Bristow does most of the passing with either Capt. Marsh, an end, doing the receiving, or Quarterback Johnson. Johnson played through last Friday's game with an injured leg which caused him to limp, but it apparently had little effect on his game, and he is expected to prove dangerous Thursday. Capt. Marsh is generally regarded as a strong candidate for an end position on the Missouri Valley Conference All-Star team.

Sooners Much Heavier.

Bristow is something of a triple-threat player. In addition to passing he is a good runner and a first-class punter. His boots average around 50 yards, and while Oklahoma was trimming Missouri 14—10, he made several 70-yard punts which figured prominent in the Sooner defense. Morrison, at fullback, is a good plunger, and will be a constant threat to the light Piker line.

Oklahoma will outweigh Washington considerably. The only light spot in the Sooner line is at center. Schaeffer, regular center, is lost for the season, and the substitute who will be used against the Red and Green Thursday weighs about 150 pounds. Cantwell, the Piker center, will outweigh him about 12 pounds, but the rest of the Oklahoma line will enjoy a weight advantage of close to 20 pounds to the man.

Koch and Capt. Denny, as is known, are lost for the season and will not be in uniform Thursday. The rest of the team is in good shape and has recovered from the effects of the Missouri crushing. Claypool, right halfback, is the only member of the squad still nursing an injury and Coach Rider today said that Oscar would probably be able to play in only a part of the contest.

Pikers Must Use Aerial Attack.

If Claypool is out, Coach Rider will very likely use Tancil in the backfield, although Lyle and Weber will be available. Tancil, by dint of hard labor and earnest practice, has improved his game greatly. He is showing good form in tackling, blocking and running. He is an accurate shot when it comes to dispensing forward passes, and since the Ridermen will have to depend on passes more than on anything else for their scores Thursday, Tancil is certain to break into the lineup.

A long tackling practice yesterday was followed by a 40-minute period of scrimmage against Coach Davis' freshmen, armed with Sooner plays. The first team worked against the yearlings and then retired for a signal drill, giving way to the second team.

The workout will be repeated this afternoon, and this evening after supper the squad will assemble in Francis Gymnasium for a skull drill and discussion of the Oklahoma style of play. Tomorrow, the day before the game, there will be only a signal drill and a shadow scrimmage.

Penn Team May Prove Stumbling Block for Gil Dobie's Eleven

Heisman's Aggregation Has Won Title of "Giant Killer" Several Times This Season—Auburn Will Offer Stiff Opposition for Georgia Tech.

By Walter Camp.

(Copyright, 1922.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A good many of the disputed points of the football season have been settled, but some will not be rendered until the final games, Thanksgiving Day.

Cornell still has her game with Penn to play. The Ithaca team has come through the season victorious in all battles so far, but the contest with the Red and Blue warriors will be a real fight. Penn proved the right to the title of "giant killer" more than once this year, and Gilmour Dobie, the Cornell coach, knows he may face real trouble on Franklin Field.

Pittsburg and Penn State, although not battling as they have upon some occasions for premier honors, are like Harvard and Yale were last Saturday, engrossed in their own rivalry, and looking for a final decision after the tie games of the last two seasons. Let us hope they get a day of good weather at least so that each team can perform up to its full possibilities.

Auburn Plays Georgia Tech.

Georgia Tech is likely to find a handful in Mike Donohue's Auburn team. Both outfits are welcoming the opportunity to battle. Red Barron, the Georgia Tech back, is a hard man to stop, but Alabama Poly knows it and will be watching him.

Nebraska is looking forward to the visit of Notre Dame, which will give the latter the final test of the season. Vanderbilt will get a similar weighing in the game with the University of the South. Texas will tackle the Texas Aggies at Austin, while out on the Pacific Coast both Pasadena and Seattle will be provided with good games, Southern California meeting Washington State amidst the orange groves, and Oregon playing the University of Washington in the North.

As a result of the contests already disposed of, the Big Three, with their rivalry extending over so many years wound up the season with Princeton in first place, Harvard second and Yale third. In addition to defeating her traditional rivals, Princeton triumphed intersectionally over Chicago. The latter team lost prestige through a tie with Wisconsin, while Iowa and Michigan came through with victories, leaving those teams at the top of the conference ladder.

California Won Title.

Notre Dame maintained her standing by beating Carnegie Tech, 19 to 0, and West Virginia held her place with a 28 to 0 victory over Ohio University. Ohio State retrieved some early season disasters by nosing out Illinois, 6 to 3.

California won the Pacific Coast honors by running up 28 points to Stanford's nothing. Dartmouth won her great classic from Brown and Bucknell beat Rutgers.

Stanford, although she suffered defeat as expected, really developed a much improved system of defense which is the cardinal point in starting building for another year. Warner can be counted on to develop an attack when he takes up his duties as coach at Palo Alto next season.

Andy Smith at California not only had one method of attack, he had many and Erb, his field general could use them all.

PLAYERS SELECTED ON ALL-AMERICAN ELEVENS WILL PLAY SATURDAY

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 28.—For the first time in the history of American football, two teams composed entirely of men whose names have been mentioned in various all-American selections will play here next Saturday. The game, the proceeds of which will be given to local charities, will be played by teams representing the East and West, respectively. The players, all of whom have completed their intercollegiate competition, will come here on the invitation of a local committee arranging for the game, it was announced.

A contest planned a year ago between two teams of former stars attracted much attention and it is planned to make it an annual affair.

The Eastern All-Americans, as one of the teams will be known, will be composed of: McLaren, Pittsburg; Casey, Harvard; Kaw, Cornell; Ericksen, W. and J.; Mosley, Yale; Hogsett, Dartmouth; Ashbaugh, Brown; Munns, Cornell; West, Colgate; Peck, Pittsburg, and Cutler, Syracuse.

The Western All-Americans will be: Roberts, Centre; McMillan, Centre; Eichenlaub, Notre Dame; Muller, California; Huffman, Ohio State; Trott, Ohio State; Vick, Michigan; Nemecek, Ohio State; Wallace, Iowa State; Bolen, Ohio State, and Crangle, Illinois.

BILL TATE KNOCKS OUT JACKSON IN 3 ROUNDS

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 28.—Bill Tate, claimant of the negro heavyweight championship of the United States, knocked out Tut Jackson, Washington Courthouse negro, in the fourth round of what was to be a 12-round bout here last night. Tate weighed 224 pounds and Jackson 192. Jackson started out like a whirlwind and easily outpointed Tate in the first two rounds. Tate refused to do any leading or fighting, but stood waiting for Jackson to drop his guard. This the challenger did near the close of the third round and Tate showered him with rights and lefts to jaw and Jackson dropped to the floor. The bell rang, however, as the referee counted five. Jackson came back like a tiger, but Tate again waited for an opening and knocked Tut down three times before he was counted out.

St. Louis Bowler in Lead in Singles of Middle West Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—PHIL PITTS, a member of the Victor Drug team of St. Louis, rolled into first place in the singles of the Middle West tournament here yesterday with a total of 668, which included games of 241, 202 and 225. This was not the only change in the standings as H. D. Smith and J. L went into the lead in doubles with 1346, five pins behind the present record. Smith totaled and his partner 642.

The other St. Louisans rolling in singles yesterday turned in the following scores: Bob Meinhardt, 560; E. Weibel, 533; R. Webb, 567; C. Trunnel, 525, and H. Meinhardt 476.

In the doubles R. Meinhardt and Pitts rolled into fourth place with a count of 1282. Meinhardt totaled 644 and Pitts. Weibel and H. Meinhardt counted 1077 and Trunnel and Webb 1022.

HARDING AUTHORIZES APPOINTMENT OF BOXING BODY IN CANAL ZONE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Appointment by the Governor of Panama Canal Zone of a Boxing Commission for the zone with such authority to regulate the conduct of the boxing exhibitions there as he may prescribe is provided in an executive order issued by President Harding and made public today. The order in addition to authorizing a commission of five members, one to be an army officer and one a naval officer, also specifically permits "voluntary boxing and sparring exhibitions" in the public schools, under the supervision of the Bureau of Clubs and Playgrounds, and on military and naval reservations and ships.

The order provides that such other exhibitions of this description may be held in the Canal Zone for which either the Governor or the commission, with his approval, may issue a permit. Exhibitions on the military and naval reservations are made subject to regulations prescribed by the commanding officers and are restricted to army and navy personnel.

Kirkwood Favored To Beat Webster

County Elevns to Meet in Final Game of Season Thanksgiving Day.

One of the best football games ever played on a St. Louis County gridiron is promised when Kirkwood and Webster clash for the county championship, Thanksgiving day. The game is scheduled to start at [illegible] o'clock and will be played on the Webster field.

A victory for Kirkwood will give the Red and White undisputed claim to the title, while a win for Webster will throw the teams into a three-cornered tie with Clayton. Such a state of affairs would enable Webster to retain the cup, as it is hardly likely that the tie would be played off.

Kirkwood is favored to win, with Webster followers asking for 3 to 1 odds.

Light workouts are in order at both schools. A great deal of skull practice has been on the list of the Black and Orange.

Both teams will have their full strength. Chester Greene, Webster's fullback and punter, has been nursing a bruised hip and has taken only light practice, but will be ready for the big fray. "Mutt" Martin, the heavy back for the Crimson, has also been on the shelf because of a slight injury reecived in the Collinsville game. Julian Payne, the big Kirkwood tackle and main cog in the defense, has been reinstated, and will be in the game.

Coach Bernard respects Webster's ability in the series attack and has been drilling his men to break up the passing of the Black and Orange. Shorty Phillips will no doubt be used for end runs.

Kirkwood with a line average of over 160 pounds to pit against the 140-pound average of the champions holds a great advantage and straight football will no doubt form a great part of Bernard's attack. In addition the eleven has not been scored upon.

Elmer Keisler, end, is one of the best in the Suburban circuit. "Mutt" Martin, captain and fullback, is a star at plunging as well as passing. Mashoff, Brown, Shands and Schwentker are other members of Bernard's husky squad who have starred. Greene, Senne, Hodgton, Phillips, Ward and Burch are among Webster's best.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—When the executive committee of the Middle West Bowling Association awards the next annual tournament, the successful city will have to put up a bond March 1, instead of 60 days before the scheduled opening, as has heretofore been the case. This was decided upon yesterday.

The reason for this change in the laws came as a result of a hitch in arranging the event, which is now in progress here. President Henry Menne was forced to make several trips to St. Louis and for a time it looked as though a switch in cities might have to be made.

With the Tournament Company being forced to put up a bond by March 1, that difficulty will be avoided. St. Louis, Des Moines and Omaha put in bids for the 1923 rolling.

Association to Get Pins.

Another departure from the old custom will be the selection of pins. A motion was put through that hereafter the Mid-West body write the various manufacturers of "sticks" and get bids. In this way it is thought that there will be a better chance of getting equal weight sticks for the bowlers to knock down, D. J. Sweeney, the new secretary, stated.

In the past, and especially in the tournament held in St. Louis in 1920, there was a great howl among the pintopplers in regards to the tenpins used. It also was decided that the boxes with the maples would not be opened until the pin boy took them to the drives ready to be knocked over.

If this is done, then the bowlers will have the Middle West Association, and not the local tournament company to fight it out with if they think the pins are of unequal weight.

Top Prize for Teams $300.

Top prize for the team winning the five-man event this year will be $300. In all there will be 57 prizes for teams, with the lowest $25. In the doubles there will be 77, from $150 down to $10. In the singles top money is $125 and the lowest $5. A total of 153 tenpinners will share. The all-events prize fund is $240 and will be split among eight men. In addition there is the special prize, which amounts to about $140.

The winner also gets the cup, which goes out of competition next season as a result of the new rule passed at the annual meeting.

A motion to charge an entry fee of 50 cents for a special all-events prize was voted down. As Leo Schueneman stated, "there is no such event and most of the bowlers roll their all-events on the train going home." At least he said that it was then that he rolled his. There were others who felt the same way about it and the motion went down in defeat. Schueneman also brought out an interesting discussion in regard to the all-events cup. He asserted that under the old rules it was possible for a man who had rolled only 1750 or thereabouts to nose out a man who had gone 1800, because the bowler with the high total had neglected to send in his extra 25 cents. And that would have been a fine state of affairs.

Even Star Bowlers Fall.

Even the stars fall down in tournaments. This was shown when Eddie Krems of Chicago, who won the doubles, was sent in the all-events in the tournament rolled in St. Louis, took the alleys for his doubles. Krems missed the head pin and "blew" single pins just like any ordinary human being.

But that's the way it goes in tournaments. You have to get them on one particular day to do any good as regards to the prize fund.

Slow Execution Of Blows Hurts White's Chances

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1922.)

Charlie White of Chicago, although a veteran, is fully as good a fighter as when he had his first chance against a champion. White has fought for the lightweight title half a dozen times. Once, when he dropped Benny Leonard for a count of seven seconds at Benton Harbor, he was very near the championship.

White is a fighter of a rather odd type. Every time I see him beat a second rater he looks like the greatest lightweight in the world. There isn't another man in any class who can do a neater or a quicker job. Charles doesn't waste a punch. He reminds me of Joe Gans when Joe was tipping them all over. He stands almost motionless. His hands are held in a fixed position. He doesn't feint. He doesn't use any light punches to gain an opening. He waits. His eyes glitter like those of a rattlesnake ready to strike. His stare is almost mesmeric. There are several openings, perhaps, but he doesn't strike. At last he is sure. His left falshes out in a short hook. Thud! The opponent drops as if hit with a club. It's over.

The "If" Table.

If White could fight like that against a champion he'd be invincible. But against a champion he would need the one thing he lacks, the faculty of thinking and acting in the same fraction of a second. With White there is a little lost motion, an instant of delay between seeing his opening and starting his punch. His head isn't as quick as his hands. Before he can start his chance has gone.

At that Charlie White may have the luck to land just right on a champion some day. If he does he'll wear a crown.

"Your money's-worth" Cigar

PRICES ADVANCE AS SHORTS COVER ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Active short covering and sharp advances were the rule in the stock market today. Having succeeded in dislodging a considerable volume of long stock during the last few days, and having noted the rally which set in before the close yesterday, the bears were out to cover from the start. A number of dividend resumptions and increases helped to create a better atmosphere as did closer examination of the October railroad earnings statements. Thus the first 26 roads reporting showed aggregate net earnings of $22,061,000 as compared with $18,704,000 in September. While the October figure is $6,111,000 less than in the corresponding month a year ago, it must be remembered that earnings at that time were unusually large and fell little short of the 6 per cent fair return contemplated by the Transportation Act. In any event, many of the rails were more than 1 point better at the close while gains of from 1 to 3 points were common among industrials. Bonds also displayed a better tone, specualtive rails rallying with stocks. Call money opened at 4½ per cent and was reduced to 4 per cent at the close of the noon hour.

New Sterling High.

"The foreign exchange meanwhile continued, for the most part, on their course of yesterday. Sterling was again in active demand and ran up to a new high of $4.52½. After reacting ⅛ cent from this price was practically unchanged on the day. Greater irregularity existed among the currencies of the former neutral states, but Swedish kroner were firm and also touched a new high. On the the hand, francs and marks showed further weakness. Demand exchange on Paris dropped to 6.88 cents in London and after rallying to 6.95½ cents here was still off 10 points on the day. Belgian francs acted similarly but suffered a slightly greater loss and German marks were ⅛ of a point lower at .01 3-16 of a cent. Cables from London give one explanation of the franc's weakness as the repayments which France must make to the Bank of England on account of advances made during the war. Part of the Bank of France's gold reserve, is on deposit with the Bank of England as security against these loans and as the latter are liquidated the metal is moving back to France. It would appear, however, that this must be only one factor in the decline, since Belgian francs are fully as severely affected. However, if another explanation is desired it may be found readily in the reparations situation.

"Cotton and wheat also made recoveries which, considering their behavior on yesterday, must be regarded as sympathetic. Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet, but the market acted as if liquidation had run its course and the January future recovered 21 points at a late price of 25.25 cents. Liverpool responded to our rally and closed firm and the trade showed itself reconciled to private crop estimates running in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 bales. In wheat the recovery was generous, December gaining 2⅞ cents at $1.18¾. Corn rallied about 1½ cents. The comodity markets, in other words, confirmed the stock markets indication as to a change in the speculative position.

The House that Has Never Sold an Unsafe Investment

The shrewdest way to judge an investment is to investigate the record and reputation of the Investment House which offers it. Ask these questions:

Has the House offering the investment ever recommended and sold a security which has suffered default?

If not, has its business been large enough in volume, long enough in time, to afford a real test of the safety of its various offerings?

The House of S. W. Straus & Co. urges you to ask these questions of every Investment House which offers securities to you.

Our own answer is clear and unequivocal: we have sold securities for 40 years without loss to any investor, and our business is nation-wide in scope, involving the sale of hundreds of millions of dollars in safe securities. Investigate Straus Bonds. Write today for our Booklet. Ask for

FORTY YEARS WITHOUT LOSS TO ANY INVESTOR

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Prices on the Stock Exchange turned upward sharply today after nearly a week of decline. The market was strong from beginning to end making its best showing in the last hour and leaving off well up to the top. Nobody could have been surprised over the day's developments who had accepted the analysis of the recent downward movement as due simply to the necessity of setting right a previous over speculation.

Naturally the rebound was more rapid in stocks that had been driven down the most severely and in which the short interest was presumably the largest—stocks like the steels, the equipment, the motor and some of the rails.

At the high prices reached in the final hour of the stock market, the share list was up 2, 3 and 5 points on the average from the lows of the previous day. This was a sufficiently clear proof of the extremes to which speculation for the decline had been pushed. The notable jump in California Pete appeared to point quite strongly toward the stocks being returned to the dividend list next month, according to one view. Standard Oil shares were prominent in the advance, as was Burns Bros. A. which went through its previous high of the year. The Pan-Americans, Studebaker, Baldwin Locomotive and American Locomotive were the leaders in the trading toward the end, while United States Steel common more than made up the dividend which was deducted from its selling price this morning.

The Bond Market.

Bond quotations showed improvement today, particularly the speculative issues. Probably the better tone of the stock market was an influence. As far as the high-grade issues were concerned, net changes were very small. It seems to be the opinion of many bond experts that underlying issues were attractive at present prices, but the market action failed to show any realization of this condition on the part of buyers. Libertys gained slightly, but trading was comparatively lifeless. There is still said to be concern over possibility of resurrection of the bonus bill. There is also prospect of new Government financing around the first of the year. Among high-grade issues Atchison general 4s sold up to 89. Pennsylvania general 4½s gained half a point. Chicago & Northwestern general 5s also went higher. So did Burlington general 4s and Illinois Central 4s of 1952. All these bonds represent the highest type of railroad securities. Among second-grade issues Rock Island refunding 4s made a gain. C. & O. convertible 5s and convertible 4½s went higher, as did B. & O. convertible 4½s. There was very active trading in the Seaboard Air Line issues. The 6s dropped more than a point and then made up more than the loss by 2 points. New Haven 6s declined fractionally at the opening and then rallied for a substantial gain. Erie issues were all slightly higher and St. Paul bonds met more favor. Missouri, Kansas & Texas adjustments also went higher. The foreign list was very irregular. French bonds, notably the 7½s and the Department of the Seine 7s, sold off, perhaps in response to the weakness in franc exchange. On the other hand, United Kingdom 5½s of 1929 equaled their high for the year. Brasil 7½s, another sterling issue, also gained ground. Netherlands 6s were very active and higher.

Report of expected ending of St. Lawrence navigation soon and report of rain in Argentine were other factors, besides reported indication of export business. Talk of western demand for corn exerted influence on that grain.

In the local cash grain market red winter wheat was 1c higher and hard 1c to 2c higher. Receipts were moderate and demand fair. Cash corn was ½c to 1c higher. Demand was fair and supply moderate. Cash oats were steady to ½c higher. Demand was good.

The action of the Liverpool market, report of export business over Saturday and Monday and the strength of sterling exchange were factors in the early market. Liverpool opened ⅛d to ⅝d lower and later came unchanged to ¼d lower. The early advance on wheat was good. Corn also rose.

December wheat opened at $1.16, May wheat at $1.13⅝, July wheat at $1.04⅝, December corn at 70c, May corn at 68⅞c and July corn at 68¼c.

The three Northwestern markets combined today had 2230 cars of wheat, compared with 1841 a week ago and 1113 last year. Minneapolis today receiving 334 cars, Duluth 266 and Winnipeg 1630.

Local wheat receipts, which were 176,400, compared with 106,605 a week ago and 40,937 last year, included 80 cares local and 67 through. Corn receipts, which were 66,300, compared with 37,700 a week ago and 53,425 last year, included 49 cars local and 2 through. Oats receipts, which were 64,000, compared with 74,000 a week ago and 260,000 last year, included 23 cars local and 9 through. Hay receipts were 224 tons local and 104 through.

Stocks in St. Louis public elevators today were 1,099,735 bushels of wheat, 467,462 bushels of corn, 229,070 bushels of oats. Grain stocks comprised 264,444 bushels of No. 2 red winter wheat, 7751 bushels of No. 1 hard winter wheat, 123,658 bushels of No. 2 hard winter wheat, 45,376 bushels of No. 2 corn, 125,610 bushels of No. 2 yellow corn, 125,610 bushels of No. 2 yellow corn, 136,287 bushels of No 2 white corn. 44,820 bushels of No. 2 white oats, 88,783 bushels of No. 3 white oats, 1157 bushels of No. 2 rye.

Primary receipts of wheat were heavier than a week ago and heavier than a year ago, being 1,685,000 bushels. Corn receipts were heavier than a week ago and heavier than a year ago, being 1,018,000 bushels. Oats receipts were heavier than a week ago, heavier and lighter than a year ago, being 1,020,000 bushels.

Clearances today were 1,103,000 bushels of wheat, 13,000 bushels of corn, 520,000 bushels of oats, 80,000 barrels of flour and 1,453 000 bushels of wheat and flour.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—There was a decided change in the trend of wheat prices today, and the market was back to where it left off on Friday. The opportunity for the bull "push" came at the opening this morning. Liverpool market was firm in face of the weak close in America yesterday, and in addition there were claims of 3,000,000 bushels of wheat having been purchased by Germany since Saturday. This, together with buying by foreign account, gave shorts a scare and they were in a wild scramble to cover. The feature of the market was the paucity of offerings, and even the advances failed to cause any material increase in the selling. Shorts were afraid to replace lines even at the 2c bulge, while longs were satisfied with the way the market was going and they held on for more profits. The cash situation improved with the futures and although local premiums were unchanged, Minneapolis premiums were 2c higher and Winnipeg was unchanged to ½c higher. Primary receipts were again of good volume.

Wheat closed 2c to 2⅜c higher; December, $1.17⅞ to $1.18, May $1.16 to $1.16⅛, July $1.07⅝ to $1.07¾.

Corn also acted tight. There is reputed to be a strong concentrated long interest in this market and there are few who believe in lower prices, it is said, who have the courage to oppose these traders. Heavy feeding demand in the West is the basis for the market. Omaha again reporting good sales to the Pacific Coast and intermountain territory. Eastern feeders are taking little corn at these prices, because the cost is too high compared with the price of hogs. Receipts are running lighter.

Corn closed 1⅛c to 2¼c higher; December 71⅛c to 7¼c, May 70¼c, July 69⅝c to 69½c.

Oats closed ¾c to 1⅛c higher; December 43⅝c, May 42⅝c, July 39⅞c to 40c.

Provisions were firmer on buying encouraged by higher hogs and corn.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

ADVANCES RECORDED IN NEW YORK COTTON TRADE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The cotton market was somewhat irregular during today's early trading. The sharp break of yesterday seemed to have unsettled sentiment and there was further light liquidation as a result of which the market opened unchanged to 4 points lower, except for October, which was 10 points higher.

Offerings were fairly well taken, however, owing to the rallies in the Liverpool market, accompanied by reports of an improving trade in Manchester, and the market steadied up after the call with January selling at 25.14c or about 10 points net higher. December was relatively easy, owing to the circulation of 10 or 12 notices and ruled some 4 to 10 points below January.

The scattering December liquidation was absorbed at differences of 5 to 10 points compared with January, and while general business was quiet, the market showed a steady undertone later in the morning. January sold up to 25.20c and March to 25.32c, with active months showing net advances of 10 to 19 points. This bulge brought in some scattered realizing and prices were a few points off from the best around midday, but the tone was steady with offerings restricted by bullish Southern spot advices and continued covering by recent sellers.

The report of a southern organization estimating the crop at 9,615,000 bales probably encouraged some scattered buying during the early afternoon, and there was further covering on the advance to 25.30 for January, or about 15 to 26 points net higher on the general list.

Further bullish spot wires were circulated late in the afternoon, prices responding with an advance to 25.42 for March. Profit taking by local longs promoted a partial reaction near the close, but on the whole the market displayed a firm tone. December closed 25.23c to 25.25c; March, 25.33c to 25.34c.

CATTLE RECEIPTS NOT LARGE AND MARKET IS STEADY

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Nov. 28.—Receipts today, estimated: Cattle and calves, 6500; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 2500; horses and mules, 1000.

CATTLE—Receipts were not large, and the market ruled fairly active at steady to strong prices. Most strength was evidenced in steers, and in some cases the market for these showed a 15c or more advance. Quality of the offering was generally medium to common. Veal calves moved up 75c, $9 to $9.25 taking the bulk of best lights, as against $8 to $8.50 Monday. Odd head scored above $9.25.

HOGS—Receipts considerably heavier than Monday, the estimate calling for 18,000. Two-day supply so far this week amounts to 32,000 head, compared with 41,000 the same days last week. The chief demand today seemed to center on the good weight butcher hogs. Order buyers and city butchers were competing for the choice kinds, 200 pounds and up, and these opened 5@10c higher, early sales being largely at $8.20@8.25. Competition on the weighty kinds continued very keen throughout the morning and before long it was a 10@15c higher market, with most of the choice butcher weights bringing $8.30 and a top of $8.35 for hogs weighing above 250 pounds. The big packers took their time entering the market and when they got in, purchased lighter hogs than usual, apparently not relishing the keen competition noted on the weighty kinds.

Strong-weight shipping hogs were generally 5@10c higher, but the light lights and pigs showed very little, if any improvement over yesterday. The day's run carried a right liberal supply of light stuff. All told, it was a very uneven market on the offering from 150 pounds and down, and generally it was no more than a steady deal; some 10@15c declines were reported. Light lights from 140@130 pounds sold from $8.35@8.50 and light pigs under 100 pounds moved at $8.50@8.75 when of choice quality.

There was a right good shipping demand for rough packer sows and these were generally 10@15c higher than yesterday's average, bulk of the sows clearing around $7.25. Stags were steady to strong, moving largely at $5.50@6.

SHEEP—A right good supply was received and the quality was also better than on Monday, which helped to put some life into the trade. The market was active for all good fat offerings and prices on a good strong basis. Best fat lambs sold at $14@14.50, the latter price being paid by city butchers. Other lambs sold at $13@13.75 and most of the culls at $9.50@10. Fat sheep went to the killers at $6, largely shippers and bucks at $2@3.50 and canners at $1@2. Some Western clipped lambs sold at $12.75.

HORSES AND MULES—Horse and mule receipts moderate in volume for the two days and market about steady in both departments. About 50 per cent of the horse run sold at auction Monday, and mule auctions were in progress today.

WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH IN SHED

Belleville Resident Recently Was Told She Had Tuberculosis, Neighbors Say.

Miss Marie Herbt, 31 years old, was burned to death at 8:30 a. m. today in a garage and workshop in the rear of her home at 501 Fulton street, Belleville.

Deputy Coroner Gaerdner is investigating the circumstances. The local fire department is trying to ascertain the cause of the fire.

Neighbors saw flames coming from the shed, and called the fire department. They did not know that Miss Herbt was in the shed. They pulled out the automobile, which was only slightly scorched, and then, when the fire was extinguished, found Miss Herbt's charred body lying on the workshop side of the building.

Miss Herbt lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Herbt, at the Fulton street address. She had been a school teacher, and taught last year at Rentchler, six miles east of Belleville. Two weeks ago a physician told her that she was affected by tuberculosis, neighbors said, and since then she had been nervous.

LETTERS SEEK TO HASTEN RED CROSS DATA FROM PLANTS

Letters asking industrial plants to endeavor to turn in their reports on the Red Cross Roll Call before the close of the campaign tomorrow night were sent out yesterday by Edward T. Hall, chairman of the Roll Call Committee.

Completion of the total returns has been delayed in former drives by these reports, because many factory workers wait until pay day before subscribing. These subscriptions, Hall said, will be virtually all for the $1 membership fee, but will comprise a major part of the returns.

Yesterday's receipts have not been added, but Hall said they would show an encouraging addition to the $35,000 received up to Saturday night. The list of firms with "100 per cent" subscriptions is growing, he said.

SCHOOL TAX INJUNCTIONS GIVEN

An injunction against collection of a $1 school tax for building purposes, voted last April by the Kirkwood School District, from about 30 residents of the district, was granted yesterday by Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton.

Several taxpayers have been granted similar injunctions, and about 100 are plaintiffs in similar suits pending at Clayton. The suits are based on the fact that the district cannot legally collect a tax totaling more than $1, except for building, whereas other levies amount to $1. Claim is made that this tax for repairs and furnishing could not be so classified.

KILLS SELF AS WIFE UNLOCKS STREET DOOR

William J. Glenn's Fatal Shot on Her Return From Visit Laid to Ill Health.

William J. Glenn, 62 years old, proprietor of the Glenn Business Exchange, in the Wainwright Building, shot himself through the right temple with a revolver at 11:20 o'clock last night, in his room at his home, 1905A Forest avenue, as his wife, returning from a visit with a sister, was unlocking the street door of their apartment. He was dead when she reached his side, she said.

Mrs. Glenn told police he had accompanied her to the home of a sister, Miss Delia Moog, 3015A North Newstead avenue, for dinner, last night. He left at 7:15, stating he was going to a lodge meeting, and advised his sister-in-law to accompany Mrs. Glenn home and spend the night, as he would be home late.

When the two women reached the house and opened the door they heard a shot and found Glenn dead, in a chair, and a revolver in his hand. Mrs. Glenn said her husband had been despondent over ill health. He formerly was a saloon keeper.

IN MEMORIAM

She is not dead, tho' she is gone;
To a happier land she has passed on.
A wave of her hand and a sweet smile
We think of her still as tho she were here,
For we feel her presence is always near.
CHAS. SPILKER AND FAMILY. (c)

Gone in the best of her days,
Blighted in womanhood's bloom;
Torn from the hearts who loved her,
To leave only sorrow and gloom.
You were a flower too sweet for earth,
Sent here but for a while.
God marked you when he gave you birth
And took you with a smile.
Sadly missed by
YOUR LONESOME HUSBAND AND THOSE WHO LOVED HER.

Shop With the Christmas Spirit and You Will

Shop Early

—Early in the Day, Early in the Week and Early in the Month, Deriving Untold Benefits

Selections may be made so much easier in the morning hours, and from so much larger assortments now, that everybody should make early shopping a rule this Christmas.

Stocks are larger, assortments are broader, service is better, salespeople are in a better mood, and shoppers are in a better mood NOW. It surely ought to be a Merry Christmas, for it seems, from general observations, that preparations were never better for serving the shopper.

Thousands of Salespeople are in the Stores at 9:00 o'clock in the morning to assist Christmas Shoppers

It is interesting to consider the reason for there being so many busy workers in the stores. They are there to make it easier for shoppers—to help shoppers fill their needs from world-garnered stocks of merchandise. And for these many thousands of workers it is going to be Christmas, too, therefore—

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope

STEVENS.—The half dollar dated 1856 is worth 50c to 55c.

TELL ME.—Inquiry at the violin shops will give you full information.

LAFAYETTE.—Inquire at the music shops for this type of record.

MRS. M. B.—Write again stating more clearly the kind of cake recipe you desire.

MRS. M. F.—Speak to the Custodian of the Federal Building in person, for position as scrub woman.

OLD TIME READER.—Weather conditions on Nov. 7, 1918, cloudy, with .41 rainfall, highest temperature 61 degrees, lowest 53; Nov. 11, 1918, clear, highest temperature 56, lowest 39.

T. A.—There are no religious disqualifications for members of Congress and necessarily all denominations are represented. A detailed statement of the affiliations of the members is too lengthy for the column. Consult the Congressional Directory at the Public Library.

ANXIOUS TO KNOW.—Canada granted approximately 2,000,000 acres of free land to war veterans and loans aggregating $50,609,002 were made to soldiers who took up agriculture. For further information inquire of the British Consul, E. G. P. Hertslet, Granite Building.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.—Children attending the public schools are not compelled to take baths, however, it is the duty of the parents to see that they are properly bathed and neatly dressed. If they are not, it is necessary for the teacher of the class, for the good of other children, to request them to be clean.

SUBSCRIBER E.—Ivory is readily cleaned by dipping it in a bath of oxygenized water or immerse it for 15 minutes in spirits of turpentine, then exposing it to the sun for 3 or 4 days. Smooth articles may be cleaned by simply washing them in water in which 100 parts (by weight) of bicarbonate of soda per 100 parts of water have previously been dissolved.

S. W. E. T.—Rose cream mints: 1½ cups sugar, 2 tablespoons white corn syrup, ¼ cup water, white of 1 egg, 4 drops oil wintergreen, pink coloring. Put sugar, corn syrup and water into a smooth granite saucepan, heat gradually to boiling point, and boil without stirring until syrup will spin a long thread. Pour slowly onto the beaten white of egg, and beat until mixture will hold its shape. Add flavoring and coloring. Force on to an oiled paper, using a pastry bag and rose tube. The work must be done quickly.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

P. J. H.—You have a right to watch your money.

ANXIOUS.—If the hallway is used by more than one tenant the landlord must keep a light there.

HONEST.—If he gives you notice on Nov. 15 to vacate Dec. 16, you should pay the rent which is due Nov. 16.

G. F. K.—1. You can sue the owner and the agent for damages. Consult a lawyer. 2. Dampness in the house would perhaps make it unhealthy.

NEW YORKER.—The landlady has no right to abuse your children. She should give you a week's notice to move. You will have to pay rent up to the time you move.

OLD AND CONSTANT SUBSCRIBER.—The note is good regardless of the paper on which it is written. You cannot garnish his salary in Philadelphia, however, unless your claim arises from a board bill or from a claim for wages.

WORRIED.—Property owners can be compelled to sell property that is needed for the erection of a school. If they refuse to do so, the property can be condemned, and the appraised value of it paid to the owner.

J. M.—1. If a single person died, leaving no will, the father or mother would not be allowed access to the deceased's bank account and safe deposit box. 2. Unless a will is made, the Probate Court will have to appoint an administrator of the estate. If a will is made the executor can be named in the will. The will should be drawn by a lawyer. Its cost would depend upon the circumstances. Consult a lawyer and ask him what his fee would be for drawing the will.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

SICK.—The Barnes and Washington dispensaries are not open evenings.

E. W. A.—Pyorrhea is a disease of the teeth for treatment of which you should consult a dentist.

MRS. A. J. W.—A subscriber suggests putting a few drops of wash bluing in the rinsing water to remove the yellow cast in gray hair.

BATHS.—1. The practice of taking a cold spray or shower in the morning is not harmful and is often beneficial. Try taking the shower while standing in warm water. 2. The skin action following is normal.

YOUNG MAN.—We do not advise the taking of drugs to reduce flesh, excepting under medical supervision. Take long walks, play handball, golf or any form of exercise, playing vigorously. Diet by avoiding fats, sugars and starchy foods.

A SUBSCRIBER.—You desire to practice what was previously termed practical nursing. Practical nurses are now under the new law known as licensed attendants. You must have a license from the State Nurses Board, Chemical Building. Call there for information.

WORRIED MOTHER.—Necessarily no one can give any intelligent idea of your condition or what is best for you without seeing you. Perhaps you have not had competent advice. If you wish and will request it, repeat your letter and ask for a list of competent physicians from which to select.

JESS.—The fact that the sties are conveyed from one eye to the other show them to be an infection. Keep the eyes bathed with a solution of boric acid, made by using a tablespoon of boric acid, 1 teaspoon salt to a quart of boiling water. Bathe frequently and try to prevent the child from fingering the eyes.

SUB.—We could not tell you condition without an examination. If in reality the organ is actually enlarged it might be tubercular, cancerous or enlargement following an injury or inflammation. If the tissues surrounding the organ are the seat of enlargement, it can hardly be serious, perhaps a hydrocele or collection of water, which would be easily remedied. You should see a physician.

MORE RESISTANCE BY STATE IN HERRIN EXAMINATIONS

Plan Apparently Is to Force Defense to Use Up Its Peremptory Challenges of Talesmen.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, ILL., Nov. 28.—Stiffening resistance on the part of the State to the defense's challenges for cause is characterizing the examination of talesmen today, in an apparent effort to force an expenditure of peremptory challenges by the defense, in the Herrin mine riot trial. The strategy was successful yesterday in compelling the defense to sacrifice one peremptory challenge at the last minute of the day's struggle for advantage.

Another reason is to pin the defense down to a more exact framing of the pivoted questions on opinion.

But no progress has been made toward completing the jury.

Opening of court today was delayed by the absence of Judge Hartwell on account of serious illness of his father, Judge L. D. Hartwell. When court convened an additional venire of 20 was called. Eighteen responded when the invitation was given for excuses to be presented. Eight of the 18 pleaded sickness of themselves or members of their families and all were excused. One had a finger bandaged. He said it was infected and that it required daily treatments.

The examining today was done by Rufus Neely for the defense and State's Attorney Duty and was more rapid than yesterday, mainly due to the greater brevity and simplicity of Neely's direct examination, leaving little opening for attack. Nine farmers were questioned. All said they had formed and expressed opinions as to whether the killings were lawful, or unlawful, and as to whether those who committed them were guilty or innocent. Duty's attack was confined to questions whether the men could lay aside their opinions and give both sides a fair trial. They said they could not and were excused for cause.

DEATH OF BOY, RUN OVER WHILE PLAYING BALL, CALLED ACCIDENT

J. R. Wood Testifies He Was Driving About 18 Miles an Hour When Walter Roth Was Hit.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Walter Roth, 10 years old, who was fatally injured Saturday afternoon, when he fell in front of an automobile driven by J. R. Wood of Allenton, while playing baseball on the Clayton road, near his home, on the Clayton and Celia roads, St. Louis County. He died on the way to St. Luke's Hospital, where he was taken after the accident. An autopsy showed he died of hemorrhage of the brain.

Carl Roth, 13, a brother, and William Roth, 11, a cousin, testified they were playing ball along the side of the road with Walter when the accident occurred. They testified Wood was driving at a high rate of speed and did not sound his horn as he approached. They testified Wood ran 75 yards past the boy after striking him before he stopped.

Wood testified he was going about 18 miles an hour. He said he saw the boys playing at the side of the road and as he apporached Walter Roth fell directly in front of his machine in trying to recover the ball, which he had fumbled. He testified it was impossible for him to stop in time to avoid hitting the boy. He said he drove about 100 feet past the boy before he stopped, because he was so excited.

A DAILY DOUBLE

WHY 'FALLING IN LOVE' LEADS IN THE HAPPIEST MARRIAGES

Deliberately Hunting for a Husband Often Nets an Unfortunate Selection

The Man Who Marries Just Because He Needs a Wife Is Hardest to Please

By BETTY VINCENT.

ALMOST every girl in the world sets marriage as the goal she intends to reach some day.

Whether Dolly stays at home in her father's house or whether she sallies forth to business every day, she has this idea of marriage deep-rooted in her heart.

But the big thing for Dolly to remember is NOT to hunt for a husband.

You must not chase Cupid for a happy marriage, girls. Wait until you feel the point of his arrow in your heart.

Don't set your trap for the first eligible young man whom dad brings home. Don't try to fall in love with the man you meet in business, who you hear is such a success in life. Be sure that you have found love before you chase blindly on to capture a husband.

Love at first sight is frequently one of the truest and best types of love. Some of the happiest married couples have been men and girls who fell in love the very first time they met. A love which is founded on companionship and close association is also a rockbound affair. But to deliberately start out to find a husband and set your cap for a wedding ring is taking the "row" out of romance. Your matrimonial sea is bound to be full of rocks and reefs.

Principle Involved.

When you chase Cupid you force him to draw his arrow against his judgment, but love at first sight or the love of companionship and association is natural and therefore real.

A man who is hunting a wife is really more particular and harder to please than a man who falls in love unexpectedly and marries "for better or for worse." Surely few girls would be happy in their engagements if they knew their fiance was looking for a wife before he met them! And what man would love his wife if he knew that any man who came along would have suited her just as well?

All engagements and courtships are based on the principle that there is only "you." Unless you firmly believe that no two people on earth were as deeply in love as you are, love is not real. And the moment a man or a girl realizes he or she was merely wanted to fill a vacant spot in someone's life, a spot any man or woman could have filled just as well, love, in its real romantic sense, is lost. Real love must have its ego and feel that no one else could ever fill that void.

The Danger of It.

The girl who sits down to wait for the first man who comes along after she has finished school usually has a very unsuccessful married life. The girl who goes to business with the idea of capturing the most eligible man in the shop or firm is apt to choose the wrong man. She is hunting a husband, and, while she is apt to find one, she is putting spurs on Cupid's arrow and is very apt to bungle things up.

There is nothing so enchanting as a "found love." The botanist experiences just such a thrill when he looks behind a mossy stone and sees a rare and dainty flower hitherto unknown to him. He may be looking for another flower, but this new, wonderful flower fills his heart with untold pleasure and more than repays him for his woodland tramp. And so Dolly and all her sisters at home and in the business world may be interested in other matters of life and right while they are intent upon their own line of work find this new and wonderful thing called love.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Here Are Easy Ways to Stop "Nerve Wear and Tear"

WHEN the woman who does her own housework, or most of it, feels as though she just could not wash another dish or sweep another room without screaming, it is time to take a day off, no matter what there is to be done, and then change her methods, for she is getting in a rut. We all get there at times, and instead of seeing that it is time to adopt new ways of doing old things, we are apt to let nerves win the battle, and call in a doctor to straighten them out. But this does not change our monotonous routine of housework, which may have caused the "attack of nerves."

Either lack of system, or too much system, may cause nerve-strain, but there is a middle course if we look for it, which will keep us going smoothly without getting to the breaking point. All agree that housework, like all regular occupations, has a way of getting monotonous, and when it does become a wearisome burden is the time to take one or more days off and come back refreshed, so that we may go on comfortably until the next rebellious period.

Modern work-saving devices and step-savers take the drudgery out of housework if we are supplied with them and know how to use them. The choice between elaborate and simple cooking lies with the housewife, but, regardless of her preference in this matter, there are blazed trails which, if followed, will lighten her labor and still serve the family acceptably. The main trouble is worry over what there is to be done, and the struggle to hurry it up. This brings on nerve-strain.

Realizing that the day has just so many hours and the week so many days, how can we do our work effectively without worry or undue haste? This is a problem for each of us to think over. A rule for one household won't work, always, in another, so methods must be individual, and this is why it is so hard to give worthwhile advice to housewives. Different tastes, varying meal hours, and the size of families—all have to be taken into consideration. Even the hour of rising and breakfasting makes a difference in planning the day's work. Three things must be done—cooking, cleaning and chamberwork—in every home. Laundry work may be done in or outside the household. In a co-operative family, every one has her own task, and free time for all is the result.

Many mothers feel that they should not ask the children to help. This is a mistake, for the few light tasks they can do, and the steps they are able to save, give them that much more time with their mother, while helping her shows them how much she is always doing for them, and makes them appreciate her all the more. The boys should help, as well as the girls.

Another thing—many women are unwilling to change their ways with the seasons. They feel, for instance, that they must use tablecloths in the summer, as well as winter, instead of using table-sets and simplifying service with a few meals eaten outdoors if possible. Summer is the season of picnicing and vacation freedom from school and business. Why not make it the season of simplified housework? Dress the children plainly and turn them loose. Nobody cares whether they are dressed up or not, except on state occasions, as long as they are clean and happy.

Make radical changes in cookery. Prepare plenty of wholesome food, but as simply as possible, remembering that you are building up your nerves for the winter's tasks, and so need all the rest possible. We women worry too much over the small and unimportant details of life, and that is what so often frays our nerves and keeps them near the breaking point. It is not interesting to be a nervous wreck—it is hard on ourselves and harder on our households.

Men of affairs say they cannot afford to have nerves, and that is why they are wise enough to take frequent vacations. We should follow the same system by taking day trips or making brief visits to friends. In this way we will invariably come back refreshed and with new energy for our tasks. We also get new ideas, which are a great tonic for nerves. Any little outing designed to keep our nerves in order is money well spent. A few days vacation taken in time plus labor-saving devices and schemes beat a sojourn in a sanitarium, and in the end is much cheaper.

HERMITS

ONE and a half cups brown sugar.
One cup butter.
Three well-beaten eggs.
Half teaspoon allspice.
Half teaspoon cloves.
Half teaspoon cinnamon.
One teaspoon soda dissolved in one tablespoon hot water.
Half teaspoon nutmeg.
One cup currants.
One quart flour.
Half cup honey.
One teaspoon salt.

Cream the sugar and butter together and sift the flour into a bowl. Make a well in the center and put the sugar and butter in. Add the hot water and soda and add all other ingredients. Mix into a dough stiff enough to handle and roll out very thin. Cut into shapes and bake in a moderate oven. These will also be very hard at first, but if kept covered for a few days in a cool place they will become soft.

Honey and Nut Sandwiches

BUTTER the slices of bread and spread lightly with honey, taking care not to spread quite to edge. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Press slices together and garnish with half a nut, which may be dipped in honey and then stuck on.

How to Test Wool

By Christine Frederick

(Copyright, 1922.)

DID you ever stop to consider how many articles used and worn in your home are made of wool? No other fibre quite takes the place of this soft, lustrous one from the sheep. Wool fibres overlap like tiny scales, therefore shed water, hold warm air within and, because of their elasticity, are easily knit. The demand for wool cloth and articles made of wool far exceeds the supply.

Wool when combined with cotton makes a material which wears well, but which is less warm and which does not keep its shape so well. It is possible to conceal a great deal of cotton under the surface of woolen cloth and it is difficult to detect.

Wool has lustre and is kinky; the ends of the thread are stiff and look wiry. Take a sample home and follow what is called the "burning test." Set a match to your sample and watch it burn. Is it all wool or mostly cotton? Wool burns slowly, chars, has an odor like that of a burnt feather, goes out quickly and has a crisp ash. Cotton burns quickly with a flame, with no odor, and leaves no ash.

Here's another test anybody can use: Take a sample of the goods, pull sharply between the two thumbs, first one way and then the other. If it begins to strain apart, it's too weak. Try to tear it as you would a piece of paper; if it parts quickly, beware of it!

Here's another unfailing test: Buy five cents worth of caustic soda at the drug store. It comes in small sticks. Place a cup of water in a small saucepan, add two inches of the soda, and when it is boiling immerse your wool sample. (Be most careful to keep the liquid away from hands or face.) Boil slowly for about 10 minutes. Then look in your saucepan and see—the entire sample may have disappeared! That is, the true wool will disappear and only the cotton weave be left.

Remember the difference between woolens and worsteds; woolens are made of short wool fibres carded and spun into yarn that is fuzzy in appearance; worsteds are made from long fibres combed until they lie straight, then twisted finely. It takes six times as long to make worsted as woolen—therefore worsted is always higher in price. Woolen materials are soft and do not show the weave plainly; worsteds, like serge and men's suitings, are coarse but last longer and keep their shape better.

"Is this all wool?" the buyer may ask, and receive the reply, "Yes, madam," when in truth it may be mostly "shoddy." "Shoddy" is made from old garments, rags and tailors' scraps, pulled apart and respun into yarn. Its fibres are very short, heavy and will soon pull out, leaving the warp threadbare.

If the consumer suspects that a cloth is chiefly "shoddy," she should examine it carefully, it will be coarse, inelastic, short-fibred and break off short when pulled sharply.

The kind of blanket not to buy is the blanket you'll find in little fuzzy rolls that are under the bed each morning! Buy a blanket which has about 90 per cent wool filling on a cotton warp. It may not look pretty, for the true wool color is a little yellowish.

You can tell an "all wool" blanket by the "feel" of the wool, the elasticity, the softness of the blanket and by its animal odor. Real wool smells just as a real sheep does—an odor that cotton never has.

Much underwear which appears wool is only cotton with a fluffed-up "nap." Elderdown and canton flannel are made in a similar way. But these part-cotton mixtures have a wide use, and even underwear with only 20 per cent wool is soft and heat-giving—the only point is for the buyer to know what she is getting and be sure she is not paying all-wool prices for all-cotton goods.

Uncle Sam Says

Floors and Floor Coverings

Floors and floor coverings are often a perplexing problem, especially in these days when everything connected with the building, furnishing and upkeep of a house is high in price. Fifty years ago little attention was given to the floors themselves beyond having them level, fairly tight, and of sound lumber, for they were usually covered entirely with carpet or matting in the living rooms, and left bare and unfinished, or at most painted in the kitchen and pantries.

Practices, however, have changed. Today, smoothly finished floors and removable rugs are the pride of many housewives. In fact, the housekeeper finds herself almost bewildered by the variety of finishes and materials on the market.

To assist housewives in the wise selection of suitable floors, finishes and coverings, as well as care for floors, the Federal Office of Home Economics has issued this booklet.

Readers of the Post-Dispatch may obtain a copy of this booklet free, as long as the free edition lasts, by writing to the Division of Publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D., asking for "F. B. 1219."

SCOTCH POTTED HEAD

ASK your butcher to get you three pounds of beef cheeks and a calf's or pig's foot. Wash in salted water and put into kettle with 2½ quarts of water; pepper and salt to taste slightly. Boil until meat may be shredded with a fork. Chop the foot, return pieces to liquor and pour into molds or cups. Serve cold.

THE HOUSE OF MOHUN

By George Gibbs.

CHAPTER VI. (Continued.)

Sangree bowed himself away, aware of the mischevious twinkle in her eyes, and presently found Cherry in the ballroom, trying to achieve the impossible feat of dancing with six men at once. He watched them cutting in, one after the other, and at once gave up any hope he may have had of dancing with her. But suddenly as she was making a turn she espied him and guided her partner of the moment in his direction.

"Hello, Rameses!" she greeted him cheerfully. "Won't you dance with me?"

Awkwardly he took the place of the young fellow she had deserted and stepped out manfully.

"This is awfully good of you," he said quietly.

"You won't think so if I tread on your instep," he muttered, struggling gamely.

"You're a peach to come. I want you to meet the crowd. That was Dickey I was dancing with. And that's Violet Everard, over there. I know you'll like Vi. She's adorable. You'll cut in often, won't you? Good-by."

And almost before he could offer a monosyllable in reply she had danced away without losing a step, in the arms of another man, leaving Sangree, rather bewildered at the rapidity of things, in the middle of the ballroom floor, a prey to the violence of the enthusiasts. But he extricated himself by skipping and side-stepping and his newly discovered agility and breathlessly reached the haven of an alcove at the windows, where he gazed upon the scene. The fellow Cherry had danced off with was not a regular of Cherry's crowd. He was tall, dark, with a strong chin, rather heavy lips and brows, and his figure filled his evening clothes compactly. Later on, while the orchestra was silent, he asked Eugenia Armitage who he was.

"Oh, don't you know? That's Cherry's latest—Bruce Cowan. She met him in Paris—he was an orderly for some civilian Gold Hat or other."

"Oh," muttered Sangree.

"He's not my sort at all, or hers, either. But Cherry would have him asked. I've no patience with her."

"They seem on excellent terms," ventured Sangree.

"He's the limit, I think. He's a demonstrator for an automobile concern," she finished with a sniff.

"I've no doubt he's—ah—a very capable demonstrator," said Sangree, rubbing his chin.

She seemed to have rather strong opinions upon the subject, but Sangree made no further comment. He was far out of his depth as it was and only kept upon the surface of the social swim by treading water violently. 'Genie, aware of his diffidence, with one of those fine impulses that sometimes find light in a ballroom, offered to sit out a dance with him and they found a quiet spot in the conservatory.

"I heard all about how you got your broken arm, Dr. Sangree," she began without preface. "I think it was corking of you. Do you know that Cherry likes you very much?"

"Does she? Does she?" he asked, blinking through his glasses. "I'm glad of that. You know I—well, I've been out of touch with—ah—this sort of thing for so many years that I—ah—I feel like a fish out of water. But you're all—ah—very enchanting."

"Please tell me that I have handsome eyes, Dr. Sangree. Everybody does. I have, haven't I?"

"Oh, I say. I didn't mean—why, you're all adorable, you know—each in a different way."

"In what other way am I adorable? Please tell me!" she said gayly.

"Well, you—you have a—" he stammered. And then, "There's a fine soul behind your mischief," he said gently.

"Really? You think so? That's bully of you. I'm sure you mean it. But please tell me about yourself, won't you?"

He smiled and shrugged. "I'd very much rather hear all about you."

"Me. Oh, there's nothing to tell. I'm just a Reno orphan, dependent on the whim of a wealthy aunt."

"How terrible!" he said genuinely.

"Isn't it? But one gets callous, you know. I think we all get that way—even Cherry, a little. Why even Vi—you know Vi Everard, don't you? She's got a case on Bob Mohun. She was the most ingenuous creature three months ago. Now she's just as careless as the rest of us." She shrugged her thin shoulders, with pretty irony. "Well, what's the odds, so long as you're happy?"

"Yes—if one has a mind. But most girls' brains get joggled down into their feet."

"And if your feet are happy," he said, "you think you're happy all over."

"Yes, I guess that's it—" She broke off with a quick shrug and rose. "But I don't want to think. Why do you make me think, Dr. Sangree?"

"My dear child—" he began.

"Come," she said. "There's the music again. I've got to dance—to dance."

They reached the dancing floor and had taken only a few steps when somebody seized her from him, almost by main force. He gasped and sought the alcove by the windows again.

He hadn't intended staying for supper, but these few interludes had piqued his interest. So this was Cherry's soldier friend about whom she had been so reticent. The war had been a great leveler and it hadn't been the fashion to be snobbish. But the prejudices of Eugenia Armitage were informing. Sangree wasn't sure from the brief glimpse he had had of the fellow that he didn't agree with her. For all his fine shoulders Bruce Cowan gave an impression of being fashioned of a baser clay than most of those young people Sangree saw about him, for after all they seemed rather a wholesome lot, exhibiting only errors of taste rather than of morals.

But he made up his mind to stay for supper on the odd chance of a chat with Cherry and improved the moments that remained by seeking the men's dressing room and a cigarette. He found the stairway blocked by couples en tete-a-tete, many of them sharing cigarettes, and at the top of the stairway, where he took the wrong turn, he stumbled into a dark corner where there was a window seat out of sight of the others. There a girl and a boy were embracing each other with the innocent abstraction of two turtle doves.

But even in the dark he had seen that the girl was Cherry's friend, Floria Towne. He didn't remember having met the boy. After all—a kiss—what was it? A trifle, an airy nothing, a mere symbol of affection. Perhaps this boy and girl cared for each other. He hoped so. It was such a pretty tableau. But at Sangree's sudden appearance the turtle doves had spread their wings and fluttered, rather startled, down the stairs to the ballroom.

In the dressing room he found several youths that he had met. There was Scotch, rye and club soda on a table and the conversation was not of Shakspeare and the musical glasses.

"She's perf' li'l pippin," one of them was saying over and over in a kind of amiable soliloquy as he reclined in a morris chair. "Pity she ain't in this set. She'd show 'em. Think I'll marry her, jus' same. Damfidon't."

"'Licit! Who says 'licit?" said the other, glancing around heavily. "Don't I tell you I love—hic—hic—I know wha's matter 'th you, Harry," he muttered as the other boy laughed. "You're jus' fuller 'n goat. Tha's wha's matter."

His voice subsided into a mumble and presently he slept. But as the boy's head fell back Sangree discovered that the youthful inebriate was Cherry Mohun's brother Bob.

At supper, which was served in the dining room, hall and conservatory, Cherry espied her friend wandering absently about and made him sit at her table with Eugenia Armitage, Phoebe Macklin, Dicky Wilberforce, John Chichester and Bruce Cowan.

He found the food more substantial than the conversation, which, like the wine, sparkled in tiny bubbles and burst into nothing. But everyone seemed to be having a good time and soon the visitor found himself falling under the spell of their gayety and irresponsibility, which for the moment had rescued him from his Cave of Adullam. Dentists say
USE BOTH!

For white teeth
combat Dental Mucin
For healthy teeth check Acid Decay

SCIENTISTS tell us that not one alone, but two dread forces are constantly at work to destroy the health and beauty of the teeth.

One is the dental mucin, often called film, that attacks the surfaces of the teeth, making them discolored and unsightly. In time it forms tartar, the yellowing deposit that finally ends in decay.

The other is the fermentation that goes on in the crevices between the teeth. In those hidden places your brush cannot reach, tiny particles of food decompose, forming acids dangerous to the very life of the teeth.

Only by protecting your teeth from both these deadly enemies can you keep them white and healthy.

Restoring Whiteness

Then the fine Sanitol chalk completely clears it away, leaving the surfaces of the teeth smooth and white. Even if discoloration has started, Sanitol will restore the original whiteness of the teeth.

Checking Decay

Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic floods into the farthest crevices and cleanses them of all impurities. It also soothes and strengthens tender gums, sweetens the breath and has a tonic effect on the entire mouth.

Use Both!

Begin today. Watch your teeth regain their whiteness. Notice how thoroughly clean crevices become. Let us send you two samples. Mail the coupon today.

The Danger Point

By Thornton W. Burgess.

When near a danger point watch out;
Stop, look and listen all about.

—Paddy the Beaver.

Peter Rabbit, who, as you know, has many narrow escapes from danger every day, and therefore has to be continually watching out, was almost envious of Paddy the Beaver and Mrs. Paddy as he watched them towing food logs through their new pond on their way to the old pond where their food pile was to be. While they were swimming they were safe from all enemies. Peter, you know, never is really safe outside his dear Old Briar-Patch, and even there he must watch for Shadow the Weasel. It seemed to Peter that his two friends in brown had nothing to worry about and somehow it didn't seem quite fair.

"They are bigger than I and stronger, and so better able to fight. Yet they can go and come in safety with nothing to worry about, while I must be on the watch for danger every instant," thought Peter. "That doesn't seem fair to me: No sir, it doesn't seem fair." You see Peter had quite forgotten that Paddy and Mrs. Paddy had made that safety for themselves by hard work.

But things are not always as they seem. There was one danger point which Peter had overlooked, but which Paddy and Mrs. Paddy were fully aware of. It was the place where they had to drag their food logs over the new dam to float them down the Laughing Brook to the old pond. There, of course, they had to come out of the water.

But if Peter had overlooked this danger point Paddy and Mrs. Paddy had not. They knew it was the one place where such enemies as Yowler the Bob Cat or Old Man Coyote might have a chance to spring on them, and they knew, too, that sooner or later Yowler or Old Man Coyote or both would discover that place and lie in wait for them. So they had chosen with the greatest of care the spot where those logs were to be dragged across the dam. They meant to take no chances. They chose a place almost in the middle of the dam and where the water in the pond was deepest.

When they reached this point they never scrambled out hastily or heedlessly. They first listened carefully for any suspicious sounds, and tested the air with their keen noses for any strange scent. Of course, at the same time they used their eyes. But it was on their ears and their noses that they depended most. Not until they were sure that it was safe to do so would one of them climb up on the dam. Usually this one was Paddy. Once up on the dam he would again use ears, nose and eyes to make sure that no enemy was lurking on the other side.

"They are bigger than I and stronger and so better able to fight."

As soon as he was sure of this they would work as fast as they could to get the logs and branches over the dam and down into the water on the other side. But while they worked they never for an instant forgot to watch out. This was the danger point and they knew it. This was the point where carelessness might cost them their lives.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Up Stream or Down.

IN summer days of long ago, when Bill and Jim went swimming, they'd seek the rapid stream below the mill-pond, clear and brimming. They'd leave a dozen chores undone, nor heed their mother's calling as down the grassy path they'd run, where sun and shade were falling. And when that cool retreat was gained, although both boys were happy, their argument was long-sustained and sometimes pretty snappy. For Bill would say: "Let's float down stream to where the old oak's standing," while Jim would cry: "That's not my scheme, let's swim to Johnson's Landing!" So Bill has drifted on through life, in calm, haphazard fashion, and Jim has pitched into the strife and fought his way with passion. And Billy thinks his mode is best, though some would call it failing. "For, though I've drifted east and west," says he, "it's easy sailing." He cannot understand, poor Bill, that too much ease in going, as in the stream below the mill, shows where the current's flowing. That chaps who have a goal to gain can't take their ease and pleasure; but still must swim, with stress and strain, to reach their longed-for treasure.

Add to the breads a half cupful of fine crumbs, the juice of an onion, a dozen fresh mushrooms that have been sauted in a little butter, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, a saltspoonful of curry powder just for a faint flavor and a beaten egg. Fill buttered ramekins, lightly, with the mixture, dot the tops with butter and dust with a teaspoonful of grated dairy cheese. Bake for 10 minutes, browning delicately.

American Housewife's 'Labor Savers' Include Even Friend Husband!

"Maidless Couples in Apartments Here Have Easier Housekeeping Than English Couples With Two Servants—and Don't Have to Heat Water for Bath."

Second Article in a Series—American Girls and Women as Seen Through the Observing Eyes of a Talented English Authoress.

By May Christie

(Copyright, 1922, by May Christie.)

BEFORE I visited America the servant problem seemed to me to be appalling.

"Only the very well-to-do can afford maids! How awfully hard on the women!" I thought in my ignorance. "How they must be tied down to their kitchens!"

But I hadn't seen the kitchens! I was mentally comparing them with the antiquated horrors that the typical London house—or English house—possesses, usually down in the basement and half dark, freezing in the winter, with its cold stone floor, and stifling in the summer.

To get down there one descends a pitch-black stair, also of stone, precipitous and twisting, meanders along dark passages and reaches the culinary vault.

Most of the cooking is performed on an immense coal range which gives out a colossal heat and makes the cook feel just about as limp as a fireman on an ocean liner! It needs perpetual stoking. It is guaranteed to turn the best complexion to a lobster hue.

As for pots and pans, the old-fashioned iron kind are still in use. Would you believe it? They need endless scouring.

We have gas stoves, of course. But the range is almost always used, because that's the only way to get hot baths! Remember, there's no such thing as central heating, or furnaces! And perpetual hot water means that the kitchen range, with its huge consumption of coal, must be in heavy action all the time.

Food has to be carried up one flight of stairs, and often two, to the dining-room. No wonder we need servants.

American housekeeping, with its compactness, its labor-saving devices, astonishes me. Why can't we do the same in England? It makes a woman's life so infinitely easier.

I visited a typical "apartment" the other day. "Flats," we would call them. The young couple had no maid, and yet the wife had as easy—if not easier—time than had she lived in England with two servants!

She had electric toasters, grills and kettles. An electric device for washing all the dishes! The kitchen lay immediately beyond the dining room instead of at the far end of a passage as it inevitably would do in a London flat, where our maids have to trot back and forward endlessly.

And down below there was a restaurant had she felt indisposed to do the cooking.

"I'm not tied down at all," said she, brightly. "Housekeeping doesn't take up much of my time. I belong to several women's clubs, go to lots of shows and social functions, read a good deal, and keep abreast of the times."

I observed that her husband cleared the table for her after dinner, set the electric dishwasher going, and then put the crockery away. Marvel of marvels! Would an English husband do the same?

I wonder.

INGREDIENTS

The chief claim to distinction made for Sun-Ray Pancake Flour is based on its simplicity and wholesomeness.

The main ingredient is wheat. No other cereal is used. Rice and corn flour, which cost less, will not be found adulterating this pancake mixture. Wheat is unequaled for flavor, nourishment or digestibility.

To wheat we add, in proper proportion, the following simple foods—phosphate, salt, powdered sweet skim milk, sugar and soda.

THE POT-HUNTER.

IN the fall the nifty Nimrod
Hunts for the elusive game;
With a rack of chips and pasteboards
He is sure to find the same.

When he sights a goodly pot
He will always take a shot.

While his aim may be erratic,
And he fails to bag a duck,
When he holds a pair of "bullets"
He will never pass the buck.

He is always up and doing
Every minute on the trip;
Still achieving, still pursuing
The elusive poker chip.

TOO TRUE.

The Thanksgiving dinner is quite a problem this year. Turkey costs too much and we can't afford bacon.

Mrs. Senator Felton, of Georgia was Senator for a day. And there are some who think that a one-day term would be long enough for some other Senators.

HAIL AND FAREWELL.

SHE walked into the Senate room
She took her seat, then got right up
And walked right out again.

A Senator from Nevada has a cinch. If he has a falling out with his constituent he always can nullify his vote by voting for himself.

Some States have two Senators and one Congressman per capita.

A Senator from a one-hoss Western state cuts as much ice as a Senator from New York, Massachusetts or Missouri, which frequently results in the tail wagging the dog, as the feller sez. See tariff on sugar, wool, etc.

AUSTIN McHENRY.

NO longer will the cry, "Oh, Mack!"
The great McHenry won't be back
The pesky pill to pound.
But on the final Judgment Day,
The Umpire of the world will say:
"McHenry, safe at home."

A FLOATING ISLAND.

Jack Dempsey has consented to mix it with Strangler Lewis in a mixed wrestling-boxing match. Ought to be a nice little mix-up.

SHINY.

A TEMPERAMENTAL RACE.

MEXICANS, being temperamental, sometimes do the unexpected, and do it, too, at the unexpected moment. For proof of this I call to witness my friend Norman Walker of El Paso, who, as a newspaper correspondent, saw a lot of service below the border in troublous times gone by. Walker cites an incident:

Juan Esperanza, patriot and soldier, fought under the flag of Francisco Madero. Juan was in charge of the bombers who were throwing crude cowhide bombs filled with dynamite into the adobe houses of a town where the Diaz Federals were besieged.

Juan had been lighting the bomb fuses with his corn-husk cigarette. But now, growing excited, he lit the fuse and threw the cigarette into the nearest house, at the same time trying to put the fuse in his mouth.

There was a large attendance at both the church and the cemetery next day.
